DEMOCRATS BACK GARNER AID BILL; MILLS HITS BONDS

$2,100,000,000 Measure Is Completed and Contains $1,047,000,000 Public Works Provision.

SECRETARY SAYS SMITH IDEA WOULD "SHOCK" CONFIDENCE

Speaker Predicts Passage of His or Similar Proposal Before Adjournment; Action on Floor Foreseen Probably Next Week.

(Associated Press.)

Bearing the approval of House Democrats, the $2,100,000,000 Garner relief bill was completed last night almost coincidentally with the enunciation of a statement from administration quarters that a public works program would be a "shock to public confidence."

The Garner bill carries a $1,047,000,000 public works provision. It also would provide $100,000,000 to be administered by President Hoover for direct relief and would add $1,000,000,000 to the capital of the Reconstruction Corporation for loans to States, cities, counties, individuals and corporations that could furnish proper security.

Mills Expresses Opposition.

The expression of administration opposition to a public works program came from Secretary Mills in a statement dealing specifically with the program advanced several nights ago by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York.

He said "public works mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a shock to public confidence."

The Garner measure does not specifically provide for a bond issue, but Speaker Garner explained to his colleagues in a two-hour session behind closed doors that the Treasury already was authorized to issue bonds up to $28,000,000,000 and to issue Treasury bills, certificates and notes up to $10,000,000,000, and that authority for a bond issue to cover the building projects was unnecessary.

With the public indebtedness around $17,000,000,000, Garner said the Treasury could finance the public works program under existing authority.

However, the measure provides for a tax of one-fourth of a cent a gallon on gasoline to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements on the bonds issued by the Treasury for the program.

$435,000,000 in Year.

"Although the bill carries authorization for a public works program in excess of a billion dollars, search as we could we could not find where the Federal Government could expend economically and soundly more than $435,000,000 in the fiscal year 1933," Garner said. "The tax we propose will take care of the amount needed for interest and the sinking fund to retire the bond issue more than twice as much."

Garner estimated that the gasoline tax would return approximately $42,500,000 a year, and declared that "with the tax we are undertaking this program on an absolutely sound principle, for we are taxing the people to take care of the sinking fund."

Garner spoke to his colleagues for 1 hour 15 minutes and at the conclusion asked all who favored his proposal to rise.

He said later, "I didn't see anybody sitting down."

"The House will pass this bill, or something like it, long before it ever talks about adjournment," Garner said. "After it is reported out by the ways and means committee, probably next week, we Democrats will caucus and we hope the Democrats will vote to support the bill."

The measure removes restrictions on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and gives it broad latitude

MacDonald Phones Capital Officials

Conversation Shrouded in Secrecy, but May Have Been on Arms Topic.

Lossiemouth, Scotland, May 26 (A.P.).—It was learned authoritatively tonight that Premier Ramsay MacDonald had a long distance conversation with one or more high American officials in Washington last night. The nature of the conversation, or precisely with whom the prime minister talked, was undisclosed, but it was understood that the topic was world economic conditions.

(United Press.)

High official circles last night maintained a strange silence concerning reports from abroad of the conversation. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson refused flatly to discuss the incident. He declined to say whether he personally had conversed with the British premier. The White House said President Hoover did not do so.

Despite this silence, some observers last night speculated that the conversations may have touched upon disarmament. Secretary of State Stimson recently returned from the Geneva conference and made a full report to President Hoover. The Chief Executive and MacDonald both are known to be in accord in a desire to prevent collapse of the disarmament negotiations.

MARYLAND G. O. P., DRY, BACKS HOOVER

Baltimore Convention Votes 105 to 41 to Reject Referendum.

Baltimore, May 26 (A.P.).—The Republican State convention today formally gave Maryland's nineteen votes in the national convention to President Hoover, and refused to go on record as favoring a national referendum on the prohibition question.

In a stormy session, marked by acrimonious debate and vicious personal thrusts, the convention voted down the referendum proposal, 105 to 41, over the protests of the "anti-organization" group, which sought its passage.

Baltimore City's delegates, controlled for the most part by Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough, voted 24 to 16 against the proposal, although the city is rated as one of the wettest in the Nation. The remainder of support came from the counties, normally rated dry.

The fight for the referendum resolution was led by former Senator Joseph Irwin France, who was beaten in the May 2 primary by President Hoover. It was presented after State Senator Wallace Williams was formally nominated as the senatorial candidate, and had called for a referendum in his speech of acceptance.

Mr. Williams secured the nomination by carrying enough of the counties to give him the majority of convention votes, 88 to 60, although he was beaten in the popular vote of the primary by former Representative Linwood L. Clark. Mr. Williams is a personal dry.

Followers of Clark and France disrupted the convention time and again by charging steam roller tactics to the "organization" wing, headed by Senator Goldsborough and Galen L. Tait, State chairman. The convention chairman many times had trouble in quelling the almost riotous scenes.

Senator Goldsborough and Mrs. James Gabriel were named members of the national committee to replace William P. Jackson and Mrs. W. Bladen Lowndes, neither of whom were candidates for reelection. They were selected by the national convention delegates.

COL. LINDBERGH TO TAKE STAND AGAINST CURTIS

Indictment Is Reported Returned, Accusing Ship Builder.

PROCEEDINGS CAUSE LITTLE EXCITEMENT

Obstructing Justice by Giving False Information Said to Be Charged.

Flemington, N. J., May 26 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh personally will testify against the man who led him a three weeks' chase for a phantom kidnapers' ship, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck asserted today after it was reported unofficially that John Hughes Curtis had been indicted for his faked efforts to recover the flier's child.

The indictment was returned, it was indicated, after the Hunterton County grand jury had examined witnesses and heard evidence for two hours and five minutes about Curtis' confessed elaborate hoax in the Lindbergh case.

Hauck would not verify the report, saying the grand jury's findings would be presented to Supreme Court Justice T. W. Trenchard Saturday morning.

Willing to Appear.

He did, however, say definitely Col. Lindbergh would testify if an indictment was returned and a trial resulted.

"Col. Lindbergh will be one of the witnesses," he said. "He is willing to appear. Mrs. Lindbergh will not be called."

"I am not sure yet whether Admiral Burrage and Dean Peacock, Curtis' associates, will be summoned to testify," Hauck added. "But, of course, if there is no indictment there will be no trial."

Proceedings in the 104-year-old courthouse caused hardly a ripple in the peace of this little town, in contrast to the high excitement last week, when Curtis was brought to the jail here and an angry crowd clustered about it.

The charge on which the indictment was reported voted is obstructing justice by giving false information in the search for the kidnapers and slayers of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr.

The reported indictment and a

Reich Signs Debt Delay Agreement

Paper on Moratorium Is Executed at Treasury by Von Prittwitz.

(Associated Press.)

Formal agreement between the United States and Germany for postponement of payments due on Germany's debt to the United States in the fiscal year 1932 was signed yesterday at the Treasury by Ambassador von Prittwitz of Germany.

The formality merely carries out the postponement of the $6,000,000 which Germany would have paid the United States during the present fiscal year on the army of occupation costs, the payment held up under President Hoover's year's moratorium on international debts.

Germany is the third nation to sign the formal agreement which provides that the debts are to be paid over a period of ten years with 4 per cent interest. Finland and Greece previously had signed agreements to pay $55,000 and $660,000 respectively. The remainder of the nations whose payments were postponed are expected to sign the formal agreements next week.

War Ace Is Trapped In Rum-Laden Plane

Man Who Shot Down 17 German Aircraft Fails to Elude Government Ship in Chase Near Mexican Border.

San Angelo, Tex., May 26 (A.P.).—A World War ace, allegedly turned beer runner, is the first "enemy" downed and captured in aerial warfare against liquor and narcotic smugglers inaugurated by the United States Customs Service.

W. T. Ponder, of Fort Worth, Tex., who served in the air forces of both France and the United States in the World War, was unable to trick a customs pursuit plane manned by Bobbie Dual, Fort Worth flier hired by customs officers, in a 200-mile chase from the Mexican border.

As Ponder touched the wheels of his big blue biplane to the ground at the San Angelo airport last night, the small ship in pursuit whipped in ahead of him and he was trapped.

Agents D. S. Conner and A. P. Cummings leaped from the Government ship and placed Ponder under arrest. They found 1,500 bottles of Mexican beer in Ponder's plane. No shots were fired.

While the prisoner denied knowing he had been chased and said he landed for fuel, airport officials said it appeared that Ponder came down in a desperate effort to shake off his pursuer and had intended to zoom away had he lured the customs ship to a landing after him. They said Ponder had enough gasoline for four or five hours more of flight.

"I took a sporting chance, and here I am," said the war-time ace, who holds the Distinguished Service Cross and decorations from several

DRY LAW IS FLAYED IN PERSHING SPEECH

A. E. F. Commander Asserts Prohibition Is Source of Racketeering.

Paris, May 26 (A.P.).—Gen. John J. Pershing attacked prohibition as a source of racketeering today, attributing it to the apathy of the American people.

Passage of the eighteenth amendment "was simply done through the negligence of the citizen who now sits up and howls," he asserted, with unwonted vigor at a luncheon of the American Club today. Scoring those who failed to vote in the primaries, the general said, "We are being governed by a lot of cheap politicians who put themselves over on the Americans, who are too neglectful to go to the polls."

The general's pungently phrased speech astonished those at the gathering, evoking roars of approval.

The commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War, in paying tribute to Marshal Louis Franchet D'Esperey, who was a fellow guest, recalled a lunch with him west of Soisson in the fall of 1917, saying the marshal quizzed him on the possibilities of prohibition.

"I said I was a little bit frightened that they might be putting it on us while we were gone, and it might be in effect when we got back," Gen. Pershing said.

Vigorously assailing what he described as conditions of lawlessness in the United States, Gen. Pershing said he understood the feeling with which posses in the old days strung up outlaws, although he did not advocate such methods.

As for other conditions, Gen. Pershing expressed hopeful note. He said he believed the American budget would be balanced and predicted a return of prosperity, with improved conditions so far as public order is concerned.

The general will be received Saturday by President Lebrun.

Man's Suicide Fatal To Third in Family

Second Son Dies of Burns Suffered Investigating "Gas Leak."

The suicide of William B. Cochrane brought its third death in his family yesterday. His second son, John J. Cochrane, 8 years old, died in Providence Hospital as a result of burns he received when he and his two older brothers lighted a match to find what they believed was a leak in the pipes at 132 Tennessee avenue northeast.

Their father had turned on the jets of the kitchen range to kill himself. David Cochrane, 12, died at the hospital several days ago. Claude, 18, the third brother is still in a serious condition there, but has a chance to recover. He has not been told of the death of his father and his two brothers.

Funeral services for John will be held tomorrow morning at Holy Comforter Church, the exact time to be announced.

Senator George Files Notice of Candidacy

(Associated Press.)

Senator Walter F. George yesterday filed formal notice that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself as senator from Georgia.

He sent the announcement to the secretary of the State Democratic executive committee, Miss Stella Akin, at Savannah. Under State law, he said, this formal notice must be filed by June 3. The primary is in September.

BONUS VOTE TO HALT INVASION NOT LIKELY

Suggestion of Glassford to Stave Off Veterans Not Favored; Leaders Hit.

The suggestion of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford that a vote be taken on the pending bonus legislation so as to stave off invasion of the Capital by thousands of bonus seeking veterans will not be heeded, it was learned authoritatively by The Post last night.

Having received little encouragement at the White House and on Capitol Hill that immediate action will be taken on the bonus bill, Gen. Glassford began plans to provide for the marchers who are expected to arrive here in droves some time next week. Because charity funds in the various agencies are depleted, the chief of police is striving to discourage the leaders of the marchers from bringing the men to the Capital.

An appeal to the veterans to remain away from the Capital was made on the floor of the House yesterday by Representative Paul Kvale, Farmer-Laborite, of Minnesota, a supporter of the bonus legislation, who warned that the leaders, "whoever they are, are taking a terrible responsibility in bringing here under such conditions a group of men unable to provide for themselves."

For the sake of the legislation in which they are interested, he said, and for the sake of the already undernourished children and dependents in this city who now can not be given adequate care because welfare funds are exhausted, "we plead with these veterans not to descend upon Washington in the numbers announced."

A tentative plan which Gen. Glassford has devised and for which he will seek the approval of veterans organizations is to evacuate the veterans within 48 hours after their arrival. A survey of the city was ordered by him last night to list vacant

16 Hurt as German Police Attack Idle

Hunger Riots in 2 Cities Involve Reds and Hitler's Men.

Berlin, May 26 (A.P.).—Rioting by the unemployed kept the police busy in two German cities today, while partisan strife continued here between Communists and Fascist followers of Adolf Hitler. The police fired into crowds of Communists and jobless men at Hamburg, where thousands of hunger marchers battled the police last night. Fifteen of the men and one policeman were injured.

The Hamburg disorders began with the plundering of a grocery store, and spread to other parts of the city. Several of the ringleaders were arrested. One policeman was injured and 22 men were arrested in an unemployment demonstration at Dortmund which had been forbidden by the city authorities.

Several persons were injured and many were arrested in numerous fights between Communists and National Socialists in the northern part of Berlin. The fighting followed upon a bloody melee between members of the two political factions in the Prussian Diet yesterday, which wrecked the hall and scattered a half-dozen injured members about the floor before the Hitlerites finally swept the Communists from the champer.

Britain Fails to Provide For War Debts Payment

London, May 26 (U.P.).—Great Britain has failed to make any arrangements to pay war debt annuities to the United States after expiration of the Hoover debt holiday, Maj. Walter Elliot, financial secretary to the treasury, told the House of Commons today.

REVENUE WORK SPURTS AS TAX ON SALES GAINS

Supporters Predict Bill May Be Passed by Tomorrow.

POSTAGE RATE RISE STORM IS BREWING

Friends of Manufacturers' Levy Now Claim Voting Strength of 45.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The Senate yesterday plowed through seas of contentious sections of the billion-dollar tax bill with such speed that Republican and Democratic leaders expressed confidence the tax bill ship, which has been held back by storm and oratorical doldrums, was spanking for home in a last-minute record run.

Excise taxes were accepted and approved with a speed which defied the delay of record votes. Several items were left to go over. There are to be storms about other provisions, including the increase in postage rates, but the end of the day found conservative supporters of the bill predicting its passage at the end of the session tomorrow.

That prediction, however, was thought by others to be a mixture of hope with judgment. There are many items remaining in the bill to be considered.

Sales Tax Advocates Gain.

Although it is not in the bill the general manufacturers' sales tax is a hurdle the bill has yet to take. Advocates of the sales tax yesterday claimed additional accretions to their standard to bring their strength to a total of 45 out of the 96 members of the Senate. The reported approval of President Hoover of the sales tax was used in arguments to gain votes yesterday. But opponents challenged any sales tax advocate to urge presidential approval openly.

"If they had the votes they would have accepted one or another of the several challenges which have been flung to them," a committee bill leader said.

Nonetheless there is no question that the most significant development in the course of consideration of the bill in the last few days has been the increase in the strength of the sales tax advocates. Many sena-

Vienna Reds Mob Washington Rites

Hurl Stones in Effort to Prevent Unveiling of Memorial.

Vienna, Austria, May 26 (A.P.).—Communists tried to stop the unveiling of a memorial tablet to George Washington here today by stoning automobiles in front of the American legation. Their demonstration was quickly nipped by police, however, who arrested twenty of them, including four whose faces were blackened in symbolism of the condemned Scottsboro (Ala.) Negroes.

[Seven Negroes are awaiting death in Alabama on charges of attacking white girls, having been convicted and given the extreme penalty.]

One stone hit the automobile of the secretary of Gilchrist Baker Stockton, the American Minister. Nobody was injured. The Communists also distributed handbills throughout the city today, inciting the populace to "chase the American Minister to the devil." The memorial tablet was unveiled on schedule, however, and a block of newly constructed apartment buildings was named in honor of George Washington by way of celebrating his Bicentennial.

WALKER CHARGES MOVE TO END HIS POLITICAL CAREER

Denies Anything Illegal Involved in Huge Profit Deals Which Required Putting Up No Capital.

ALSO SAYS MISSING SHERWOOD WAS NOT HIS FINANCIAL AGENT

Countless Kindnesses to Him as Mayor Brought Big Income, He Asserts, Rapping Antagonistic Attitude of Inquiry.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—Fighting vigorously, Mayor James J. Walker from a witness stand today gave his explanation of how he made hundreds of thousands of dollars from stock transactions without putting up a cent, and charged Samuel Seabury with trying to end his political life.

Hundreds of his constituents listened in comparative silence while the head of the largest city in the world detailed his complicated personal finances to the Hofstadter legislative committee for which Seabury is counsel.

Denies Sherwood Was Financial Agent.

They also heard the mayor deny Russell T. Sherwood, accountant for whom the committee has searched for months, was his personal financial agent.

Walker said he himself had been searching for the missing witness, who was fined $50,000 for contempt of the committee in ignoring a subpena.

He denied he had a joint safety deposit box with Sherwood.

When Seabury produced eleven of the $3,500-a-year accountant's bank and brokerage accounts and showed deposits of more than $700,000 in less than six years, Walker made repeated denials he knew the source of the money.

It was the mayor's second day on the stand, and the smiles of yesterday rarely played across his face. Instead he frequently scowled down at his questioner and made his replies in crisp, pointed sentences.

He waved for silence whenever the spectators, who yesterday staged many wild demonstrations in his favor, showed signs of applause.

The shouted protests of Democratic committee members that the whole fourteen-month inquiry, costing $750,000, was nothing but an attempt to obtain the mayor's removal, brought equally heated charges from Walker.

Charges Antagonistic Attitude.

"I recognize an antagonistic attitude toward me," he said.

"I am here on an inquiry, but it looks as if somebody wants my life," he shouted a moment later, looking Seabury directly in the eye.

"This is preliminary to preferring charges to the governor for my removal, and no one is fooled by the fact that——" he began at another point, but Seabury stopped him with the remark:

"This is a simple stump speech."

The morning was taken up with the mayor's story of how he benefited to the extent of $303,227 from stock transactions and pools in which he made no investment.

Late in the day the questioning swung around to Sherwood.

"What steps did you take to locate him?" Walker was asked.

"I made an urgent effort to find him and have been trying ever since," the mayor said, adding he had last heard of Sherwood in Mexico.

"If I knew where Sherwood is I might not have to spend these two hot days down here," Walker said a moment later.

Didn't Know of Money.

When Seabury introduced Sherwood's bank and brokerage accounts he said to Walker:

"From January 1, 1926, to August 5, 1931, these accounts show, Sherwood deposited $700,225, of which $472,094 was in cash. Can you explain where this money came from?"

"I am either guilty of perjury or I am not," Walker said, "I never knew anything about Sherwood's personal affairs."

ARMS DELEGATIONS FAIL TO GAIN ACCORD

Report Is Drawn Without Definite Conclusions on Naval Weapons.

Geneva, May 26 (U.P.).—The naval commission of the disarmament conference concluded a week of private meetings tonight without agreeing on whether any naval weapons, except mines, are either "offensive" or "defensive."

The drafting committee has drawn up a report to be submitted to the general commission. The report was supposed to represent the view of the committee on which weapons should be internationalized or abolished because they can be used for aggressive warfare, and which weapons should be retained by the nations as necessary to protect frontiers.

It was learned that there are no definite conclusions in the report. Each nation desired to retain some particular type of weapon in which it is best equipped. The United States, Japan and Great Britain alone held out against abolition or internationalization of battleships.

Japan was the only nation to favor complete abolition of aircraft carriers, although France expressed the opinion that such vessels "can threaten the national defense when used in an aggressive war."

The United States, Argentina, and Britain asked abolition of submarines, but Japan, France, and some smaller

New Cabinet of Greece Is Inducted Into Office

Athens Greece, May 26 (A.P.).—Alexander Papanastasiou succeeded today in forming a cabinet, the members of which were immediately sworn in. In addition to the premiership, M. Papanastasiou will serve as foreign minister and minister for national defense. Kriakos Varyaressos, counselor to the Bank of Greece, who was appointed minister of finance April 22, will retain his ministry.

Premier Venizelos resigned last Saturday because Congress refused to pass his financial legislation.

Optional Retirement Bill Likely to Be Given Senate

Dale Is Willing to Present Measure as Amendment to Economy Proposal; Federal Workers Renew Hope of Action This Session.

A fight to win optional retirement for Federal workers with 30 years' service may be launched in the Senate next week as a special economy measure, Senator Porter H. Dale (Republican), Vermont, chairman of the Senate civil service committee, said last night.

Senator Dale said he is willing to propose the measure as an amendment to the economy bill if he finds the various employe organizations agreed on the step. A number already have made representations to him.

The civil service committee chairman broached the subject with members of the special Senate economy committee, he said. He found them unwilling to incorporate the plan in the omnibus bill they are framing.

Meanwhile that committee, laden down with proposals for $300,000,000 or more in budget balancing economies, begins to see light ahead. Indications are their program may be submitted to the appropriations committee early next week. The economy measure will follow the tax bill on the floor of the Senate.

Proponents of optional retirement for Government employes argue that if Government employes must be

U. S. Is Rushing Program To Expand Foreign Trade

Plan for Assisting Exporters in Marketing of Goods Is Under Way Under Supervision of Commerce and State Departments.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States has set up the machinery of a comprehensive plan of trade expansion originally devised by President Hoover, which is expected to play a dominant role in the development of world markets for American exporters, it was learned here yesterday.

The essential feature of the plan is the coordination of the functions of the Commerce and State Departments for the more efficient administration of American foreign trade. The President, while he was Secretary of Commerce had ample opportunities to see the necessity of the work of the Commerce Department's trade commissioners as well as the State Department's consuls.

At that time he was already preparing the outlines of the plan which was formally adopted on May 10 to effect unity of action between the representatives afield of the two Government agencies.

The new revised plan of the President will enable every American business house to call on the services of a selling agency run by the United States Government for the more effective administration of American foreign commerce.

The importance of this comprehen-

CANNON SEES DRYS IGNORING RUM ISSUE

Says Prohibitionists Would Ask People to Disregard Stand in Fall Vote.

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., declared yesterday that should either the Republican or Democratic convention or both "take unfair or unprecedented action on the prohibition question," organized drys would insist that the people ignore such action in electing their senators and representatives next fall.

As chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Bishop Cannon sent a letter to every senator and representative saying the "extreme limit" to which the organized prohibitionists would go in the party platform would be to declare for "vigorous, efficient enforcement," and further:

"That whenever the people desire to amend or to repeal the eighteenth amendment, or to amend the Constitution to provide for a popular referendum, the people can exercise their right to do exactly as they did in writing the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution, namely, by electing senators, congressmen and members of State Legislatures or conventions favorable to such modification or repeal."

"By adopting such statements," the letter added, "the (national) conventions would leave the people free to decide what pledges they would require on the prohibition question from candidates before electing their congressmen, senators and members of State Legislatures, and such officials when elected would be entirely free to carry out the expressed wishes of their constituents, without any reference to action taken by the national party conventions."

A Senate judiciary subcommittee session called yesterday to consider proposals for prohibition repeal and modification was postponed, due to failure to muster a quorum.

Absence of three prohibitionist members—Borah (Republican), Idaho; Walsh (Democrat), Montana, and Dill (Democrat), Washington—prevented the meeting.

Heavy Bonds Are Fixed In Ship Rum Plot Case

Norfolk, Va., May 26 (A.P.).—Bonds totaling approximately $100,000 were demanded by the Government today in the case of officers and members of the crew of the collier Shooters Island, charged with conspiracy to smuggle whisky into the United States following seizure of the vessel here last Saturday after 70 bottles of whisky had been found aboard.

At a hearing before United States Commissioner Percy S. Stephenson in Portsmouth, J. U. Killingsworth, third assistant engineer of the seized vessel, turned State's evidence and described in detail the transportation of 16,000 cases of whisky from St. Pierre, Miquelon, to Newark.

Commissioner Stephenson ordered that Capt. J. A. Bergman, skipper, be held in $10,000 bond, demanded $15,000 of Boatswain H. Anderson, $5,000 from each of five other officers and $2,500 from each of the remaining 21 members of the crew.

Starkweather One Vote Ahead in Oregon Race

Portland, Oreg., May 26 (A.P.).—By the margin of one solitary vote, Harvey Starkweather led William Delzell today in their fight for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the First Oregon District, with official returns tabulated from fourteen of the seventeen counties in the district.

Starkweather had 12,127 votes and Delzell 12,126 on the count of returns from last Friday's primary. They have raced neck-and-neck from the start of the tabulation. Meanwhile, with fourteen of the seventeen counties marked official on the Republican ticket, James W. Mott continued to lead Representative Willis C. Hawley for nomination as representative from the First District. Official changes tabulated by the Associated Press gave Mott 30,884 votes and Hawley 30,714.

Film Producers Accused Of Unfairness in Chicago

Chicago, May 26 (A.P.).—Officials of the Rivoli Theater, a neighborhood moving picture house, charged in an injunction suit today that seven large picture producing and distributing companies monopolize the movie industry in Chicago and even dictate admission prices.

The theater seeks an injunction to restrain the Fox Film Corporation, Warner Bros., Vitagraph, Inc., First National Pictures, Inc., the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation, the Paramount-Publix Corporation, and the Universal Films Exchange, Inc., from refusing to supply it with films. The defendant companies threatened to withhold all films from the theater, the bill stated, because it had reduced its admission price from 35 cents to 15 cents.

Best Investments Seem Kind Not Requiring Cash

By JOHN J. DALY

IT seems now that the best way to make an investment is to make an investment without making an investment. These are the investments that turn up huge profits without the expenditure of a thin dime.

Investigation after investigation in this country—and they are coming fast on the heels of one another—prove that the men who profit most from investments are those who, for one reason or another, have an opportunity to make investments without investing any cash in the transactions. There is everything to gain and nothing to lose.

It is not, of course, everybody who can make such investments. The average man, hoping to find some place where his hard-earned cash may go to work for him, usually gets caught in a jam. There is always that danger where actual cash is used. There is positively no risk in the other method. All you have to do is to have a friend on the inside who is putting over a big deal and let him remember you when the tide comes in. All you need, aside from a certain amount of good luck in choosing friends, is an old-fashioned safe.

SO far as recent investigations go, sums ranging from a case note, like $10,000, to $246,892, have been placed in these containers, even in tin boxes.

It is true that the men who have reaped these harvests are prominent in the public eye; but even that should not deter the ambitious youth of the country, on the trail of easy money. Public office is open to any citizen of the Republic who wants to enter the arena—and bring home the bacon.

All public officials are not able to make these investments without making investments, true! The process is a bit involved, because of higher mathematics. A man who invests $1,000 at 6 per cent enters a gut and dried field. At the end of a year his investment should net him $60 in profits, all things being equal.

That is all there is to that; but a man who makes an investment without putting up a single penny never quite knows how large his returns will be. The sky is the limit, which clothes the deal in an atmosphere of romance and adventure.

* * * *

THE moral of it all seems to be that, in order to play safe and make huge profits, the successful investor must refrain from making an investment if he would make an investment that is really an investment.

Otherwise he may let himself in for one of those Irish dividends—an Irish dividend being the net loss on a transaction where a foolish investor actually puts up cash and takes a beating; a tax for being so gullible.

No, after all is said and done, the ideal way to make an investment is to do so without making an investment. Get the cash and let somebody else take the credit.

GARNER'S RELIEF MEASURE IS INDORSED BY DdemocrATS

in order that loans may be made to "aid in financing agriculture, commerce and industry and other products and to assist in the relief of unemployment."

"The corporation is authorized and empowered to make loans upon such terms and conditions not inconsistent with this act as it may determine, to any person," the bill specified. This includes advances to States and political subdivisions for productive public works such as toll bridges, water works and similar enterprises.

Loans may be made for a three-year period, but none may be made on foreign securities or acceptances, and in no case shall the amount of a loan exceed 3 1-3 per cent of the authorized stock of the corporation.

The 91-page bill has seven parts and 361 sections, but most of it is occupied with the specific authorizations for public works.

It authorizes $568,782,000 in new construction and reauthorizes $478,092,468 in previously approved public works which have not been appropriated for.

Big Items in Measure.

Among the big items in the measure which affect every section of the country are:

Rivers and harbors.....	$222,000,000
Federal highway aid ...	233,400,000
Flood control	180,692,468
Public buildings	411,772,000
Total	$1,047,864,468

Meanwhile, President Hoover was told by John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, that an additional 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat would be needed to feed the hungry during the coming winter, although the first 40,000,000 bushels made available by Congress would carry through this summer.

Immediately afterward, Chairman McNary, of the Senate agriculture committee, introduced a resolution identical to that proposed in the House by Representative Lonergan (Democrat), Connecticut, to provide the additional wheat.

Lonergan made public a letter from James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board, saying unless Congress provided money for a second 40,000,000 bushels, the board would be unable to provide it.

Has Been of Great Aid.

"Unquestionably the donation of wheat by Congress has done much to relieve human suffering," Stone wrote Lonergan. "Failure of Congress, however, to compensate the farm board for the wheat thus donated has seriously impaired the revolving fund from which loans are made to cooperatives and stabilization corporations."

Stone said that in releasing more than 17,500,000 bushels of wheat to the Red Cross, the Grain Stabilization Corporation had called for $8,225,000 of the $20,000,000 set aside by the farm board to meet the expenses involved in turning over the 40,000,000 bushels for relief purposes.

"In the present state of the revolving fund we would not be in a position to authorize the release of the wheat from storage unless money were provided for that purpose," Stone wrote.

"You also asked my opinion relative to donating for relief purposes some of the coffee that was obtained from Brazil in exchange for wheat.

"This coffee cannot be disposed of until fall. It is my opinion that serious difficulties would result from an attempt to distribute the coffee on the same basis as the wheat and that it, therefore, should not be undertaken."

Maryland Towns Listed For Relief Public Works

(Associated Press.)

The Garner relief bill contains new public building allotments not heretofore authorized by Congress. Among them are the following:

Maryland — $680,000 (postoffices); Bel Air, $70,000; Cambridge, 50,000; Chestertown, $75,000; Elkton, 75,000; Hagerstown, $300,000; Silver Spring, $70,000; Baltimore (quarantine station), $40,000.

In addition, the bill authorizes $90,000,000 for public buildings already authorized, but which have not reached the contract stage. Projects authorized include:

Maryland (postoffices) — Crisfield, Easton, Baltimore (appraisers' stores).

West Virginia (postoffices)—Beckley, Huntington, Princeton, Weston.

The bill allots $5,800,000 for new postoffices in the $100,000 cost class; $101,080,000 for new postoffices in the $70,000 class and $46,310,000 for new postoffices in the $55,000 class: These include:

Maryland — $100,000, Woodsboro; $70,000, Aberdeen, Berlin, Centerville, College Park, Denton, Ellicott City, Federalsburg, Havre de Grace, Hyattsville, Laurel, Oakland, Pocomoke City, Princess Anne, Rockville, Snow Hill; $55,000, Brunswick, Emmitsburg, Hancock, Lonaconing, Mount Rainier, Ocean City, Upper Marlboro.

West Virginia—$70,000, Cameron, Chester, Dunbar, Follansbee, Hallidays Grove, Kenova, Lewisburg, Mannington, Marlinton, Mount Hope, Northfork, Richwood, Romney, Ronceverte, St. Albans, St. Marys, Shinnston, Spencer, White Sulphur Springs; $55,000, Berkley Springs, Fayetteville, Kingwood, Madison, Mullens, Newell, Oak Hill, Pennsboro, Piedmont, Ravenswood, Salem, Sutton, Terra Alta, West Union.

Among the rivers and harbors projects, for which the measure provides $81,893,289, are:

Knapps Narrows, Md., $68,700; Parish Creek, Md., $18,300; Baltimore Harbor and channels, $918,000; Baltimore Harbor and channels, $800,000.

Green, in Plea, Cites Rise In April and May Idle List

(Associated Press.)

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, last night told 150 House members that unemployment had increased in April and May for the first time in years and that unless congressional action was taken to provide work conditions would become worse.

Green was the first of three speakers invited by the unofficial House committee of three leading advocates of Federal relief for the unemployed. The other speakers were Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of the National Grange, and W. Jett Lauck, of New York, consulting economist.

In introducing the speakers, Representative Mead (Democrat), New York, said "it is inconceivable that Congress adjourn before dealing with the distressing economic situation" and declared that farsighted men "will fight to the last ditch for relief legislation."

PUBLIC WORKS BOND ISSUE HIT BY MILLS

Treasury Secretary Replying to Smith Urges End of U. S. Borrowing.

(Associated Press.)

Balance the budget and put an end to borrowing was the reply last night of Secretary Mills to the recent proposal of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for a public works program financed by bonds.

Mr. Mills, in a statement that came about the time the details of Speaker Garner's relief bill, also calling for a public works program to be financed by a bond issue, were made public, said such a building program as proposed by Mr. Smith financed from the Treasury would destroy a balanced budget and its destructive effect would far outweigh any benefits.

The Secretary made no reference to the Garner program as such.

He urged a balanced budget as the primary necessity for aiding business recovery.

Pays Tribute to Courage.

Mr. Mills paid tribute to Mr. Smith's "courage in recent public statements and his valuable support by his outspoken declaration in favor of the rest of the President's program."

He reviewed Mr. Smith's suggestions and asserted that the former governor himself, advocated a balanced budget but at the same time destroyed such a plan through his advocacy of a vast public program to be financed from the Federal Treasury.

"Public works, then, mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget, and a shock to public confidence," Mr. Mills said, "for the country has relied on the definite assurance of the administration and of the congressional leaders that the budget would be balanced.

"The only wise and sound course to pursue is to balance the budget and put an end to borrowing. We have been striving to reach this objective for six months. Are we to throw up our hands now? No matter how earnest, sincere, and moving the plea, the Treasury Department can not surrender on this fundamental principle.

Revive Private Employment.

"The greatest field for the revival of employment is in private industry and it is that employment that must be revived.

"Gov. Smith says business can not get under way on its own initiative; I believe he is wrong. Business can and will get under way."

The Secretary said that Mr. Smith professed to be unable to distinguish between a so-called productive and an unproductive loan, "the funds to be obtained in the first case by the sale of reconstruction finance securities and in the second by the sale of Treasury obligations.

In both cases, he continued, the money must be obtained from the public. In the case of the productive loans Federal credit was only indirectly invoked through sale of Reconstruction Finance securities, and first and last the loan would not constitute a charge on public funds.

Any loss, he said, would be a charge against the resources of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and perhaps ultimately against its capital which already has been fully paid and included in the current year's budget.

Requires Treasury Obligations.

In the second case, Mr. Mills said, an unproductive loan made by the Treasury would require the initial loan to be paid out of the general fund and the funds must be obtained through sale of Treasury obligations, the interest on which and the redemption of which must be secured from taxes and reflected in the 1933 budget.

Mr. Mills said that the former governor spoke "vaguely of a beer tax and a general manufacturers sales tax to cover the cost of public works."

He said the first had twice been beaten in both the Senate and House and as to the manufacturers sales tax no one has suggested superimposing it on the selective sales or excise taxes proposed in the pending revenue bill "and it would be unfair to do so." He added that the manufacturers sales tax would not furnish the additional revenue for public works.

Mr. Mills said a public works program such as proposed by the former governor could put comparatively few unemployed to work during the next twelve months.

Must Restore Confidence.

"The only way to give real relief to the American people is to restore confidence and get business going," Mr. Mills said. "Give business a chance. Let Congress balance the budget and pass a sound relief measure.

"Then with confidence restored, the effective stimulation to productive works, private and public, that can be effected through loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in addition to the work it is now doing, the open market policy of the Federal Reserve System, and the cooperative measures to be taken by business men themselves as developd by the Young committee in New York, the Avery committee in Chicago, and other similar committees now being formed, may well break the vicious circle of contraction and start the upward movement."

First Woman in High Spanish Post Resigns

Madrid, May 26 (U.P.).—Dona Victoria Kent y Siano, the first woman to occupy an important post in the Spanish government, resigned as director of prisoners today because of charges that she adopted a "soft" policy toward convicts.

The government will announce her resignation shortly and, at the same time, will publish announcement of her appointment to another high governmental position. Senorita Kent, who won fame as a lawyer before her appointment to the directorship, is a member of the Radical-Republican-Socialist party. She has been in office since immediately after the overthrow of the monarch 13 months ago.

Ice Box as Hiding Place Proves Fatal to 2 Boys

Schenectady, N. Y., May 16 (A.P.).—Playing hide and seek in a vacant apartment, Robert Nicholson, 6, and William Rice, jr., 5, locked themselves in an icebox yesterday, and tonight both were dead from suffocation.

Other children had given up the search and gone home for supper. The father of the Rice boy, after police had searched the town, decided to make one more search of the apartment house, in which the Rice family lived. Finally, he opened the icebox and found Bobby Nicholson dead and his own son nearly suffocated. The Rice boy died at a hospital.

Release of New York Spy Suspect Is Sought

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—A writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the prisoner held in the Federal House of Detention as Capt. Fritz Joubert Duquesne, wanted in England for murder on the high seas, was served on United States Marshal Raymond J. Mulligan today. The writ calls for the production of the prisoner before Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who signed it, on June 6.

The man, who insists he is Frank de Trosford Craven, critic, was arrested Monday night after police had conducted a thirteen-year search for Duquesne, former Boer rebel. The British warrant charged him with causing the death of three British sailors in 1916 in the sinking of the steamer Tennyson off Bahia, Brazil.

HOUSE NEARS VOTE ON BANK GUARANTY

Steagall Bill for Assurance of Deposits Attacked and Defended.

(Associated Press.)

Slowly the House neared a vote yesterday on creation of $1,000,000,000 in resources to assure the safety of bank deposits.

This chief provision of the Steagall bank bill was attacked and defended by Democrats and Republicans alike. Meanwhile, the rules committee was asked to find—during the session's remaining weeks—time for consideration of President Hoover's home loan credit system.

Representative Reilly (Democrat), Wisconsin, went before the rules group with this plea for the bill to ease home financing.

On the floor Reilly appealed also for the Steagall bill.

"The banking system has fallen down in this depression," he said. "This is the most constructive step taken to restore confidence."

Though the guaranty provision had not been reached in consideration of the bill, this section was the main subject of debate. Without objection a provision was approved fixing at $50,000 the minimum capital requirement for national bank charters.

Stevenson (Democrat), South Carolina, notified the House a committee amendment would be offered to permit State banks to participate in the guarantee fund on an equal footing with Federal Reserve member banks. Originally it was planned to levy a double assessment against the State institutions.

Andrew (Republican), Massachusetts, said not one administration official favored the bill, while Hancock (Democrat), North Carolina, contended it would put from 7,000 to 9,000 banks out of business.

LaGuardia (Republican), New York, said President Hoover's statement in his annual message that "Our people have the right to a banking system in which their deposits are safeguarded," indicated his approval of the bill.

Grain Men Again Seek Board Wheat

Kansas Citians Declare Market Price Offered for U. S. Surplus.

Kansas City, May 26 (A.P.).—Through W. B. Lincoln, president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, grain men here today repeated their offer to purchase the entire Farm Board holdings of cash wheat at the price the board is offering it at the gulf and Atlantic seaboard for export.

In again offering to purchase the surplus estimated at 90,000,000 bushels, the Kansas City grain men denied a public statement of the board that the private trade's purchase offer had been at a figure 15 to 20 cents below the market. Lincoln characterized the board's statement as a gross misrepresentation of facts.

"The prevailing market price has governed each offer made," he said. "At no time did the trade underbid on this grain. The effect of this Government surplus has so undermined normal merchandising methods that we had only the public interests and that of the country at heart, so that confidence would be revived in our markets to hasten the return of normalcy."

REPUBLICAN GROUP BACKS HOOVER ACTS

State Clubs League Adopts Resolution Pledging Its Aid to President.

President Hoover's handling of the Nation's economic problems was praised last night by Charles H. Small, special assistant to the Attorney General, at the annual meeting of the League of Republican State Clubs at the league's headquarters, Sixteenth street and Scott Circle.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the league:

"That the members of the League of Republican State Clubs of the District of Columbia approve every act of President Hoover since he became President of the United States March 4, 1929, and declare that he has kept the faith as outlined in the platform upon which he stood for election in 1928; that he has patriotically administered the affairs of the Nation with an eye ingular to the best interests of all classes of American citizens; that his foreign policy has been molded with the view of properly protecting American interests abroad and in a spirit of neighborly feeling and friendly relationship toward the nations of the earth, and that he has been faithful to the principles of the Republican party, for all of which he is justly entitled to renomination and reelection to the high office which he has filled with great honor and credit since his election, and to this end the members of this club pledge themselves wholeheartedly and unequivocally until the closing of the polls on election day next November."

Criticism of Democratic efforts to direct the course of legislation was voiced by Mr. Small, who said the opposition "has had time to accomplish something, but the only thing they have done is cause a loss of $10,000,000,000 in stock prices because of the Democratic breakdown and riot which rained down in the House over the sales tax."

The following officers of the league were elected last night: Edgar C. Snyder, United States marshal for the District, was reelected president; William O. Connor, recording secretary; Mrs. Ellen L. Hart, corresponding secretary; James A. Purcell, treasurer, and Thomas P. Littlepage, A. G. Herrmann, Louis Levay, William L. Symons, Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker and Miss M. Pearl McCall, vice presidents.

The president read a communication from the secretary of the Republican State committee of New York advising that all voters of New York City and Brooklyn domiciled in the District of Columbia and employed by the Government, visiting or in these cities during the months of July and August, can register at the office of any of the bureaus of election and thereby obviate the necessity of coming back in October for that purpose.

Fess Says Hoover Will Break Slump

Prosperity Will Return If His Policies Prevail, G. O. P. Group Told.

If President Hoover's policies prevail, prosperity will again resound throughout the land, according to Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, at a precampaign meeting of the Young Republicans of the National Capital Republican Club last night at their headquarters, Sixteenth street and Scott circle.

The outstanding problems of Congress were outlined to the Young Republicans by Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, representative from Massachusetts, following which Senator Fess was presented with a bronze elephant in appreciation of his interest in the Young Republican group.

Senator Fess, declaring that the average administration "had only to deal with the Government as a machine and keep it going," pointed out that President Hoover had had "more untried problems to solve than any executive since Washington."

Rainey Being Boomed For Vice Presidency

Mount Sterling, Ill., May 26 (A.P.). A "boom" for Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic floor leader in the House, for the vice presidential nomination was started today by Buell Brake, of Mount Sterling, former State central committeeman.

Brake announced that all his efforts at the Democratic convention would be to boost Rainey for a place on the national ticket.

MOVE TO END HIS POLITICAL CAREER CHARGED BY WALKER

shouted Seabury was trying to make headlines. Walker interjected:

"I hope he tries to prove it's mine, and I'll try and collect it."

As the crowd cheered, a cry went up from the Democratic end of the dais that "this is worse than Russia."

Testimony was produced tending to show that shortly after Walker in June, 1927, cashed two checks for $25,000 each, similar amounts were deposited in a secret trustee account by Sherwood.

Ignorant of Secret Account.

Walker denied knowing about this secret account and said there was no connection between his cashing the checks and Sherwood's deposits.

Seabury then read a statement indicating the secret account had been closed on August 9, 1927, and then had in it $263,838.36.

"Now Mr. Seabury," Walker said, "let's make a real scenario out of this. I suppose your inference is I took the $263,000 to Europe with me. I sailed for Europe the next day, you know. And yet you have also implied that, with $263,000 in my possession when I went to Europe, I was so short of cash I had to sell my soul for $10,000 to the Equitable Coach Co."

(The granting of a city franchise to the Equitable was the subject of most of yesterday's inquiry.)

A few minutes after the mayor had made this remark he left the stand for the day.

As he did he appealed to the committee to find some way to improve "the archaic, worn out, overlapping, out-of-date charter under which the City of New York lives."

"When you get ready to do this," he said, "all the key men in the city are ready to help you."

Wildly Cheered by Crowd.

He was wildly cheered by the crowd as he left the stand.

At the morning session Walker denied with indignant words and forceful gestures that a profit of $26,000 from a stock pool in which he had made no investment constituted a bribe for favorable taxi legislation.

He said that while attending a banquet in Atlantic City it had been suggested he go into a pool in Cosden oil stock. He said he forgot all about it until months later when he was told, as he prepared to attend another banquet, that he had made $26,000 without having put up a cent.

He said he took his profit in bonds, "now worthless."

He denied J. A. Sisto, banker who was interested in taxicab legislation, suggested he get in on the pool.

He read a veto message of a bill increasing taxicab rates to prove he had not been influenced by the stock profits.

Cites Profit Prevented.

He said the firm in which Sisto was interested "at that time had 1,000 taxicabs on the streets and if I had passed that bill the company would have profited $1,000,000 in one year."

The "unusual friendship" Paul Block, publisher, had for him was Walker's explanation of a joint Walker-Block brokerage account in which the mayor made no investment, but from which he drew a profit of $246,000.

He volunteered that without making any investment he had profited to the extent of $10,000 from an investment made by Esmond O'Brien, whose identity was not disclosed.

He also told of making another $10,000 in a similar way as the result of a conversation on a railroad train with an unidentified man.

When asked if he had been a beneficiary of any other such deals, he said he had had "countless kindnesses from people."

The scene today had many of the earmarks of a combined prize fight, county fair and circus.

Enthusiastic thousands stood in the sweltering heat outside the court building for hours just to get a glimpse of the man they call "Jimmy," whether they know him personally or not.

"Chief" Is Hailed.

Mothers, who had left their children with a neighbor so they could come and get a glimpse of "his honor," dotted the throng.

Stenographers, who were risking their jobs by lingering, added their shrill voices to the "cheering section."

Tammany zealots had come from all corners of the city to hail "the chief."

Newsboys mingled in this surging sea of humanity, shouting:

"Jimmy wins second round," or "read what Jimmy's telling 'em."

Men with cameras seemed to be everywhere. Nearly a dozen movie machines, atop trucks, were trained on the courthouse door.

When the mayor came or went, it was the signal for a deafening demonstration. The crowd didn't know what Walker was being accused of or what he had told his questioners, but it cheered him to the skies anyway.

On one occasion it took him ten minutes to go the 200 feet to where his car awaited him, and another ten minutes before the picked squad of detectives could clear a lane for the sparkling brougham.

Two long lines of bluecoats extended from the street right into the courtroom, forming an impregnable line for the march of the mayor to the witness stand.

Yesterday the spectators — more than 700 in a room built to seat 300—were obviously sympathetic to the witness; so sympathetic that they even jumped onto chairs to storm at Seabury.

Today only about 400 were admitted and seldom was there a demonstration.

Paid Applause Charged.

Once when Seabury had won some hand-clapping, Democratic committee members shouted an accusation that the room was "stacked with paid applauders."

Peanut venders, ice cream salesmen and hot dog purveyors hawked their wares through the courthouse corridors.

A "holiday air" pervaded the place. It was as if the crowds had come to see a show.

But for the mayor and Seabury it was an adroit battle of wits.

For the first hour of the hearing a smile rarely appeared on Walker's face. He scowled as he explained the "countless kindnesses" shown to him as mayor of the world's largest city.

Once he broke short an answer to stare down at the table where Seabury's young lawyer-assistants sat. Then he roared:

"I am being interrupted with the most discourteous interruptions I have ever had."

"You seem to be very sensitive this morn——" the counsel replied.

"Don't worry about me, judge," Walker cut in, still looking intently at one of the young lawyers. "You'll find before you're through I am not sensitive, but I am conscious of an attempted sneer by an employe of the State of New York. But I will find time to take care of that."

"That doesn't impress me at all," Seabury rejoined.

"I didn't expect it would," retorted Walker. "You don't want to be impressed by my testimony."

"I am impressed by your testimony," Seabury said, "but not your threats."

Roosevelt Confers With Col. House

Latter's Texas Influence Is Hinted as Motive of Parley.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, his face well tanned by the Georgia sun, returned to the State of his past political battles today and stoutly refused to be led into a discussion of any public question. He was believed, however, to have delved into his chances for winning the Democratic presidential nomination in a visit he made immediately after his arrival with Col. Edward M. House, the late President Wilson's confidential adviser.

Neither would comment on the matter and the Governor's associates termed it merely a friendly visit of farewell to Col. House, who started today for his annual summer vacation in New England.

Others attempted to read into the meeting a connection with the Texas delegation whose 46 convention votes are pledged to Speaker John N. Garner. They recalled that Col. House in 1912 held the Texas convention delegation for Woodrow Wilson and saw in Roosevelt's visit with him an indication the Governor places much reliance in the possible influence Col. House might have in winning him the support of Texas democracy, if not on the first ballot, at least on a later one.

Murray Orders Martial Law at 3,000 Oil Wells

Oklahoma City, May 26 (A.P.).—More than 3,000 Oklahoma oil wells were placed under martial law again late today when Gov. William H. Murray revoked an order of Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns which had released the wells from military supervision.

Lieut. Gov. Burns, as acting chief executive last week, revoked the martial law edict which placed the State's oil fields under military guard last August. At the time of the revocation the governor was in New York State.

Law Agent Kills Robber in Duel

Paducah, Ky., Official Is Wounded; Three Other Holdups Escape.

Paducah, Ky., May 26 (A.P.).—A pistol battle between Emmett Holt, commisioner of public safety, and one of four men who held up a downtown cigar store, resulted today in the death of the robber and the injury of the official and one of the proprietors of the store.

Holt entered the store while the robbery was in progress, and a man who was surprised looting the cash register opened fire, shooting Holt in the jaw. The safety commissioner returned the fire, killed the robber and wounded Morris Lydon, a part owner, in the leg with a stray bullet.

Three other men who had lined approximately 40 occupants of the store against the wall in a back room and gone through their pockets, walked coolly through the front room after the shooting, entered their automobile and drove off. They escaped with several hundred dollars.

Fickle Winds Delay Seattle-Tokyo Hop

Pilot Browne Unable to Get Heavily Loaded Plane Into Air for Trip.

Seattle, May 26 (A.P.).—A fickle wind which flirted with airport indicators from every direction except that needed for a take-off delayed Nathan C Browne, New York flier, today in his projected nonstop flight to Tokyo.

A falling barometer gave Charles O. Schick meteorologist at Boeing Field, hope that when a south wind does come it will be of sufficient velocity to help launch Browne's heavily loaded monoplane into the air on its 5,000-mile jump. After watching the swinging wind vane for several hours this afternoon, Browne decided to wait until tomorrow morning.

Browne indicated if he does not get a head wind for a take-off soon he may adopt a suggestion offered by aviation enthusiasts here that he refuel in mid-air over the field. He seeks the $30,000 prize offered by Seattle business men for a nonstop flight to Tokyo before June 1.

FIEND KILLS GIRL, 8; SLASHES 2 OTHERS

Jobless Cleveland Carpenter Says He Had "Call" to Murder Children.

Cleveland, May 26 (A.P.).—An 8-year-old girl was stabbed to death and two of her companions were slashed by a man who charged a group of school children with a knife in each hand today.

The slayer, Jacob Gordon, 38, a jobless carpenter, known in the neighborhood as "Mystery Jake," was captured and pinioned in a straight-jacket at the county jail so alienists could question him.

Gordon seized Elaine Macken, 8, as she and a number of girls were walking to school, thrust a 4-inch knife into her repeatedly and dropped her dead on the sidewalk while her sister, Delores, 9, watched.

As screaming children ran in all directions, he grabbed Rose Marie Parker, 8, and slashed her so seriously she may die. Lena de San, 12, who had just emerged from her home, was the next victim. She escaped with cuts about the throat and abdomen.

Neighbors and pedestrians on their way to work heard the children's screams and pursued Gordon a short distance until he met Patrolman Charles Mitschele, on school traffic duty. The officer drew his gun and Gordon surrendered without resistance, throwing away his blood-stained knives.

A crowd of more than 100 persons began shouting "lynch him," but the patrolman guarded his prisoner until emergency police squads arrived.

Gordon talked incoherently of a "call to kill millions of children," police said. "This morning I couldn't resist the call any longer. I killed them, but I didn't kill enough," he said. He begged that he be killed. He said he was not sorry for his deeds and "I'll be glad when I die."

Gordon left the home of Israel Vangar, where he lived, in good spirits this morning, Vangar said, although he had been moody lately. Then he went to a barber shop, where he laughed and joked, before starting his frenzied attacks.

SEVERAL ARE HURT AT RECTOR'S TRIAL

Police Repulse Big Crowd of Women and Lock Doors of Church House.

London, May 26 (A.P.).—Several young women were painfully crushed today while attempting to push into Church House, Westminster, to hear the Rev. H. F. Davidson, 62-year-old rector of Stiffkey, defend himself against charges of immortality.

Hundreds of persons, attracted by the spicy testimony of the last few days, were locked out by the police. Inside, the clergyman sought to explain a photograph showing him with a young girl who, the prosecution indicated, was nude except for partial draping with a shawl.

Mr. Davidson denied with considerable heat that he knew the girl was naked except for the shawl. He said he thought she wore a bathing suit, as the picture had been designed to advertise bathing suits. He was bombarded with questions by the prosecution in an effort to break down his denial.

Mrs. Jessie Walton, keeper of a rooming house, testified that the rector and Barbara Harris, a witness for the prosecution, had stayed at her house, but that nothing improper took place. When Mr. Davidson was away, the landlady said, Miss Harris slept in his room, but when he returned she shared a room with Mrs. Walton.

On one occasion, Mrs. Walton testified, Miss Harris and another girl, Rose Ellis, grew angry upon their return from the rector's home at Stiffkey, where, they said, they had been "stranded."

"We will make Mr. Davidson pay for this," she quoted them as saying.

A large crowd of hopeful spectators was outside Church House when the clergyman's trial was resumed this morning. After a struggle in which several girls were injured, police got control and locked the doors.

WORK ON REVENUE BILL SPURTS AS SALES TAX BACKERS GAIN

tors have been beaten into line by the whip of disapproval from the industries in their States on which it is proposed to place a special sales tax.

Advocates of higher income taxes are hanging on doggedly. There were indications that if the high income tax advocates would go along with the committee on its bill, the committee strength would be thrown to them, if it were found additional revenues were needed.

Connally Plan Favored.

The amendment advocated by Senator Tom Connally, to impose the 1922 income rates, with some changes, seemed most likely the ground on which there could be a meeting. The Connally amendment provided for normal taxes of 4 and 8 per cent on the first $4,000, and the next $4,000, and started the surtaxes at 1 per cent at $6,000, but carried them above the 1922 rates to a maximum of 55 per cent on incomes of $1,000,000 and more. The sales tax advocates, of course, are not asleep to the advantages of promises and they also were making advances to the income taxers.

But all of that was in the background. There was no indication on the floor that there was such a serious division of opinion among the members.

Rapidly the Senate approved finance committee proposals to put a 10 per cent tax on cosmetics, estimated to yield $12,000,000; a 10 per cent tax on jewelry, estimated to yield $12,000,000; a 10 per cent tax on cameras and sporting goods, estimated to yield $6,500,000; to revise the committee tax on firearms, to yield $6,500,000; a 5 per cent tax on mechanical refrigerators, to yield $6,000,000; a 2 per cent tax on candy, to yield $5,000,000; a tax of 2 cents per 1,000 on wooden matches and ½ cent per 1,000 on paper matches, to yield $5,000,000; graduated rates on soft drinks, to yield $7,500,000, and a graduated tax on motor boats and yachts, based on length, with fees ranging from $10 to $200, to yield $500,000.

Taxes of 2 per cent on chewing gum, estimated to yield $1,000,000, and a tax of 2¼ per cent on automobile tires and of 4 per cent on inner tubes, estimated to yield $33,000,000, also were approved.

Other Taxes Approved.

Other taxes approved included levies on telegraph and telephone, and cable radio messages, some flat rate and others graduated, the estimated total of which was $22,000,000.

One of the big items of battle was disposed of when the committee amended the admission tax. Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills had advocated a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents of admission charge. The committee recommended and the Senate approved a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents above 40 cents. It defeated a proposal by Senator Robert L. Wagner (Democrat) of New York, that the spoken drama should be given a $3 exemption.

A proposal by Senator Tasker L. Oddie (Republican), of Nebraska, to put a tariff on manganese ore into the bill was beaten without much fuss. Senator Alben Barkley (Democrat), of Kentucky, sought to have the committee paper tax changed, saying that it was not a revenue measure but was framed by importers of foreign made cigarette papers, was beaten. The committee's recommendation for the taxing of safety deposit boxes was approved, as were several administrative provisions.

The result was that at the end of the session those in charge of the bill foresaw only two important fights ahead of them. One of these was on the question of taxing bank checks. The other was on the proposed increase in postage rates.

In the background, of course, there still remained the determination of the advocates of higher income taxes to have another vote on their proposals and of the advocates of the general manufacturers' sales tax to force their proposal to an issue from which they have frankly refrained heretofore.

Bandit Pair Taken; One Kills Himself

Iowa Bank Robber Suspects Captured by Posse in Forest.

Numa, Iowa, May 26 (A.P.).—Less than three hours after they had robbed the Citizens State Savings Bank of Cincinnati, two bandits were captured by a posse in a woods near here today. One of the bandits committed suicide when he saw escape was impossible.

The men were Louis Walk, of Des Moines, and Frank C. Weining, of Burlington. The men had escaped from jail in Des Moines a week ago, a check by Attorney General John Fletcher's office in Des Moines revealed. Weining committed suicide, while Walk was taken into custody. More than $3,500 of the loot was recovered.

A stolen car which they had used in the robbery was found burned on a creek bank five miles from the spot where the men were cornered. Earlier, the pair robbed the Citizens State Savings Bank in Cincinnati, Iowa. Cincinnati is three miles from the Missouri line in Appanoose County.

of the allied nations. "I am not pleading guilty to anything."

He waived examining trial today on a charge of violating the customs laws and was held in $1,500 bond.

Ponder's ship until two weeks ago was used on the Dallas-Chicago air mail line. It was sold to a Dallas man for $2,000.

The capture marked the first airplane seizure where both the Government and the hunted craft were in the air.

Ponder enlisted in the Lafayette Escadrille early in the World War, and transferred to the United States Army in February, 1918. He was given the Distinguished Service Cross for breaking up an enemy attack of thirteen planes on a lone American flier and shooting down an enemy plane near Fontaines, France, October 23, 1918.

He married a French girl and returned to Mangum, Okla., where he was city manager two years. He has lived in Fort Worth several years and has the agency for an aircraft corporation.

HOPE FOR SALES TAX REVIVED AT CAPITOL

36 of Publishers Favor Plan After Conference at White House.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The nocturnal conference between President Hoover and newspaper publishers Wednesday, and its possible bearing on the imminent battle over a sales tax in the Senate, was the topic of lively debate in Capitol cloakrooms yesterday.

Meantime a survey showed that the sales tax plan had gained many converts in Congress. Thirty members of the House who voted against the sales tax in March, were reported ready to espouse it now. Proponents of such a tax in the Senate claimed they had 45 votes lined up for it, close to the majority required for passage.

Notwithstanding the secrecy that shrouded the White House conference, the story of what happened seemed to be in general circulation in both the Senate and the House.

36 Publishers Favor Tax.

According to the Capitol version, President Hoover, after praising the sales tax as a painless and effective instrument of raising revenue, conducted a poll among the publishers. Thirty-six said they favored a sales tax and two said they were opposed to it. These two, it was reported, were far from adamant in their opposition.

President Hoover, it is understood, did not seek any agreement on the matter.

There was keen speculation in the Senate yesterday over whether President Hoover, encouraged by Wednesday night's conference, would openly call on Congress to adopt the sales tax. Republican senators close to him said that he would not. Certain Democratic senators said that he dared not. If he favors a sales tax, these Democrats said, why did he not say so in the beginning?

Celebrated Revolt.

Two months ago, following the now celebrated revolt in the House, the sales tax was pronounced dead. Running roughshod over Speaker Garner and Republican Leader Snell, a coalition headed by Representative Robert L. Doughton (Democrat), North Carolina, and Representative Fiorella LaGuardia (Republican), New York, knocked the general sales tax out of the 1932 tax bill by a vote of 223 to 153. In its place went a variety of special excise taxes—taxes on candy, chewing gum, theater tickets, cosmetics, and so on.

It may be that the sales tax still is dead, but there can be no denying that it has gained many friends at the Capitol in the last few weeks.

The showdown will come when Senator David A. Walsh (Democrat), of Massachusetts, offers his 1.75 per cent sales tax on an amendment to the tax bill now pending in the Senate.

Would Exempt Food.

Senator Walsh estimates that 45 senators are ready to vote for his amendment, which would exempt clothes up to $30, shoes up to $5, and all food and farm implements. A majority of the Senate is 49.

Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), of Georgia, called on President Hoover yesterday and afterward said that 30 members of the House who voted against the sales tax were now ready to vote for it.

On the basis of the House vote in March—223 to 153—a shift of 36 votes in that body would be enough to insure passage.

LaGuardia Adamant.

Representative Crisp, who, as acting chairman of the ways and means committee, led the fight for a sales tax, said he thought it would now have an excellent chance in the House.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, jr. (Republican), of Massachusetts, made the same statement. He said he knew of 20 Republican members who voted against the sales tax in March who would now vote for it, and of ten others who did not vote in March who are now ready to approve it.

Representative LaGuardia scoffed at such talk.

"We are just as strong now as before," he said, "and we'll resist any attempt to foist the sales tax on the people."

NEW YORK EXCHANGE DROPS BEAR TRADER

First Positive Disciplinary Action Taken in War on Short Selling.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange again cracked the whip over short sellers today in its sharpest disciplinary action to be meted out in the two and one-half years of the bear market.

Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, announced at the opening gong of stock trading that the exchange had suspended from membership for one year Daniel Manning McKeon, an active private trader. The suspension was made under a provision in the exchange's constitution which forbids dealings designed "for the purpose of upsetting the equilibrium of the market."

The provision was inserted in the Stock Exchange constitution in 1925, but before today had never been called into use.

Several months ago, the exchange took decisive action against "selling the market down" through forbidding the offering or sale of stocks for short account at prices lower than the previous sale. A number of traders have also been called before the board of governors, but heretofore there has been no announcement of positive disciplinary action, although it has been rumored in brokerage quarters that one or two members have sold their seats as the result of the inquiry.

McKeon was a private trader and was admitted to membership in the New York Stock Exchange on March 1, 1929. He had his office with Drysdale & Co., but was not a member of that firm.

The Stock Exchange announcement said that although McKeon's offers "were not accepted and did not cause a decline in prices," he was found guilty of the charges by the governing committee.

A number of traders have been called upon by the governing committee to explain their selling activity, but heretofore all had been able to satisfy the committee that their operations had been proper.

HOPE FOR OPTIONAL RETIREMENT GROWS

dropped because of drastic appropriation cuts, the only humane method is to release them voluntarily with retirement pay, and not fill the vacancies left.

Under the plan Senator Dale may offer, no vacancies would be filled for a year, he said. This would take up much of the employment slack, and obviate the necessity of turning large numbers of efficient workers out on the streets.

Hearings on bills proposing a plan identical with the Dale idea have just been completed by the House civil service committee, but to date no vote has been taken by the group.

Government workers point out the Dale amendment would at least insure action by Congress this session. All agree it is late in the term to force a bill through both houses.

Senator Dale said it would be as an individual and not as chairman of the Senate civil service committee that he would propose the amendment.

An unsuccessful effort to accomplish the same end was made in the House by Representative Frederick R. Lehlbach (Republican), New Jersey, and Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York. They vainly sought to amend the House economy bill to provide optional retirements. There is a growing feeling, however, that if the Senate writes it into the economy bill the House will accept it, Senator Dale said.

COBLENTZ EFFORTS TO SAVE BANK TOLD

Witnesses Explain How He Attended Ritchie Parley Trying to Get Loan.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 26.—The trial of the case of the State against State Senator Emory L. Coblentz, president of the Central Trust Co., Frederick, which closed its doors last September 3, has been taken up largely with presentation of statements and correspondence which has reached mass proportions. A number of officials testified today as to various accounts Central Trust had with their banks, the collateral that was posted and status of it at the time Central Trust closed.

Coblentz has been indicted for accepting a deposit in the Washington Trust Co., Ellicott City, one of the eleven branches of Central Trust Co., knowing the institution to be insolvent.

Correspondence Presented.

Most of this afternoon was consumed with presentation of correspondence between the Cumberland Steel Co., this city, W. Wallace McKaig, president and general manager, and the Central Trust Co.

The defense view of the case up to this time as expressed by its attorneys is presentation of a multiplication of facts by the State with nothing incriminating having been shown.

Among the witnesses who testified today were Harry C. Evans, of Stein Brothers & Boyce, Baltimore; William L. Smith, Baltimore Trust Co.; John J. Gingher, Baltimore Trust Co.; M. E. Deffenbaugh, assistant auditor of Union Trust Co., Baltimore; Stuart Galloway, Fidelity & Deposit Co., Baltimore; George Shriver, president of Hambleton & Co., Baltimore; Louis Eliasberg, president of the Finance Corporation of America, and Jacob S. New, Baltimore, vice president of the Eureka Maryland Life Insurance Co.

The State also questioned several of the witnesses regarding the conference in which Gov. Ritchie, Attorney General William P. Lane, Comptroller William S. Gordy and other State officers met with Coblentz and a group of Baltimore bankers in Baltimore on the afternoon of September 1. Coblentz endeavored to obtain a further loan from the Baltimore banks. This loan was refused and Coblentz, the witnesses told, was urged to go back to Frederick and try to raise more money locally. This he was unable to do, and, following a telephone conversation with the State bank commissioner, George W. Page, he was told to take it up with Central Trust directors and get authority to close the bank, which was done the following day.

McCullen Testifies.

Allan McCullen, of Washington, D. C., vice president of the Southern Maryland Trust Co., with branches at Seat Pleasant and Marlboro, testified that following the reorganization of that bank in December, 1929, they found notes in the sum of $79,000 on the Central Trust Bank among its assets.

The former bank arranged to have the notes placed on deposit with Coblentz, to be liquidated, in order to strengthen the reserves of the Southern Maryland Trust Co. The witness cited that $30,000 was obtained, and later the account was closed by accepting mortgages, and the sum of $500 paid additional for use of the money. He said Coblentz complained then of low reserves and withdrawal of deposits. "We explained we needed the money," said McCullen. He filed photostatic copies of his letters regarding the transactions with the Central Trust Co.

Reavis, Former House Member, Is Dead at 62

Lincoln, Nebr., May 26 (A.P.).—Charles Frank Reavis, 62, former representative in Congress from Nebraska, died early today at a hospital following a short illness.

Reavis, a Republican, served three terms in the House of Representatives. He resigned in 1922, the first year of his fourth term, to enter the practice of law. In 1924 he was elected a delegate at large from Nebraska to the Republican national convention and only last month he was elected a delegate from the First District to the Chicago national convention of his party.

Notre Dame to Honor Owen D. Young.

South Bend, Ind., May 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame University, announced today that Owen D. Young, of New York, would receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at the commencement exercises June 5. Mr. Young will also deliver the commencement address.

VOTE ON BONUS TO PREVENT INVASION NOT HELD LIKELY

buildings, which might be used to house the veterans.

For the past week veterans have been entering the city in scores. It is estimated by Gen. Glassford that at least 1,000 are in the city. All public lodging houses are taxed to capacity. Through a system of registration, which he hopes to place in effect, he hopes that the veterans will leave the city 48 hours after arrival.

"If Congress would definitely say that there would be no bonus, I think it would put an end to the march. Or if they would vote the bonus, that might end it also," Gen. Glassford said after leaving the White House where he discussed the question of a vote with Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries.

Gen. Glassford believes there is no intention on the part of the veterans to create any disorder while here but some trouble may be anticipated if they remain here for any length of time without funds. "Many things result from empty stomachs," he said.

The bonus proposal was turned down by the House ways and means committee, by a vote of 15 to 10, and the bill appears to be dead for this session, at least. Unless 145 members sign a petition which would bring the issue to the House for a vote, there is little chance that a decision will be made either way.

Food Is Offered.

Aid in feeding the veterans has been offered by veterans' groups and charity organizations, but these funds, it was pointed out, will last only for two days. Should the veterans overstay the 48-hour limit, it is likely that Federal appropriation will be asked to feed them. Warnings have been issued by the marchers that they will stay here "until 1945, if necessary," until definite action is taken on the bonus.

Gen. Glassford also talked yesterday afternoon with Senator Watson, Republican leader of the Senate, and with Representative Fred S. Purnell, of Indiana, to ask their advice with regard to the procurement of a vote on the bonus bill.

Representative Wright Patman, the author of the full bonus payment bill, urged last night that the question be submitted to a vote. "The longer a vote is delayed," he said, "the more marches there will be. To stop the marches, either the bill must be passed or defeated." All veterans' organizations, he said, have discouraged the march.

Seeks to Stop New Group.

To discourage a group of veterans from Philadelphia in their announced intention to come here on May 31, Gen. Glassford yesterday directed a letter to John Alferi, of Philadelphia, asking him to remain away to prevent the suffering and privation which might come to the men because of the inability to feed and house them.

From the Far West and the Middle West the "Bonus Brigade," in six different units, continued their march here. An Associated Press dispatch from Seymour, Ind., said the Oregon "Bonus Brigade" was nearing the city on National Guard trucks. About 240 were in the group, the dispatch said. Nearly 100 marchers left the main body and proceeded to Cincinnati.

At the Indiana-Ohio boundary line the veterans will transfer from the Indiana trucks to Ohio National Guard and highway department trucks, an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus said. The trucks will carry them across the State to West Virginia, where State trucks will pick them up. They will probably spend tonight in Lancaster or Zanesville, W. Va.

Other Transportation.

District Engineer C. A. Eichelberger announced last night in Uniontown, Pa., that trucks of the highway commission will carry the veterans across Pennsylvania through Fayette County to Maryland, the Associated Press says.

Another group arrived in Columbus, Ohio, from Salt Lake City. They numbered 36. They left immediately on freight trains for this city.

A group of 30 former soldiers arrived in Chicago last night in box cars, according to a United Press dispatch. At San Francisco another group of 400 began the long journey to Washington. Another army of 100 arrived in Sacramento from the Pacific Northwest, all headed for the Capital.

Boy, 15, Is Injured As Car Hits Bridge

Arlington Youth Hurt as Auto Stalls on Hill; Companion Held.

Henry Howard, 15 years old, of Arlington County, Va., is in Alexandria Hospital suffering from serious injuries received yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident.

Young Howard was a passenger in an automobile driven by Boyd H. Miller, 19, also of Arlington County. The two had been to visit a friend on the Sleepy Hollow road about a mile south of Falls Church. They had started home when their auto stalled on a hill. The boys managed to get the car turned around and had started back down the hill when it went beyond control and struck a small bridge.

Howard's legs were crushed and he received internal injuries. He was taken to the Alexandria Hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious. Miller received minor cuts and bruises. Miller was taken before Justice of the Peace J. T. Moling at Falls Church by Deputy Sheriff John B. Dowden. He was held under $1,500 bond, pending outcome of Howard's injuries. His car was demolished.

Cadets to 'Guard' Curley At Field Mass Monday

The St. John's College Cadets will be the guard of honor for Archbishop Michael J. Curley at the George Washington Bicentennial field mass at Catholic University Monday.

The cadets held their annual competitive drill Wednesday on the Ellipse, at which Company B, under command of Capt. William Mahoney, won first place. The individual best-drilled cadets were William Allen, Company A, first place; George Neele, Company C, second place, and Bernard Brady, Company B, third place. The cadets will be the only uniformed organization to participate in the field mass Monday.

Study Is Held Key To Ocean Flights

All Sea Hops Possible If Preparation Proper, Parley Asserts.

Rome, May 26 (U.P.).—A report to the effect that all transocean flights are possible if proper aviation material is provided and adequate routes marked, was adopted today by the transoceanic air congress at its closing session. The congress decided to hold its next session in New York.

A recommendation that an international center for gathering data to facilitate international aerial traffic be created at Rome was adopted. The congress adopted a resolution by Italian Air Minister Italo Balbo, advocating that airports for future transoceanic air lines should not be exclusively reserved for concessionaire companies, but should be open to international air traffic the same as seaports. The French and Spanish delegates did not vote.

Paris, May 26 (U.P.).—The Paris press tonight vigorously attacked the Balbo resolution at the Rome air congress as an attempt to break into the French air mail service to South America. France spent millions developing the service, the press pointed out, in charging Italy sought to break in.

INDICTMENT NAMES JOHN HUGHES CURTIS

mysterious telephone message received by Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, Lindbergh ransom negotiator at a camp near Becket, Mass., were the only developments in the case. Search for the kidnapers continued fruitless.

Prosecutor Hauck repeated his statement of yesterday that if an indictment was voted, it would not be handed up until Saturday to Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard. Curtis is expected to be arraigned next Tuesday. He is in jail in default of $10,000 bail.

The prosecutor has said that if an indictment were returned he planned to try the case in June. Pender said he expected it would be later since he had been promised "plenty of time" to prepare his defense.

The telephone message to Condon came this afternoon at the camp of Walter C. Goodwin on Center Lake, where Condon is ostensibly "on a fishing trip."

Previously, the 72-year-old educator has spoken of "going fishing but not in the water," in apparent reference to his search for the "John" to whom he handed $50,000 of Col. Lindbergh's money to ransom the baby then lying dead in the woods 5 miles from the Lindbergh home.

The message came from the store in Becket Center and is said to direct Condon to appear at a specified spot at 6:15 p. m.

"I told you when I first arrived here that I was expecting a message," he said. "This is the message. I can not add anything to this statement."

Pittsfield police inspectors called on Condon today bringing a picture from the Pittsfield rogues gallery to see if he could identify it as "John." He could not.

Norfolk Cleric Explains Plane Trip to Hopewell

Norfolk, Va., May 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, intermediary in the Lindbergh negotiations confessed by John Hughes Curtis to have been faked, said tonight his plane trip to Hopewell, N. J., March 28 was made "for the sole purpose of communicating to Col. Lindbergh the terms of the supposed kidnapers."

The minister in issuing his statement said his action was taken in justice to himself and the public in view of the fact that Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey State police, has taken no steps to accept his offer to meet any accredited representatives of the New Jersey authorities in Norfolk and tell all he knows about the case.

MISSOURIAN NAMED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Dr. William Crowe Elected Moderator at Montreat; Budget Cut Asked.

Montreat, N. C., May 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. William Crowe, D. D., 60-year-old pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Mo., and recognized as a leader of the conservative element of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, was elected moderator of the seventy-second general assembly today.

Dr. Crowe succeeded R. A. Dunn, Charlotte, N. C., layman, and by request of the latter, preached the opening sermon for the assembly this morning, a function ordinarily performed by the retiring moderator.

The St. Louis minister was elected on the second secret ballot, receiving 167 votes against 108 for the Rev. Ernest Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Charleston, W. Va. The Rev. James Layton Mausee, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, Kansas City, Mo., was eliminated on the first ballot. The name of the Rev. J. S. Patton, pastor of Marietta, Ga., First Presbyterian Church, was offered, but he had it withdrawn before the balloting.

In his sermon, the new moderator advised the church to steer clear of prohibition and politics and pleaded for a personal type of evangelism. He deplored what he called the "sawdust trail" type of evangelism and "other monkeyshines" and methods of winning church membership.

The business of the church, Dr. Crowe said, is "to preach the word of God" and not to "promote the addition of any amendment to the Constitution" or "to assume responsibility for defeating any candidate for the Presidency of the United States"

As a step toward carrying out a 20 per cent budget reduction program it recommended, the committee on stewardship and finance proposed the elimination of two promotional committees and transfer of their functions to the committee on religious education and publication, which has headquarters at Richmond, Va.

The two committees which would be abolished are the one dealing with men's work with Atlanta, Ga., as headquarters and the one dealing with country churches with headquarters at Richmond.

Apartment Brings $158,589 at Sale

House at 1909 Nineteenth Street Is Sold to Official of Bank.

A seven-story brick, concrete and tile apartment at 1909 Nineteenth street northwest was sold at auction yesterday to Vice President and Assistant Trust Officer George E. Fleming, Union Trust Co., representing that institution, for $158,589.89. Mr. Fleming was the sole bidder. The building was advertised by the Washington Loan & Trust Co., trustee, and Vernon G. Owen was the auctioneer.

The building, containing 41 apartments, was erected in 1922 by Liberty Realty Co., Inc., M. G. Lepley being the architect. It is 60 feet wide and 35 feet deep, and its original estimated cost was $175,000. Its current assessed valuation is $156,480. Of this, $16,480 is land valuation and $140,000 building.

Other owners of the building have been Charles J. Streeter and Ambrose R. Swan, P. W. M. Colburn, Howe Totten, David A. Baer and Robert O. Scholz, Charles J. Streeter, Ambrose R. Swan and Kathryn L. Moore, Thomas F. Sweeney, Charles J. Streeter and Ambrose R. Swan, John B. Keleher and R. Gordon Van Vranken.

ARMS DELEGATIONS FAIL TO GAIN ACCORD

nations insisted upon retention of underwater craft as necessary to their defense. The report said the United States and Britain held that in time of war the rules outlined to 'humanize" submarine warfare would be disregarded.

Meanwhile, the air commission, meeting for the same purpose as regards air weapons, failed to agree on a definition of airplane horsepower. By a vote of 19 to 18 the commission adopted a Swedish proposal that the question of the "offensive" power of airplanes should be determined by:

1. Their unladen weight.
2. Their horsepower.
3. Their horsepower in ratio to wing surface.

When the commission attempted to define horsepower it was discovered there was no common measurement among the various nations.

One delegate humorously suggested that each country provide a sample of the type of horse used in that particular country.

In the committee considering chemical and germ warfare, the United States alone refused to agree to abolition of tear gases, saying it was essential in the work of police. The American delegates pointed out that the tear gas was used frequently to capture criminals without bloodshed.

All the experts attempted to overcome the American objections, but without success. The committee adopted a report to which the United States attached a reservation concerning tear gas.

Prison League Observes Its 36th Anniversary

The prisoners at Lorton Reformatory held a meeting last night to celebrate the thirty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the Volunteer Prison League. The meeting was conducted by Staff Capt. Arthur E. Wise, who is regional commander of the Volunteers of America.

Capt. Julia Ingram spoke on the work of the league. She described its founding 36 years ago by Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth at Sing Sing Prison. This league was founded to promote the welfare of prisoners and to assist paroled prisoners.

SESSION DISCUSSES UNITY OF CHURCHES

United Presbyterian Group Told Union Would Aid Foreign Missions.

Beaver, Pa., May 26 (A.P.).—Church unity occupied the attention today of the seventy-fourth general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America.

Both sides of the question came in for informal discussion following the report of the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the joint committee on merger with the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

The question is to come up for action Saturday with the report of the committee on bills and overtures.

The Rev. Dr. Charles S. Celand, of Philadelphia, newly elected moderator, ruled the matter be made a special order of business.

Dr. Reid recommended continuance of the committee on union for another year with authority to receive suggestions and to make such changes and revisions as may be found necessary.

The committee would receive memorials from synods and presbyteries until September 1, and the report would then be printed, distributed and held for study.

The vote would be taken in June, 1933, at the meeting of the general assembly in Pittsburgh.

Dr. Reid asserted the union would mean the organization of a new church. Many of the smaller, struggling flocks would be aided, he said, and foreign missions could be organized to better advantage.

The Rev. Dr. R. A. Hutchinson, of Pittsburgh, submitted a report, declaring it fitting that the seventy-fifth anniversary meeting of the assembly be held in Pittsburgh in 1933. The church was formed in Pittsburgh in 1858.

The assembly will meet from June 28 to July 2. Conventions of the Women's Missionary Society and boards and the National Young People's Christian Union will be held jointly with the assembly.

OKLAHOMAN NAMED CHURCH MODERATOR

Dr. C. W. Kerr Elected by Group; National Isolation and Spending Hit.

Denver, May 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Kerr, for more than 33 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tulsa, Okla., was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America at the opening business session of the church's 144th general assembly today.

Dr. Kerr, a member of the general council of the church, succeeds Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, of Philadelphia.

Striking at the "abiding complacency" of the Nation, Dr. Mudge listed evils the church must attack in a sermon opening the assembly.

"Racketeering, bootlegging, drug selling, kidnaping, race discrimination, reckless extravagance in government expenditure and in private life, and the substitution of speculation for hard work as a road to wealth—all these are evident on every side," he said.

Dr. Mudge declared isolation from the rest of the world is "impossible for us practically and wrong for us morally."

The church, he said, should not be satisfied with conditions in this country which menace the American homes.

The five-way contest for the position of moderator was decided on the third ballot.

Dr. Kerr was declared unanimously elected by the retiring moderator after his two closest rivals so moved. He immediately accepted the gavel from Dr. Mudge and will preside over the remaining sessions of the assembly.

Members of the 21 electing sections into which the assembly is divided met tonight to name members to various standing committees. Members of the committees, together with the vice moderator, to be appointed by Dr. Kerr, will be announced Friday.

Mrs. Putnam Aids New Flight Plans

Amy Johnson, of England, Gets Advice on Making Atlantic Hop.

London, May 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, first woman to fly the Atlantic alone, will help Amy Johnson, leading British airwoman, with advice for a transatlantic flight which Miss Johnson hopes to make soon with her flier-fiance, J. M. Mollison.

The three met and had a long chat at the American Embassy today, arranging another meeting for tomorrow, at which the American woman will put her experience at the British couple's disposal. At a reception given by the Royal Aeronautical Society tonight, Mrs. Putnam told some of Britain's foremost aviators details of her flight from Newfoundland to northern Ireland last weekend. Standing in the shadow of the original Wright plane that made the historic flight at Kity Hawk, N. C., on December 17, 1903, she paid tribute to the inspiration that women had supplied to aviation since the days when Katherine Wright aided her pioneer brothers, Wilbur and Orville.

Orville Wright Visits Scene of First Flight

Kitty Hawk, N. C., May 26 (A.P.).—A spot on the North Carolina banks where the airplane was born was revisited today by the man who made the name of Kill Devil Hill known throughout the world of aviation. The man was Orville Wright who, with his brother, Wilbur, flew the first airplane 29 years ago under the lee of Kill Devil Hill after three years of experimentation.

Wright walked over familiar scenes today, paused here and there to recall various incidents that led to the launching of the first successful heavier-than-air craft, and signified pleasure over a memorial now under construction which will honor the Wright brothers and their contribution to the world.

U. S. IS PUSHING PROGRAM TO EXPAND FOREIGN TRADE

sive trade movement has been heightened by the imminence of the British Empire trade conference which will be held in Ottawa in a few weeks. The British government has been making the most strenuous efforts to regain lost British commercial markets as well as to acquire new ones.

The British market in Argentina has been developed by American business houses to a remarkable extent. The trend away from the British exporter even in spite of restrictive sanitary measures arbitrarily imposed by the American Department of Agriculture on all sorts of Argentine products from beef to flax seed, aroused British public opinion to such an extent that the Prince of Wales was drafted by the London Board of Trade to lead an Empire Trade Exhibition in Buenos Aires last year.

The result of the prince's personal appearance revived to a certain extent the favorable balance of British trade with the Argentine, but the advantage was only temporary. The more highly developed American selling methods again are coming to the fore and are causing more apprehension in British trade circles.

Action Due at Conference.

The imperial conference in Ottawa is expected to take some decisive measures to insure the permanency of British markets abroad. However, the American business man has also to contend with the foreign trade of France, Germany, Japan and other countries.

The new plan was originally tried out in the commercial sphere of the British Isles in early 1930. It was so successful there that the President decided it should be developed to include Germany and France. Its successful operation there evidently decided the future of the measure for its adoption for 37 important commercial centers all over the world was immediately put into activity.

Considerable anxiety had attended the fate of the plan after Herbert Hoover went from the Department of Commerce into the White House. On the one hand it was feared that he would suppress entirely the role of the State Department and concentrate all foreign trade development in the Department of Commerce. Reciprocal fears were expressed in the Department of Commerce.

New Features Added.

The President, however, has wisely decided to maintain the good features of both departments in international trade and has added certain new features to prevent overlapping and to create more efficient administration.

Already an increase of from 25 per cent to 35 per cent in the quality and quantity of work has been reported from the supervising agencies in both departments. Possible errors of reduplication have been reduced to a minimum if not entirely eradicated, and the American exporter has been saved thousands of dollars in trade promotion which will be henceforward handled by Government agencies especially trained and qualified.

The text of the agreement was made public yesterday and contains very elaborate provisions for the administration of the plan. The offices which will benefit by the new arrangement include Zurich, Amsterdam, Paris, Prague, Santiago, Chile; Stockholm, Tokyo, Vienna, Wellington, New Zealand; Copenhagen, Istanbul, Turkey; Berlin, Havana, Cuba; Oslo, Norway; Naples, Lisbon, Mexico, Guatemala, Batavia, Java, Athens, Bangkok, London, Singapore, Riga and Montevideo.

FARM RELIEF VOTE THIS SESSION URGED

Senate Leaders Seek Action as Committee Criticizes Marketing Act.

(Associated Press.)

An agreement to vote on farm relief before the session ends was sought yesterday by leaders of the Senate while its agriculture committee declared the marketing act now in force has failed to accomplish desired aims.

Senator Nye (Republican), N. Dak., brought the question of assisting agriculture to the fore again with a request for unanimous consent to consider farm legislation after the tax bill is disposed of.

This he withdrew to await the outcome of negotiations for an agreement to vote on the bill of Senator McNary (Republican), Oreg., proposing the equalization fee, export debentures and a domestic allotment plan to insure production cost prices on crops America needs.

McNary, chairman of the agriculture committee, indicated an agreement probably would be reached for a vote on his bill.

Nye announced unless a program was agreed to he would demand a vote before adjournment on that measure and the proposal of Senator Frazier (Republican), North Dakota, to refinance at 1½ per cent interest, all farm debts.

The agriculture committee, reporting on the McNary bill, which is advocated by the National Grange, National Farmers' Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation, recommended that it be adopted, contending present conditions "make it advisable" to amend the existing marketing act under which the Farm Board operates.

The marketing act, the report said, had not been as "effective as is to be desired" in dealing with the question of surpluses. The three plans the bill proposes could be used separately or combined to provide relief.

Doctor and Girl Hurt in Train Fall

Plunge at Glencoe May Be Fatal to Dr. Masood and Secretary.

Baltimore, May 26 (A.P.).—A man and a woman, tentatively identified as Dr. Nasseb Masood and Dorothy Cassel, either fell or leaped from a speeding Pennsylvania passenger train at Glencoe, several miles north of Baltimore today, and were critically injured.

The couple, the man, about 35, and the girl, about 20, boarded the train in Washington, after purchasing tickets to Huntingdon, Pa., and took seats in the last coach. As the train neared Glencoe, they stepped to the rear platform and disappeared over the tail gate. A southbound train was halted, and brought the injured couple to Baltimore, where they were taken to St. Joseph's hospital. Physicians gave them little chance for recovery.

Altoona, Pa., May 26 (A.P.).—Dr. Nasseb Masood is widely known throughout this district as an optometrist.

A series of wounds he received in the World War had caused deafness, associates said tonight, and Dr. Masood and Miss Dorothy Cassell, his secretary, left Altoona for Washington in February in an effort to seek increased compensation for his war services.

Dr. Masood posed for the Fifth Liberty loan poster drawn by Orland Rowland, depicting a wounded soldier appealing from a wheel chair.

Appalachian Trail Club To Climb Spruce Knob

Spruce Knob and Seneca Rocks, in the Monongahela National Forest in Pendleton County, W. Va., are the destinations of the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club over the week-end. Members of the club will go by bus to Franklin, W. Va., tomorrow, climb Spruce Knob on Sunday and visit Seneca Rocks on Monday, returning to Washington Monday evening.

Spruce Knob is the dominating physiographic feature of the whole region, standing 4,860 feet above sea level, one of the highest points in the Appalachian system between New England and North Carolina.

Swanson Criticizes Foreign Marriages

Patriotic Women Wed at Home, He Says; Rejects World Court Plea.

Geneva, May 26 (U.P.).—Senator Claude Swanson sharply criticized "international marriages" today in rejecting the plea of a delegation of American women who asked him to use his influence to make the United States' entry into the World Court contingent on equal nationality for women who marry foreigners.

"It is your own fault for marrying foreigners," Senator Swanson told the women, in discussing their plea. He said the patriotic people of all countries were suspicious of such marriages, and in war time the women usually are considered to be spies.

The women were headed by Mrs. Lillian Van Matsch, of Washington; Mrs. Lola Maverick, of Winnetka, Ill.; Mrs. Reigh Utley and Mrs. Emma James, of Chicago; Miss Helena Dudley and Miss Dora Williams, of Boston.

IS REELECTED

HOWARD W. BERRY.

Secretary Hurley Will Be Speaker

Cabinet Member to Address Law School on Memorial Day.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will make the principal address at the Memorial Day exercises at Georgetown University School of Law, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, in honor of 29 of its students who gave their lives during the World War.

In addition to Secretary Hurley, other speakers at the exercises will include Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, past department commander of the American Legion; Dean George E. Hamilton, of the law school; the Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S. J., regent of the school. William M. Funck, president of the senior class, will preside.

A committee of students will place a wreath on the memorial tablet erected to the war dead in the school library, and Mr. Funck will read the roll of honor. There also will be addresses on behalf of the senior class by Ward Elgin Lattin and Martin Vincent Callagy.

Member of Byrd Group Tells of Trip Tonight

Lieut. Charles E. Lofgren, of Washington, who accompanied Commander Richard E. Byrd to the South Pole, will tell of his experiences "With Byrd at Little America" tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Willard Hotel. The public is invited.

The lecture, to be illustrated with five reels of specially selected motion picture films, will be followed by a dance. Guests of honor include William C. Haines, of the United States Weather Bureau, and Lloyd Grenlie, radio engineer, Washington men who accompanied the expedition to the Antarctic.

Central High Youth Wins Gorgas Prize

Henry S. Fuller Is Now Eligible to Compete in U. S. Contest.

Henry Shephard Fuller, a senior at Central High School, was awarded first honors for the District in the Fourth Annual Gorgas Memorial Essay Contest, it was announced yesterday. He received a cash award of $10 and is now eligible to compete in the National contest for the $500 Doherty prize.

The essay contest is conducted each year under the auspices of the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Washington. Admiral Cary T. Grayson is president of the institute.

The subject of the essays submitted must deal with some phase of health and sanitation. The nation-wide contest this year was on the subject of "Mosquitoes, Their Danger as a Menace to Health and the Importance of Their Control."

Brown Wills to Widow His $52,739 Estate

Mrs. Emma L. Brown, widow of George N. Brown, who died May 1, was named as the sole beneficiary of her husband's $52,739.50 estate, it was disclosed in the District Supreme Court yesterday when she filed a petition for probate of the will. Mrs. Brown, who lives at 5303 Forty-first street northwest, is named as executrix.

Besides his wife, there are two sons surviving Mr. Brown. They are Andrew H. Brown, of Lakewood, Ohio, and Francis Brown, of this city.

BERRY AGAIN CHOSEN AD CLUB PRESIDENT

Reelected at Luncheon of Capital Organization; Others Selected.

Howard W. Berry, of Lansburgh's Department Store, was elected president of the Advertising Club to succeed himself at a luncheon yesterday at the Raleigh Hotel.

Walter Barkdull was elected to the post of first vice president, and William T. Pierson, of Station WMAL, succeeded himself as second vice president.

W. N. Freeman, manager of Shopping News, was elected treasurer. Allen V. DeFord was reelected to another term of three years as a member of the board of governors. J. O. Martin, of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., a former president of the club, was also elected a director.

Nelson P. Poynter, business manager of the News, and G. H. Robertson, of the Sanitary Grocery Co., were tied for the other directorship voted on at the elections.

Amos Parrish, famous style analyst and business doctor, was the speaker of the day.

"Success in business can only come from giving satisfaction," Mr. Parrish said.

"The consuming public is more intelligent than ever before and so the advertiser must have a brass tack message with a straight-from-the-shoulder appeal that carries the truth," Mr. Parrish said.

Announcement of the result of the annual election was made at the close of the meeting by Norman Bull, chairman of tellers, who presented each elected officer to the meeting.

Police Gazette Sold; Publication to Go On

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—The physical property, good will and subscription list of the Police Gazette, 65-year-old sporting publication which recently went into bankruptcy, were sold today for $545.

The purchaser was David M. Schwartz, an attorney, acting for a client whose identity was not disclosed. Schwartz said the magazine would be published by the new owner.

Essay Test Victor Soon to Be Named

Bicentennial Medal Will Be Awarded by Nation-wide Contest.

The national winner of the George Washington Bicentennial essay contest will be announced soon and will receive the official United States George Washington Bicentennial Commemorative Gold Medal as a reward.

Thirty-four States and the Territory of Hawaii have competed in this contest, each State having a special contest committee to cooperate with the Federal Bicentennial Commission. These committees conducted contests in their respective States and each submitted the winning essay to the United States Commission here. From these essays a group of judges, composed of well-known American educators, will select the national winner.

Eight subjects were named by the United States Commission from which the students of high schools might choose the one they wished to discuss. Every topic is represented in the prize-winning essays from which the national winner is to be selected.

Society Will Hear Missions Official

Presbyterian Group Plans Spring Meeting Here Next Week.

Edward Odell, of the Board of National Missions, New York City, and director of Presbyterian work in the West Indies, will give an address at the spring meeting of the Washington City Presbyterial Society Friday morning, June 3, at 10:30 o'clock, in the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. William R. Rhoades, president of the society, will preside and reports of committees will be heard. An important conference of local presidents will be held in the afternoon.

A memorial service for Mrs. Harvey S. Irwin, for twelve years president of the Presbyterial Society, will be led by Mrs. Mabel Miller. The closing devotional services will be led by Miss Mabel N. Thurston.

NORTH DAKOTA GETS SEVEN-INCH SNOW

Temperatures Near Freezing in Adjoining States; Farmers Rejoice.

St. Paul, Minn., May 26 (A.P.).—A final touch of winter was welcomed in the Dakotas and adjoining States today.

There was a 7-inch snow in central North Dakota. Soaking rains were general over the upper Missouri River Valley. Heavy hail was reported from northern Nebraska. Temperatures were near the freezing point. There was a snowstorm in southeastern Wyoming.

Farmers rejoiced at the prospect that cold, wet weather would kill new-hatched grasshoppers and lessen the threat of extensive crop damage later.

Government meteorologists expected rain or snow in parts of North Dakota and Minnesota tonight and predicted the cold would last another day or so. Frost or freezing temperatures in North Dakota tonight will be followed tomorrow by slightly warmer weather, forecasts said.

The weather was described as "ideal for the farmer" by Federal entomologists, who have directed efforts to prevent a recurrence of last summer's grasshopper damage. Moisture at low temperatures is fatal to the insects, which have been hatching in large numbers.

In Nebraska, where three persons were killed in a tornado at Trenton last night, a 9-inch rain and an 8-inch hail were unofficially reported. Fifteen families were rescued from flood waters near Bristow and there was minor damage to highways and rail lines.

A short cold snap in late May is not extraordinary, weather experts said. They explained that an area of high pressure over Manitoba is sending cold weather down over the prairies.

B. & O. Arranges For Refinancing

$8,000,000 of Maturing Notes Are Paid Off by Railroad.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., which yesterday paid off $8,000,000 of maturing notes, has completed all arrangements for refinancing $35,000,000 of notes maturing on August 10, it was announced today.

The railroad, which recently received a loan of $25,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, stated that it would not require any further assistance in completing its refinancing, which involved a total of $43,000,000.

The arrangement was worked out by a banking group consisting of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Speyer & Co. and the National City Co., none of whom, it was announced, made any charge for their services.

Of the $43,000,000 original total, $8,000,000 of the notes paid yesterday came from proceeds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan. The balance of $17,500,000 of this loan will be applied as a cash payment on August 10, note maturity of the railroad. The remaining $17,500,000 of notes due will be met through the issuance by the road of that amount of two-year 6 per cent secured notes, due August 10, 1934. Present noteholders, mainly banks, have already agreed to the plan.

Capone Again Asks Review of His Case

Petition for Rehearing Is Filed Before Supreme Court by Attorney.

(Associated Press.)

"Scarface Al" Capone, the Chicago gangster, now serving ten years in the Atlanta Penitentiary for evading Federal income taxes, yesterday asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its refusal of May 2 to review his case.

Through his counsel, Michael J. Ahern, he filed a petition for rehearing, advancing several grounds for urging the court to set aside his conviction.

Ahern's petition said the court in refusing to review the conviction apparently had overlooked the contention that the indictment should have been thrown out as defective.

The recent action of the Supreme Court in setting aside an indictment returned in Massachusetts for tax evasion more than three years after the alleged offense was pointed to by Ahern in insisting that similar treatment should be extended his client.

JAPAN'S COALITION MINISTRY SWORN IN

Saito Cabinet Retains Araki as War Chief; Manchuria Policy to Continue.

Tokyo, May 26 (A.P.).—Japan's new national coalition cabinet, headed by Premier Makato Saito, admiral, of liberal nonpartisan views, was inducted into office today to pursue the nation's established military and financial policies.

Gen. Sadao Araki, militarist director of the Manchurian operations, was retained as minister of war in a last-minute realignment. This retention insured relentless prosecution of the "pacification" campaign against the Chinese in Manchuria who are opposed to the Japanese-supported regime there of Henry Pu-Yi.

Measures for closer economic relations between Japan and Manchuria, with the Japanese army dominating the Pu-Yi government, are among the policies to be pushed ahead by the new government, which is committed to strong nationalism in its foreign policy.

Japan's foreign office was taken over by Premier Saito until he could include one of the empire's senior diplomats to become foreign minister.

Assurance of full parliamentary support by the leaders of the Seiyukai (majority) and Minseito (principal minority) parties through inclusion of members from each in the cabinet was looked upon by them as a setback for the reactionary elements loosely called Fascists, which had clamored for the abandonment of parliamentary forms.

Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto resigned today as director of military education, accepting responsibility for the actions May 15 of army cadets who assassinated the premier, Suyoshi Inukai, in an outburst of terrorism.

He was appointed to the supreme war council and replaced as director of military education by Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, former commander of the Korean garrison. Gen. Hayashi was succeeded in Korea by Lieut. Gen. Yoshimoto Kawashima.

EDUCATION IN PLACE OF SOUP ADVOCATED

Junior League Expert Hits Pennywise, Pound Foolish Welfare Work.

Los Angeles, May 26 (A.P.).—Near-sighted welfare directors who pour thousands of dollars into soup kitchens in times of economic distress but withhold appropriations for a competent staff of trained social workers felt the jab of an expert's advice at the Association of Junior Leagues of America conference today.

The expert, Dorothy Stebbins, of New York, field secretary for the welfare division of the association, said the fundamental basis of the league's commission was the educating of the laymen to act intelligently in world crises.

She informed the 250 delegates from 122 Junior Leagues in America attending the twelfth annual conference of the association, that intelligence was the supreme need in welfare work.

Meanwhile, convention politics claimed a renewed interest among the delegates, with office elections only a day off.

Preliminary canvassing indicated Mrs. John G. Pratt, of New Orleans, would be a popular choice to succed Mrs. Roger S. Sperry, of Waterbury, Conn., as president. Delegates generally believed she would be unopposed.

The delegates heard two regional directors during the day, Mrs. C. Louis Meyer, of Omaha, Nebr., and Mrs. John Giles Mohler, of Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Meyer warned against the connection of the league name with high-pressure advertising and outlined the dangers of commercial alliances. She said she feared leagues would suffer a loss in prestige through the mention of members' names in testimonials for "soap, ice boxes and household apliances."

Remarking that "we can not supervise our membership closely enough," Mrs. Mohler urged caution in expansion of league chapters.

She called upon the convention to confine the membership to reputable and outstanding personalities and warned against the inclusion of "overnight millionaires."

Admission Is Cut By Opera Company

Prices Are Slashed to Attract Greater Crowd to Current Offering.

In an effort to attract an increase in attendance, the Washington Civic Opera Company now producing "The Yeomen of the Guard" at McKinley Auditorium, Second and T streets northeast, announced yesterday that a special admittance offer will be made to those attending tomorrow's performances.

The company declared that a heavy loss had been suffered during the past week and in order to fulfill its financial obligations it was decided to make a special offer for general admission to both tomorrow afternoon and night showings. An amount of 50 cents for the night performance and 25 cents for the matinee will be charged.

The lack of attendance forced the company to eliminate the orchestra. Miss Estelle Wentworth, prominent in Washington musical circles, has agreed to conduct the production during the rest of the week.

NEW HOPE FOR EUROPE.

New hope that the international problems that have kept Europe in a state of economic paralysis for two years may be worked out on a broad foundation of compromise is beginning to trickle out from European capitals. The most encouraging evidence of this is a recent editorial in the London Times, expressing the view that America means business in refusing to grant further concessions to Europe and that nothing can be expected from this country until and unless European states take aggressive steps toward the solution of their own difficulties. Whether or not The Times editorial was inspired by British government officials, it expresses precisely the stand of the American public.

European statesmen have cherished the hope that the Hoover moratorium would be extended because of the natural benevolence of the American people. Consequently, they have done little or nothing to improve economic conditions in their own countries. The attitude has been one of "let Uncle Sam do it". Only during recent months have they come to realize that no further concessions would be forthcoming from this side of the Atlantic. Now Great Britain apparently has awakened to the necessity of Europe taking its problems into its own hands. There is some evidence, too, that France is coming to the same conclusion.

Two achievements are imperative before the debtor nations of Europe can even approach the United States with petitions for temporary relief. The first is a settlement of reparations, and the second reduction of armaments. The London Times discusses the necessity of action on both these objectives as a prerequisite to negotiation on war debts. Europe is wasting its breath in clamoring for any change in the status of the war debts until each country has taken all practical steps to put its own house in order.

The outcropping of this sentiment in London leads to hope that the reparations conference at Lausanne in June may achieve some degree of success. Germany has declared that she can pay no more reparations, but when her delegates arrive at Lausanne the French will have some very persuasive arguments to present. Germany can and must pay in accordance with her capacity. A settlement that eases the burden upon Germany seems to be imperative to economic recovery in Europe. Consequently, great pressure will be brought to bear upon all the governments represented at Lausanne to reach a workable agreement.

At present the disarmament conference is in deadlock at Geneva because of the arbitrary attitude of France. But there are some indications that the new French government, under the premiership of Edouard Herriot, will modify this position. The Socialists have refused to join any group in the formation of a cabinet without a pledge of drastic reductions in the amount spent for armaments. Since the election a powerful movement in favor of economy in this direction has been initiated.

If these two movements succeed, Europe may take new hope. The economic burdens that now result in stagnation would be substantially lightened. Furthermore, the attitude of the American people would certainly be softened. Uncle Sam is not disposed to drive any nation to the wall because of debts. All of the war and restoration debts were settled on the basis of the debtor nation's capacity to pay. About 50 per cent of what was due was cancelled on that theory.

So long as Europe pours hundreds of millions of dollars into armaments, it will be absurd to expect any concessions on the debts of the late war, as their capacity to pay will have been demonstrated. The United States has not the slightest intention of reducing the debt so that Europe may be assisted in financing these powerful military establishments. If that idea has sunk into the minds of European statesmen, much has been accomplished. When they begin to take a realistic view of the situation, it should not be difficult for them to see the inconsistency of asking favors at Washington before they remove the obstacles which they now maintain in the way of economic recovery.

Europe has its fate in its own hands. The American people will not assume its burdens. Nor will they exact more than Europe can pay. The next steps are up to the debtors. If they go forward in a cooperative spirit, they may anticipate a similar attitude in this country toward the problem of international debts.

THE PHILIPPINE FARCE.

Philippine independence has been dragged forth from its pigeon-hole and listed among the issues that the Senate will attempt to dispose of before the weary public may expect an adjournment. Senator Borah brought the question to the Senate's attention, with a very frank explanation that "we can render a real service to American agriculture" by cutting the Philippines loose from the United States. Almost nothing was said about the welfare and future status of the islands, but a number of senators joined in the conclusion that Philippine independence would be a great thing for farmers in this country.

Disposition of the Philippines is a grave problem of national policy and should be considered as such in the Senate. But Senator Hawes, who has a bill for independence of the islands pending in the committee on insular affairs, proposes to lay the whole problem before the Senate in half an hour. If a similar period is granted to a few other senators interested in the question (principally from the standpoint of agricultural relief) he thinks the Senate will be ready to vote almost unanimously to haul down the American flag at Manila.

The House disposed of the Philippine independence issue in about 40 minutes, voting overwhelmingly to sever the tie after a brief period of probation. Few "achievements" of the House at this session have been more severely criticized. Now it is proposed that the Senate virtually duplicate that performance after its members have been completely worn out by prolonged consideration of the tax, economy and relief bills. No more inappropriate time for consideration of this grave question could possibly have been chosen.

Insurmountable argument may be marshaled against any independence bill that might be brought forward at this time. Conditions in the Far East are about as unsettled as they could be short of open war. The Philippines have been struck by the world-wide depression and are not in an economic position to undertake the responsibilities of nationhood. It is wholly unfair to the islands to launch the experiment which is to determine their capacity and desire for separate existence under such circumstances. To eject the islands from the protection of the American flag under present conditions, for the sole benefit of a few American farmers, would be utterly inexcusable.

ON THE AGGRESSIVE.

The Shell Oil Company of California, announcing a new $500,000 advertising campaign, makes this interesting and timely statement:

"In some quarters we were told that a depression was no time to undertake the huge expenditures for equipment, operating and advertising which are essential successfully to launch new products. We were told to be content, to plod along with the products we had, and to hope that at some time the depression would end. We believe the continuance of the depression is due more to that mental attitude than to any other one thing, and we most emphatically and definitely refuse to allow ourselves to be influenced by such talk.

"We believe that the only way to regain prosperity, whether it be in the case of the individual or the corporation, is to deserve it, and that means confidence, vigorous work and co-operation. We are launching our program because we believe that its success will help not only ourselves but industry generally on the Coast. If our lead be followed in the same spirit, we think we need have no further anxiety about the termination of the depression."

The sanity of these sentiments makes them worthy of wide repetition. As a man thinketh, so shall he be; as business men think, so shall business be. Timidity and hesitation serve no purpose but to confirm prevailing conditions. There can be no progress until business people as a class recover from the psychological bankruptcy from which they have suffered during the past two years. The will, the determination to escape, is the first requisite to emergence from the Slough of Despond. An aggressive policy is necessary on the part of business as an institution. Patience and fireless waiting are not virtues in the present crisis.

STOP THE STEAGALL BILL.

Democratic leaders in the House plan to give the depression another boost today by passing the Steagall bill to guarantee bank deposits. The measure has been under debate for two days with indications that a vote will be taken this afternoon. If the bill passes it will become a companion measure with the Goldsborough nostrum for fixing prices at the 1926 level. Together they will do herculean service in destroying the faith of the people in the common sense of Congress.

The central purpose of the Steagall bill is to force stronger banks to assume the liabilities of the weak ones. Banks would be arbitrarily assessed each year for that purpose. In view of the stringent circumstances in which many banks now find themselves some of them would be put out of business by these assessments. The constant drain upon responsible banks to support institutions that fritter away their assets through careless policies and poor business methods would tend to weaken the entire system.

The foundation on which this measure is based is wrong. The Government ought not to guarantee private institutions, or to force other private institutions to do so. If bank depositors are to be guaranteed against loss, why should not other investors be given similar support? It is obvious to see where such a policy would lead. Some of the States have experimented with the same proposition with disastrous results. This is no time for Congress to embark upon such a wild goose chase.

Like the Goldsborough bill, the Steagall measure is nothing more than a pious wish to do something to influence people to put their money back into the banks. Expediency and not sound banking policy influenced the House banking and currency committee to report this measure favorably. Certainly the House should put a curb upon such adventures. Another futile gesture can only add to the reputation which the House has already acquired for hasty and unwise action.

PHILIPPINE BILL

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

Senate leaders seem determined to vote on the Hawes-Cutting bill, postponing Philippine independence for 19 years, or it may be 21 years. After disposing of the tax-tariff bill, appropriations and other controversial measurps the Senate hopes to find surcease and relief by discussing the vexatious question of Philippine independence. The Congress may sit in session well into the summer months.

An adequate consideration of the Philippine question should last the greater part of a week. The House produced a bill after an oratorical skirmish of 40 minutes. The almost universal condemnation of the bill by the American press may stay the Senate from precipitate action. The spectacle of the House devoting three hours to change "Porto" to "Puerto" Rico and only 40 minutes to the fate of 13,000,000 Filipinos may not be reenacted in the Senate.

The farm organizations are against the Hawes-Cutting bill and are resolved to fight for postponement of action until next year when they hope to push through an immediate independence measure, figuring that the results of the coming elections will assure certain enactment of such measure. They are determined to keep out Philippine products from the United States on a tariff-free basis.

These organizations maintain that the Hawes-Cutting bill is not an independence measure at all. They contend that the provision authorizing the Filipinos to determine in a plebiscite in fifteen years whether or not they want complete independence is a subterfuge to kill independence. When the Filipinos, they say, feel the pinch of losing the American market they will be apt to vote against separation from America.

Filipinos who are for early and speedy independence will oppose the Hawes-Cutting bill. If they don't, they will be barred forever from claiming that they are for that kind of independence. If the bill will end political agitation in the islands, as its proponents believe, it will intensify the agitation in the United States in favor of immediate independence.

The writer can say that the Hawes-Cutting bill is nearer to his ideal than it is to the ideal of the Filipino nationalists, and yet he is not as enthusiastic for it as are those nationalists, for he prefers immediate independence to a measure that cripples the Filipino people for the work of preparing for that kind of independence that is reasonably enduring and endurable.

The discussion of the bill will bring up the constitutional question whether Congress has the right to grant complete independence at all on the theory that such a grant means alienating American sovereignty and American property. The point will take much time to dispose of, for certain Senators have very definite ideas on the subject.

Secretary of State Stimson has pointed out the grave international consequences of creating a new nation in the Orient especially in view of the prevailing conditions. The strategic aspect of the question will surely receive consideration. So will the treaties and their bearing on the international alignment in the Orient. These matters will encompass the entire American policy and position in the Pacific and will undoubtedly provoke a protracted debate.

Then the American manufacturers will be heard from, having had no opportunity to present their views at the congressional hearings. They would want to know why their market in the Philippines would be sacrificed for the theoretical benefit of the American farmers. They will assert that if the Philippines can not sell to America they can not buy American goods.

The claim that certain Philippine products compete with American products will be contested on every conceivable ground. It is clear that many members of Congress proceed on the theory that competition does exist and that it is serious. To them a persistent appeal will be made that they endow the subject with more analytical thought to obviate an injustice being done to the Filipinos and Americans alike.

Then the Cuban part in Philippine independence will be aired. For their economic sin of willful overproduction the Cuban interests want to penalize the Philippines by depriving Philippine sugar of free entry to the United States.

Most assuredly if the Philippine question is given the consideration that it deserves its discussion will be long and bitter. Then to harmonize the Senate and the House bills in conference would be a tremendous task. The result may be a pocket veto by the President.

POST HASTE.

Congressional vaudeville was considerably peeved yesterday at being out-headlined by New York's burlesque.

A swindle is charged in the sale of $60,000,000 of gold in a chest, yet a chest that would hold 100 tons might be quite valuable.

The Senate seems determined to prove that in matters of taxation and budget-balancing it is just as mercurial as the House.

Words begin to fail the Nation for adequate expression of its outraged feelings over congressional racketeering that has waylaid legislation and blackjacked business revival.

However, as a result of the big meeting of newspaper publishers with the President, it is rumored that some guarded suggestions may appear in the public prints intimating to congressmen the possibility that passage of revenue and economy measures might be just as useful as discussions of beer and bonus.

Can we believe our ears that Senator Borah, champion of the oppressed and downtrodden of all the world, advocated Philippine independence "as an aid to the American farmer?"

Congress isn't having any trouble to be nonpartisan on negative measures that have no chance of becoming laws. How about applying some of the same to constructive and vital bills pending these many moons?

The American vice president of the Bank of International Settlements, returning from Basel, says that European statesmen and bankers "stand baffled and nonplussed at our way of doing things, seeing in the failure of Congress to balance the budget an indictment of our form of government."

Europeans have no advantage over the home view. If distance lends no enchantment, neither does it offer any better perspective in the case of Congress. The average American simply can not understand why congressmen do not realize that 1 per cent tax more or less here or there is not important; it is the uncertainty that is devastating.

Cross-word puzzle: Can't an earnest advocate of temperance support the right of Americans to express themselves on the dry issue without being classed as a wet?

At least something must be done in time to prevent the bonus veterans soaping legislative tracks—there's too much slipping now.

HE SAVES HIS VOICE.

Premier Mussolini, says Time, is his own minister of interior. Italians are now reading the latest biography of Il Duce (the thirtieth within six years), written by his undersecretary of interior, Giuseppe Cavaciocchi. Signor Cavaciocchi feels he knows, from daily contact, exactly how the Great Man works.

"It is marvelous," declares Cavaciocchi, "to see how the most precise valuation of time and the most scrupulous system in program govern the intensely laborious days of our Duce. He talks little, often indicating to his associates what he wants done by a single word, a wave of the hand or a roll of the eyes.

"He has reduced to an absolute minimum the use of his voice," impressively concluded Cavaciocchi. "More often he uses his eyes. And any one who stands before him must know how to read those eyes."

In Order to Enjoy a Cross-Word Puzzle, You Must First Learn to Spell

By ROBERT QUILLEN

BOREDOM is commonly regarded as an affliction, yet the ordinary person finds it useful as fodder for his vanity.

When he confesses that certain people bore him to tears, he is making a boast. He thinks his boredom proof of superiority, and his confession says in effect: "These people tire me because they are not as witty or intelligent as I."

But he is fooling himself.

With few exceptions, we are bored only by people of our own class.

The faults that annoy us most are the faults of our own kind, as the wrongs that enrage us most are the wrongs endured by those we regard as equals.

Where two races live together, those who hate and scorn and persecute the inferior race are the people nearest to its level.

So in this matter of boredom, we ignore the tiresome performance of one who is beneath us and find secret satisfaction in the asininity of a superior, but our minds sicken with resentment and shame and a consciousness of tribal disgrace when one of our own kind and class reveals the nakedness of his wearisome stupidity.

But boredom is something more than a confession of brotherhood with the bore. It is also an explanation of the brotherhood.

The person most easily bored is not the one who understands most but the one who sees least to understand—the one who lacks discernment and scientific curiosity.

Left alone in the midst of rare fossils, the child is bored for want of a doll and the flapper for want of a boy friend; but the scientist, knowing the value of fossils, rejoices in the discovery of a storehouse of knowledge.

There is nothing anywhere to bore the superior mind.

The egoist who makes an endless tale of his trivial exploits may bore his resentful kindred, whose minds are entrapped by his drivel, but a scientist in the company can disregard the flood of speech and examine the speaker as eagerly as he would a rare bug on a pin.

Beethoven's music bores an Oriental because his untrained ear hears nothing but noise.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Our Days of Labor.

Daily Oklahoman.

The average American who became a voter in 1914 had to work 25 days that year to pay his taxes. Ten years later, he had to work 46 days to pay his taxes. In 1931, he had to work 61 days to pay his taxes. In just 17 years, his days of labor for tax-paying purposes increased from 25 to 61. And yet the Congress of the United States has shown that after more than five months of furious discussion it is unable or unwilling to reduce the enforced labor of the taxpayer by one minute.

Darrow's Decision.

Topeka Capital.

It would be expected that Clarence Darrow would be contrary, or at least individualistic, in his opinions on any moot subject, and so he is on prohibition. He is wet and believes in the individual, in personal liberty, or somthing not easily distinguished from anarchy. Yet he says, "Let the eighteenth amendment alone; there is no use in fighting it." According to Darrow there is not a chance that all but 13 State Legislatures will vote for repeal.

But, for that matter, neither is there a chance that Congress will vote for repeal or submit repeal to the Legislatures.

Sword of Damocles.

Los Angeles Times.

The assurance of congressional leaders that the bonus bill, various other inflation proposals and a vast burden of spending for useless and wasteful public works have no chance of passage are not being taken by the country at their face value. They can not be taken at their face value because the congressional leaders are not always able to lead. As long as Congress remains in session, the country feels that the national credit is in danger, and that is not a comfortable feeling.

Time to Organize.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is clear that to avoid disaster the cost of government must be reduced in keeping with the reduction in the national income and the shrinkage in value of all classes of property. Most of us have been talking about and advocating such a reduction. The time for talk is past. It is time to organize and, in this election year, to put the pressure of organization on every candidate, local, State or national.

The outlines of such an organization should not be hard to arrive at. Commercial trade and civic organizations in this city and other centers should rally together behind a program. Statewide and nationwide organizations should follow suit. Let us have for once a majority organization of taxpayers to repeal the assaults upon the public treasury of the self-seeking minorities.

Hard Lessons.

Kansas City Star.

The country has learned some painful lessons in the last few years. It has tried various corrective experiments and has discovered that some of them will not work. It is ready to go after evils as rapidly as practical and effective remedies can be found. But it always has been far easier to describe an ideal social order than to devise the means to attain it.

The Fergusons Again.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The opening of "Ma" Ferguson's campaign for governor is a reminder of Texas' continuing political affliction. When "ma" was elected governor in place of her husband, removed for misconduct in office, she declared that his vindication was complete. "Pa," disqualified from serving, held the governorship in his wife's name. When she was defeated by Dan Moody for reelection, in a joint statement signed "Pa and Ma," the Fergusons said that they would never run again. But now they are back in the ring with the offer, as the Texas Weekly puts it, of "two governors for the price of one." For "Jim" frankly states that this is to be another family affair.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Approves Legion Drive Against Depression—Succeeds in Finding Jobs and Now Tackles "Buyers' Week."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The American Legion seems to have been very successful in its job-finding campaign. The campaign is still going on, and it seems quite apparent that, before it closes, the Legion will have obtained its goal, which was to find 1,000,000 jobs for that number of men.

The first campaign has been so fruitful that the Legion has now decided to have a national buyers' week from June 27 to July 2. Cooperating with the Legion in this new drive are some of the organizations which rendered valuable service in the drive to find jobs for the 1,000,000 men. These organizations include the American Federation of Labor, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Manufacturers' Association, besides many trade and civic organizations.

This latest drive, if it succeeds, and I have every reason to believe that it will prove successful, will mean an increase in business. When business starts on the upgrade it will mean that there will be more employment for people in the factories and stores, and then there will be an increase of employment in other lines of business. In other words, when business starts to pick up in a noticeable fashion, we soon will have Old Man Depression on the run

KENWORTHY ANDREWS.

People Supinely Submit to Crime and Actually Provide Opportunities for Criminals.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The American public lacks a normal spine. We are taking the murder of the Lindbergh baby, as the boys say, "lying down." There is no such popular indignation as there ought to be in the circumstances. The vicious phrase, "What are you going to do about it?" is heard on every hand. The crime, it seems, is to be passed over as a mere accident. What a pathetic commentary on the manhood and the womanhood of the American people!

Let no one blame the press for the collapse of American morale. The newspapers have done their part to preserve it. The whole situation serves to give another proof that the people are sunk in laziness and selfishness. They do not want leaders to show them the way out of their troubles. They smply do not care.

It is not that they are unintelligent. That would be sad, but the spectacle of their atrophied emotions, their dead hearts, is far more pitiful.

Crime requires opportunity. We provide it. It is for this reason that the United States is paying tribute to the gangster and the hoodlum today. Our social lethargy gives the racketeers their chance. Our indolence protects them. Crime prospers because we supinely submit to it.

I, for one, am ashamed. If the murder of a helpless and innocent baby can not stir us to effective indignation, we are hopeless, and God will hate and curse us.

THOMAS RENFREW LONG.

Old New England Law Against Kidnaping Should Be Adopted Now.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The newspapers, police departments, chambers of commerce, &c., are urging State and national governments to enact more laws covering kidnaping.

I believe the problem will be readily solved if, instead of wasting a lot of time on new laws, our officials would dig out the old ones, dust them off and enforce them.

Those below were enacted in 1655 jointly by a convention of delegates from the colonies of New Haven (later Connecticut) and Massachusetts, and were part of the first official code in this country, later adopted into our Federal law after the Revolutionary War:

"If any man steals a man or mankind, that person shall be put to death.

"If any person conspires and attempts any invasion against this jurisdiction, he shall be put to death.

"If any person knowing of such conspiracy shall conceal it 24 hours, he shall be put to death." J. A. G.

HOME INGREDIENTS.

If it's only just a shelter from the rain and winter snow;
If it's only just a place to sleep when over-tired you grow;
If it's just a place to pack your bag
when you decide to roam,
It may be a handsome building, but it's truly not a home.

If it's just a place to eat in when you're not invited out;
If you're snapping at the children every time they romp about;
If you never, proud and happy, walk its garden in the gloam,
You may have a house to look at, but you haven't made a home.

If it's just a place to dwell in, not to rest and read and stay;
If the children very early choose to go elsewhere to play;
If the neighbors' understanding of their needs exceeds your own,
Though you give them food and shelter, still a home they've never known.

Oh, it's not from brick and plaster and from costly gilded things,
But from love and mirth and laughter that the soul's contentment springs.
It's by sympathy and patience and by glad hearts unafraid
And unfaltering devotion all the happy homes are made.

ARLINGTON SCHOOLS ARE LOANED $85,000

County Board by 3-2 Vote Gives Fund for Teachers' Salaries and Debts.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509 Clarendon, Va.

By a vote of three to two the members of the Arlington County Board of Commissioners voted to approve a loan of $85,000 to the school board at a joint session held at the county courthouse last night. Of this amount, $63,000 will be used to pay off present loans and $22,000 to pay teachers' salaries for May and a portion of June. Those favoring the motion as introduced by John C. Gall were Mrs. Elizabeth M. Magruder, Harry A. Fellows and John C. Gall. Those opposing were Fred A. Gosnell and Lyman M. Kelley. No reason was given by those opposing the motion for their vote.

Efforts were made by Mr. Goanell to learn from members of the school board why certain bills of more than a year's standing had not been paid.

This brought a retort from Chairman Thomas J. DeLashmutt of the school board, who asked, "Are you going to start that argument?" Mr. Gosnell replied, "You can call it what you want to." The chairman replied, "We are here asking for funds to keep open the schools." This brought what might have been a prolonged argument to a sudden close.

On motion of Mr. Gosnell the board authorized the advertising as required by law for the repeal of the ordinance prohibiting the sale and firing of fireworks in Arlington County.

Vigorous prosecution of all Arlington County officials or employes alleged to be short in their accounts and the early completion of the audit by State auditors was urged in a resolution adopted by the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County at their meeting held at Ballston yesterday.

The resolution regarding the alleged shortages was offered by the civic committee and was unanimously adopted. It contains seven recommendations, which are as follows:

First—That all publicity be given to the entire report of the audit; second—That the publicity be released as soon as the audit is completed; third—That the audit be completed as soon as possible in view of the enormous expense to which the county is being subjected, which this body feels is due in some degree to the failure of the State to discover the alleged shortages in previous annual audits.

Fourth—That a complete audit, under State supervision, be made annually of all departments handling public funds, and that the county authorities take proper precaution to protect funds handled exclusively by county departments; fifth—That all officials or employes of the county, "ascertained by the investigating authorities to be criminally delinquent in their accounts, be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law;" sixth—That the proper legal authorities dismiss or seek the dismissal of any official or employe not elected by the people where records disclose incompetency in office or are erroneous to the extent that a financial loss to the taxpayers has been or may be suffered as a result of such incompetency, and seventh—That copies of this resolution be sent to the governor, attorney general, county manager, and to the members of the county board.

U. S. Develops Special Gun For Possible Use in Riots

New Piece of Ordnance, Mounted on Heavy Four-Wheel Truck, Is of French .75 Type; Can Fire in Any Direction.

With an eye toward possible future events, the War Department has developed a special gun for use against rioters, it was learned in an authoritative quarter yesterday. The new piece of ordnance, which was worked out at the instigation of Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, deputy chief of staff and an authority on field artillery, is of the French .75 type, motorized, and specially mounted on a pedestal which permits firing in any direction.

The model which has been completed is mounted on a heavy truck of the four-wheel-drive variety, of which the Army has a large number on hand. The gun has a range of more than 7,000 yards, or about 4 miles, and is capable of tearing a great hole in heavy brick or stone construction.

So powerful is the concussion of air upon discharge that on recent trials the windshield of the truck was invariably shattered when the gun was fired to the front. Mounting of the gun on the special pedestal on the truck was accomplished at a cost to the War Department of $15,000.

The Field Artillery was somewhat at a loss as to what should be done with the gun, once the design had been perfected, but Gen. Moseley suggested it be used against rioters in case of domestic disorders on any considerable scale. The caliber and power of the weapon naturally suggested that it would find its most logical use in intimidation or in destroying buildings where disorderly elements might take refuge.

Throughout the various conferences for the limitation of armaments, the United States has maintained the thesis that its Army is little more than a police strength body, and it is known that for some time the Army has regarded with some seriousness the possibility of rioting and has taken steps to cope with any eventuality.

John Dankmeyer, Policeman, Dies

Second Precinct Private to Be Buried Tomorrow in Mount Olivet.

Policeman John F. Dankmeyer, attached to the Second Precinct, died yesterday in Walter Reed Hospital, following an illness of less than a month. He was 37 years old and a native of Washington. He was appointed to the Police Department in 1917, and served his entire period in the Second Precinct.

During the World War he served in the American Infantry and took part in many of the major battles. Prior to the war he served some time in the Navy. Private Dankmeyer was unmarried. He lived with his mother at 2201 Monroe street northeast.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Francis de Sales Church, 2021 Rhode Island avenue northeast. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Safety Talks Made By Hanna and Ely

Work to Prevent Accidents Is Stressed in Radio Addresses.

Safety on the streets of Washington was stressed yesterday in radio addresses by John H. Hanna, preident of the Capital Traction Co., and Selden M. Ely, supervising principal in charge of safety in the District public schools.

Mr. Hanna in his talk declared that all employes of the Capital Traction Co. are put through a severe training course and drilled in the best methods of safely operating public vehicles on crowded downtown streets.

In discussing the schoolboy safety patrols in District schools, Mr. Ely pointed out that this system of encouraging safety among school children has become a part of the school system. In no other way, he said, could the importance of street safety be brought before these children.

Association Elects Jordan President

Conduit Road Body Sends Protest on Overhead Wires and Tracks.

Lucian Jordan was named president of the Conduit Road Citizens Association at the anual meeting for election of officers held last night at the Potomac Heights Community Church. Ernest S. Hobbs is retiring president.

Other officers elected last night are: Ellis R. King, first vice president; Mrs. D. G. Morris, second vice president; C. J. Peterson, treasurer; Paul Kinnahan, recording secretary, and Linn C. Drake, corresponding secretary. Delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations will be Mrs. E. C. Rittue and Clyde S. Bailey.

The association addressed two resolutions to the Public Utilities Commission, one asking that the Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. be made to abandon the overhead wires along Reservoir road in favor of conduits, and the other asking that the Washington Railway & Electric Co. be made to bring its tracks on Sherrier place between Galena and Manning place to street level. A third resolution urged that Sherrier place be cut through between Galena and Weaver place.

NORFOLK NURSE NEW HEAD OF STATE BODY

Officers Are Selected as Convention Is Closed in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Miss Blanche Webb, of Norfolk, yesterday was elected president of the Virginia State convention of Graduate Nurses, which closed a three-day session in the Trinity Methodist Church, Alexandria. Miss Webb succeeds Miss Emma Harlan, of Charlottesville.

Other State officers chosen were Miss Lillian Bayley, of Richmond, first vice president; Miss Ruth Morton, of Richmond, second vice president; Miss M. E. Marshall, of Hampton, secretary; Mrs. Jessie Faris, of Richmond, treasurer. Miss Elisabeth Buxton, of Roanoke, acted as chairman and tellers.

Yesterday's activities began with a motor trip over the Mount Vernon boulevard, starting at 6:30 a. m. This was followed by a breakfast served in The Anchorage, with the Alexandria Hospital Alumnae as hostess.

The regular session of the day began at 9:30 o'clock in the Trinity Methodist Church, with Miss Fansy E. Fletcher, of the Medical College of Virginia School of Nursing Alumnae Association, presiding. The program included an address on "Registries and Private Duty Problems," by Miss Janet M. Geister, director at headquarters, American Nurses Association, New York; "How Can the Private Duty Nurse Help Herself in the Depressing Times," by Mrs. Ethel Evans, president of the Grace Hospital Alumnae Association, Richmond; report of the committee on distribution of nursing service, by Miss Charlotte Pfeiffer, superintendent of the Stuart Circle Hospital, Richmond; discussion and resolutions.

A meeting of the Allied Citizens for the Support of the Eighteenth Amendment Society, which claims to have more than 300 members in Alexandria, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Virginia Public Service Auditorium. The Boy Scouts of the city have been asked to assemble at Trinity Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m., and will march to the auditorium and lead the meeting in singing "America" and the salute of the flag.

The Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Southern Methodist Church of Alexandria, will offer the invocation. There will be special music and an address by Maj. Newman H. Raymond on "Prohibition or Prohibition Reform."

G. Raymond King, secretary of the drum and bugle corps of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, has been officially notified that the drum corps has been awarded the second prize of $75 for the best-appearing organization of the kind in the line of march during the parade at the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester early this month.

Auto Crash in Glaring Sun Cools Dinners of Firemen

Blinding sunlight on the Rockville Pike near Rockville, Md., yesterday caused the injury of two youths and nearly disrupted the annual dinner of the Rockville Volunteer Fire Department at the firehouse.

The firemen had just started serving dinner when the siren blew for a rescue call. Within a few seconds there was not a fireman left at the dinner. All had jumped the rescue squad truck, of which the department is justly proud, and were on their way to the accident. After the firemen had left, the women who were aiding in putting over the dinner, discovered that even the doorman with all the tickets and change had joined the rescue squad and incoming guests had to wait a few moments until more tickets could be provided.

A car operated by John Hall, of Poolesville, Md., had crashed into the parked milk truck of W. Lawson King, of Gaithersburg, Md., operated by Charles S. Gue, of Germantown. The firemen took a passenger in the car, Robert Stout, of Poolesville, to Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring, where he was treated for serious cuts on the face. Hall was given first aid by the firemen for cuts and bruises and sent home.

Hall told Sergt. Roy Bodmer and Corpl. Harry Merson, of Rockville Police Headquarters, that he was blinded by the bright sunlight and did not see the parked truck until he was too close to swerve. Then the firemen returned to supper.

Man Gets $3,000 In Warrant Suit

Malicious Prosecution Laid to Owner of Auto Figuring in Crash.

Joseph R. Wildman, jr., of 4209 Thirty-eighth street northwest, yesterday won a verdict of $3,000 against James E. Binger, a banker and factory owner of Hall Station, Md., in District Supreme Court before Justice Oscar R. Luhring.

Wildman, through attorney W. Gwynn Gardiner, alleged in a suit for $50,000 that Binger had been guilty of malicious prosecution in that he swore out a warrant charging Wildman with assault with intent to kill, had him arrested here and taken to Maryland, though the charge was later dropped.

The two men were owners of automobiles that collided in Maryland August 11, 1928, on Largo Pike. At various times, it was testified, Binger swore out traffic warrants against Wildman for the collision, and then, Wildman contended, swore out the assault warrant in order to get him into Maryland for action on the traffic charges.

VISIT Natural Bridge

Here is Nature's awe-inspiring edifice, slowly carved out during countless centuries by a little stream that still tumbles joyously down the mountain glen.

UPON its rugged surface, the eons have frowned and smiled. It has known the calm of countless mountain-nights—the glory of centuries of sun-drenched days.

And now magicians of light illuminate the giant arch. Come and stroll down the path when night is falling. See Nature's grandest sculpture in the rosy hue of dawn . . . at dusk . . . and when by silvery moonlight it is limned against a canvas that is sky . . . then listen! You will thrill as you hear echoing up that rocky glen—a sonata! From rocks, long mute, wells forth music—"The Symphony of the Centuries." You feel the Genesis of all things—the inconsequence of Time . . . You hear the bubbling of brooks—the plaintive melody of primitive peoples . . . blended in one soul-stirring andante of the ages.

Hike and ride over mountain trails—fish tumbling streams — swim — play golf. The rates are only $1.50 to $5.00 per day. Make Natural Bridge the central point from which to see the beautiful Shenandoah Valley. Why not drive up the coming week-end and see the Bridge in all its glory? When attending Bi-Centennial Celebrations, stop at the Bridge that George Washington surveyed.

Manager, Natural Bridge Hotel, Natural Bridge, Va.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Hoover Receives Washington Private School Pupils; Secretary and Mrs. Mills Are Dinner Hosts.

MRS. HOOVER RECEIVED yesterday afternoon many pupils attending the private schools of Washington. The windows of the main floor of the mansion were open, and the guests enjoyed the gardens in the south grounds of the White House.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the New York State Republican delegation in Congress. Since there are no Republican senators from New York, the company was limited to representatives and their wives.

Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, left Washington yesterday morning for Philadelphia, where she spent a day with her sister, Mrs. Henry Brinton Coxe. She will leave there today for New York, where she will be the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Morgan, at their home in Locust Valley. Mrs. Adams will return to Washington on Tuesday. Secretary Adams will be the honor guest at luncheon today of the president of the Naval War College, at Newport, Rear Admiral Harris Laning, and Mrs. Laning. The Secretary will present the diplomas to the graduates. Among the guests at the luncheon will be the Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. William V. Pratt.

Mr. Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo, who has been making his home at the Mayflower, has taken an apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue.

Revolutionary War Papers Are Printed

"Historic Notes" Tells of Damage Wrought in Virginia Raids.

Yorktown, Va., May 26 (A.P.).—Tests of heretofore unpublished manuscripts of historic interest and value are printed in "Historic Notes," a new publication now being distributed by the Colonial National Monument at Yorktown. The new publication is edited by Elbert Cox, assistant park historian. The current issue tells the story of Bellfield, the ancient seat of Gov. Digges. The manuscripts printed in the current issue were discovered by Mr. Cox.

One is a copy of a resolution of the House of Delegates of Virginia of 1782, prohibiting the "enemy" from purchasing tobacco in Virginia and exporting it. The resolution recommended the passing of a law for confiscating British manufactures found on land within the United States. The resolution also prohibited vessels sent to Virgina from New York under an agreement made by the secretary of Congress, the superintendent of the finances of the United States, and Ebenezer Coffin, from loading tobacco in the Old Dominion.

Another document tells of the losses suffered by York County, Va., from the invasion of the enemy in 1781. Property detroyed included barracks, valued at £400, the hospital, valued at £500, and repairs on the courthouse, £100, and the church, £150.

Uncanny Electrical Show Is Arranged

Cold Heat Is One of Many Exhibits Scheduled at Catholic U.

A "female" motor—one that can not make up its mind; "Jacob's Ladder;" cold heat; a tin can motor, and the "dancing ring" are only a few of the startling exhibits which have been prepared by electrical engineering students at the Catholic University under the direction of Prof. Thomas MacKavanagh, for their coming public exhibit in St. John's Hall on the Catholic University campus.

High school students and the general public have been invited to the exhibit, which is being held today and tomorrow from 2 to 10 p. m., and on Memorial Day from 12 to 6 p. m.

The student committee on arrangements is Robert F. Brady, 818 Farragut street northwest; Natalie Caponiti, 905 B street southeast, and John H. Hickey, 2120 P street northwest.

New Zealand Delegates Named.

Wellington, N. Z., May 26 (A.P.).—The New Zealand government announced today that Prime Minister G. W. Forbes will lead the Dominion delegation to the Ottawa imperial economic conference in July. The other members will be J. G. Coates, minister of public works and transport, and W. D. Stewart, finance minister. A staff of experts and advisers will be taken along.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

ALTHOUGH fastidious women are clever enough to show a beautiful throat, unadorned, the flare for costume jewelry still lingers. If you have stopped at a jewelry accessories' counter recently, or if you have been noticing the necklaces, earrings and rings women around you are wearing, you will agree that it is better to wear none at all, than to wear them without thought to individual type as well as occasion.

Elsie Pierce.

So many women make the mistake of choosing new accessories recklessly and wearing them promiscuously. The type of costume is important, very important. Formal jewelry is all wrong when worn with sports costume. But even more important than choosing the right type of jewelry for the costume is choosing the right style for yourself, your personality, your type. The tall, dark, aloe-eyed Oriental type, the stately matron, may look doubly exotic and alluring in large, dangling gew-gaws. But picture a young, fair-haired debutante wearing bizarre earrings.

Why so many young girls persist in wearing rhinestone necklaces and earrings with a semisports costume, I do not know, except that the only excuse is they have them. Time, place, occasion and the proper background are all factors for consideration when jewelry accessories are purchased and worn. And another important detail: always study the earrings or necklace you intend buying, before a mirror. All jewelry counters are equipped with mirrows for this purpose.

Fitting the Face.

Remember that earrings and necklaces, like coiffure, hat and necklines, frame the face. They should, therefore, fit the face, and help to give the face a more nearly oval outline.

Earrings

Take earrings, for instance. They almost always add apparent width to the contour, because they carry the eye from ear to ear across the face. The large, round button type earrings, fitting the lobe closely add the greatest feeling of roundness. Women with thin faces usually look better for them. Women with round faces, and large built women should avoid them. Long, oval-shaped, or triangular shaped slender earrings sometimes add apparent length.

Necklaces

Choker necklaces increase the width and roundness of the face and neck. Therefore only women with thin face and neck should wear them. This also applies to necklaces with large front plaeques, or clasps and fitting closely around the throat. Such a clasp should be round or wide, not arranged lengthwise or it will add a look of length. Several short strands of beads have the same effect and are splendid to cover bony neck and shoulder structures. But women with full faces and necks and particularly those whose chins are twins should avoid these.

Longer strands, particularly those that give a triangular or deep oval effect help to make the face look longer and more slender. Flat metal necklaces, particularly those that form slender rectangular or triangular effect are often good for the round face.

Choose your jewelry accessories with a knowing eye, remembering that often a small detail goes a big way toward making the picture perfect.

My bulletin on Fashion Hints contains many helpful suggestions for choosing hats, hair arrangements, necklines, etc., to frame the face or apparently change its contour. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring it to you.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Stunningly simple and elegant, is a Sunday night frock of black and white crepe, the white in a most interesting arrangement at the top and girdle. (Courtesy of Mirande, Paris.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—It has arrived at the point where it hardly matters what a fabric is, or what it is made of! What with woollens making our evening dresses, and silks, synthetic and otherwise, making our overalls, where are we, where are we!

The point is, it doesn't matter, where we are! 'Tis just like nationalities—it takes so many of 'em to make one good American, that there just isn't any use trying to figure it out.

Wool, from sheep—cotton and flax from plants, and silk from a bug, once furnished the materials made for mankind. Excepting perhaps the paper-like cloths made from cocoanuts and certain other vegetables in far off South Sea isles. Now the fabrics for mankind to make into garments and wear are made from chemicals! A combination of two or three of the basic fabric materials—cotton and wool, say, a chemical thrown in—and lo, a new material with a name which conveys absolutely nothing at all to any one. But the material is good, and usually possesses some distinctive feature which makes it actually better than the materials made from any of the known fabric staples. It will have a better gloss than silk; or a better body than wool; or more suppleness, or more strength or more appeal to the artistic eye, or some added feature not found in materials of other origin.

Heard how cellophane came into use? A workman in Switzerland, with perhaps a bit of gray matter, spilled a solution of something or other when he was making a celloid composition for something or other. He didn't wipe it up. And when he went to wipe it up it came up in a transparent sheet. So, instead of scraping the place where it had been spilled, he "skinned" it off and took it to the boss—who also had a bit of gray matter. Result, transparent wrappings to keep what's inside fresh and moist 'n' everything.

No such lucky accident has resulted in a new fabric in which to wrap milady to keep her fresh—but I have hopes. What with materials being made from simply everything under the sun these days, and gray matter simply bubbling out of youthful craniums!

"The laaast cawl foh din——I mean the Dare's leaflet which gives you the smartest—economicalist—latest from Parisiat ideas for combination evening gowns—sports dresses—business clothes——" "Oh Dionne du SHUSH!" Seriously I think that this week's leaflet is all of that and then some and every one else must think so too the way the stamped, self-addressed envelopes are coming in to the Dare department of The Washington Post. So better hurry with yours. "Combination" meaning making one dress look like five or six, whether it be for evening or day wear.

Now some clever jeweler comes along and fashions a necklace in such a way that a lovely and massive ring can be worn on it as a pendant, or detached, quite painlessly, and worn as a ring. So I thought you would like to see a sketch of it—and decide for yourself whether it would be worn with the lovely gown in black and white crepe that Mirande designs. Isn't the bodice of this gown simply too lovely?

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

Begin Sunday's Dinner With Strawberry Cocktail.

NOW to our week-end planning and the first item in order is a supper for Saturday which is to consist of a light meal, baked eggs in the Spanish fashion, with no meat to worry about cooking at the last minute. As for Sunday, it's to be baked ham with pineapple. There's a method in our madness, for Monday is a holiday, and what can beat cold baked ham for a picnic, anyway? And for Sunday we offer also a dessert of holiday sort—a biscuit tortoni.

SATURDAY'S SUPPER.
Baked Eggs—Espagnole
Julienne Potatoes
Shredded String Beans
Lima Bean and Bacon Salad
Spiced Pears
Chocolate Cake
Tea

Baked Eggs—Espagnole.

6 eggs
¼ cupful fat
3 tablespoonfuls onion, chopped
3 tablespoonfuls green pepper, chopped
½ cupful grated cheese
4 tablespoonfuls bread crumbs.

Fry the onion and pepper in the fat until slightly brown, then pour them into a baking dish. Break the eggs into the dish, being careful not to break the yolks. Mix the crumbs and cheese and sprinkle over the eggs. Bake in a slow oven until eggs are set, but not hard. Serve in the dish in which baked.

Lima Bean and Bacon Salad.

Soak two cupfuls of dried lima beans in cold water for twelve hours. Cook until tender, adding a teaspoonful of salt before the cooking is completed. Drain and cool. Pour over them one-half cupful of French dressing, to which one teaspoonful of catsup has been added. Cook a quarter of a pound of bacon until crisp and chop in small pieces. Combine with the beans, adding sufficient mayonnaise to moisten, and serve on crisp lettuce leaves, garnishing with paprika.

Chocolate Cake.

½ cupful butter.
2 cupfuls confectioners' sugar
4 eggs
2 squares (2 ounces) bitter chocolate
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder
2 1-3 cupfuls pastry flour
½ teaspoonful salt
1 cupful milk
¾ teaspoonful vanilla.

Cream the shortening and one cupful of confectioners' sugar. Beat the yolks of eggs until thick and lemon-colored. Add to them the other cupful of sugar, beating constantly. Combine the two mixtures. Melt the chocolate over hot water. Cool and add to the mixture. Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder and add alternately with the milk. Add the vanilla. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a tube pan in a very moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees, 45 minutes to an hour. This may be used as a dessert and served with sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

SUNDAY'S DINNER.
Strawberry Cocktail
Radishes
Preserved Watermelon Rind
Baked Ham with Pineapple
Sweet Potato Cones
Peas Francaise
Carrot and Cabbage Salad
Biscuit Tortoni
Coffee

Refreshing Summer Beverages.

Summer days are thirsty days! And there are so many occasions when a sparkling, icy drink is most refreshing and welcome. It may be after a tiresome shopping day in town, a brisk game of tennis, or, perhaps, when friends "drop in" of a hot afternoon or evening. It really doesn't matter, for in our new folder you will find many suggestions for easily prepared, appropriate beverages—all equally delicious.

Send your request and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Nancy Carey, The Washington Post.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

FOR AND AGAINST COCOA.

IN yesterday's article we began a comparison of the beverage customarily used with meals, considering then the advantages and disadvantages of coffee, tea and water. Today we take up chocolate, cocoa, milk and buttermilk, but using tea, coffee and water as portions of the standards of comparison. The writer has these in his mind as he writes, and he advises the reader to do the same as he reads.

The principal difference between chocolate and cocoa is that the former contains more fat, and therefore as a food has considerably more calories. The beverages considered yesterday are used for the water and the drugs they contain. All of those considered today are foods as well as beverages.

Cocoa has a fair arount of carbohydrate, protein, minerals and fat. When mixed with cream and sugar, as is the custom, it contains considerably more calories than does the same quantity of milk, or, for that matter, few solid foods as served contain more food values per pound than does cocoa per pint. It has another advantage over milk. Its albumins are not in the combination called buffered, and therefore the gastric juice does not have to overcome so much opposition before it can make headway with digestion.

The drug in cocoa is theobromine. Chemically it corresponds to the caffein of coffee and the theine of tea. Those who drink cocoa and chocolate for a pickup get their kick out of the drug effects of theobromine, as well as out of the warmth of the beverage and the quick, sustaining action of sugar.

However, the scientists are pretty nearly all of the opinion that the harmful effects, or the kickback, of theobromine are less than those of the other two drugs. If one must take either, theobromine will have less of the bad effects as well as of the good.

Some persons find cocoa too heavy and rich. As a rule they are those who cannot handle fats or greases, particularly in the soups and beverages. Since chocolate contains more fat and is a heavier drink with more food values, some members of this group can drink cocoa but not chocolate.

The disadvantage of cocoa drinking are that it is a highly flavored beverage, and the rule is that beverages are most wholesome when they are flat. It contains theobromine, and it is sometimes eaten or drunk between meals. When it is used we must bear in mind that it is a food as well as a beverage.

Milk has been discussed so much that little is added here. It is a food rather more than a beverage and in it the elements are mixed so as to satisfy the needs of the human body better than does any other single food. It has the advantage of being nearly neutral in flavor. One disadvantage, from the standpoint of digestion, is the way the lime it contains holds the digestive juices away from the albumins. Because of this some users of milk prefer to drink it sour, using orange juice or other vegetable juices for the purpose, or even mixing it with acids from other sources.

Buttermilk is generally thought of as a beverage even by those who think of sweet milk as a food. The fact is that it contains all the food values of sweet milk except those due to the cream, and it has the virtue of having the albumins unbuffered and more easily digested.

What Today Means

"GEMINI."

IF May 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:15 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:15 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

The Planets augur a day richer in experience than pocket for May 27. New relationships will be formed, old ideals will be shattered, and a new outlook will be opened. Both the optimist and pessimist will see something around the corner. The former will laugh and the latter will cry, but there are no dark shadows hovering over the immediate lives of those born on a May 27th.

Children born on this May 27 will be of a keen, nonsentimental type. They will be full of vitality, and will constantly seek outlets for both their mental and physical energies. They will develop strong personalities, and sturdy characters, not easily upset by the buffetings of the world.

Born on May 27, you are given to impulse, which generally decides the line you will take. You are extremely sensitive to "atmospheres," and are almost a mind reader. You know and feel things unaided by reason or logic. Your imagination, however, often leads you astray, and you read wrong motives in innocent actions or words. You are self-centered enough to believe the eyes of the world are always on you and are kept in a continuous stage-struck condition. It would be well for you to endeavor not to be too much swayed by the thoughts of others, and to cultivate a more superior, independent attitude in general.

You must do your share of spade work during life, and will have to go after, and work for, most of your real attainments. You will run up against family opposition as a constant barrier to paths you would like to traverse, and until you become strong enough to think for yourself and to turn a deaf ear to their croakings, you will live below your latent and potential resources in life.

You are a business-like, mechanical worker. You would succeed best in work where the hands are employed. Literary work would be a possible mental outlet, and would serve as an interesting hobby, even though your pen did not find a Klondyke for you.

Successful people born on May 27:
Dustin Farnum, actor.
Arnold Bennett, author.
Julia Ward Howe, author.
Julius Parker Sedgwick, pediatrist.
Charles Francis Adams, financier.

Mrs. A. L. Irving, supervisor; Miss Marjorie Schuster and Mrs. Donna L. Taggart, directors, will have charge of the program, a part of which will be gavottes, quadrilles, heel and toe polka, a sailor's waltz clog; tickle-toe tap dance, Highland fling and a clown dance.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANY PLANTING REQUIRES CAREFUL PLANNING.

IF you haven't planted anything on your grounds up to this time, give a little time to reasoning out a scheme of planting which will be restful, quiet and dignified throughout. Don't fill up your front lawn unless you dislike having people see your house. A border or hedge along the front property line is all right. The main idea is to keep low plants, like shrubs, out of the center and use trees only to frame the house. Big trees like elms or maples are used to soften the sharp lines of the architecture and also to give shade from the hot summer sun.

Shrubs are used next to the house walls to obtain transition between perpendicular house lines and the horizontal ground line. Curves are more pleasing than right angles in this instance.

If you wish a garden, try to lay it out where you will see it best from the part of the house where you spend the most time. Make the paths and features of interest, such as seats, sundials, &c., "line up" with the doors or windows. The result will be that your private living room extends to the boundary of your property instead of to the house walls. If you pay "so much" per square foot for floor space in your house and then buy furniture to make it livable, why neglect the ground outside, which cost you also "so much" per square foot, just because its ground gets muddy sometimes?

When arranging any planting we should not overlook the plants that wear cheerful clothes in the winter, like the red and golden dogwoods. They glow with increasing warmth of color as the sap starts to rise. Then there is the cornelian cherry and the little starry magnolia which, of course, can't be grown everywhere—it can't stand the climate in some localities. The elm and the red maple and pussy willow and soft alder all flower early. Some of these varieties should be in every garden.

Do not make the mistake of pruning any of the spring-flowering shrubs until after they have finished flowering. They all bloom on wood made the previous year. If you prune them early you will have no flowers this season.

Culbertson on Bridge

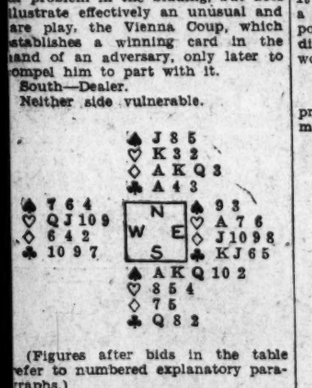
AN UNUSUAL PLAY

MANY hands in Contract Bridge are reasonably prosaic in their play, as in their bidding. However, even the simplest of them generally have enough of the element of uncertainty to sustain the interest of both the attacking and defending players. Many times hands come along that afford real thrills in the bidding, either because of the element of competitive bidding or because of the opportunity for rare and brilliant plays. The expert player has at his disposal a kit bag full of unusual plays, such as coups of various names and types, the squeeze and the end-plays.

Today's hand presents no particular problem in the bidding, but does illustrate effectively an unusual and rare play, the Vienna Coup, which establishes a winning card in the hand of an adversary, only later to compel him to part with it.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



(Figures after bids in the table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass (1)	Pass	1◇ (2)	Pass
1♠ (3)	Pass	2NT (4)	Pass
3♠ (5)	Pass	4♠ (6)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—Many players would shade the requirements for opening to bid South's hand, as it has a strong spade suit and nearly 2½ honor-tricks.
2—An obvious Third Hand bid.
3—South does not force. He knows that his partner—inasmuch as he has responded with a suit bid of one—is almost sure to give him a further opportunity to bid.
4—Not a forcing bid, but one that is rarely dropped if partner's hand contains any values not already disclosed.
5—Showing rebid strength in the spade suit.
6—If South is strong enough to rebid spades, then J 8 5 is adequate support. Therefore, North is content to play for game at a suit, rather than notrump.

West opened the Queen of hearts, and East and West won the first 3 tricks. Therefore, South must take the remainder, or fail to fulfill his contract. After winning the third round of hearts with the Ace, East returned the Knave of diamonds, which was won by the Queen in Dummy. South then took two rounds of trumps, winning the second with the Knave in Dummy, and led the ace of clubs. This was the first step in preparation for the Vienna Coup. South then took three additional rounds of spades, although only one was necessary to pick up the adverse trumps, but the other two were essential to the success of South's plan.

On the tenth trick East found himself squeezed, and had to choose between discarding the commanding club, or permitting the establishment of the Dummy's diamonds. He elected to throw the King of clubs, hoping against hope that his partner had the Queen. South then won the eleventh trick with the Queen of clubs, and the two remaining tricks with Dummy's high diamonds.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Vienna Coup is one of the rarest plays at the Contract table. It requires the Declarer to establish a good card in the hands of one opponent, only to force him later to discard it through the inexorable working of the squeeze.

TOMMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

FIELD MEET HELD BY 4,864 CHILDREN

Hyattsville High School and College Park Win in Prince Georges.

Nearly 5,000 children participated yesterday in the annual field meet of the Prince Georges County school, which was won by Hyattsville High School in the senior division, and by College Park in the junior section.

Only one casualty marked the meet, which was held on the athletic field of the University of Maryland, at College Park. Israel Kroop, 15, a student in the Laurel Elementary School, broke his right arm while sliding to base in a game of speedball. Officials of the school system estimated that about 7,000 children watched the various sports, including the 4,864 who took part in them.

Hyattsville High School won in its division with a score of 194, while Laurel High School came second with 89. Mount Rainier High was third with 79 points. College Park won in its division with 52 points, although Pine Grove, which scored 50, pressed it closely. Lanham School was third in the junior section with 20 points.

Farragut Building Sold at Auction

Office Structure Is Bought by Insurance Firm at $400,000.

The Farragut Medical Building, eight-story, brick and stone, professional office structure at the northwest corner of Seventeenth and I streets northwest, was sold at auction yesterday to Spencer Gordon, local attorney, representing the New York Life Insurance Co., holders of the first trust, for $400,000. Mr. Gordon's bid was the only one offered.

The sale proceeded following denial of a petition of F. H. Duehay, Inc., owner of the building, to grant a temporary injunction halting the sale, the court deciding that the insurance company had not waived its right to foreclosure when it directed the Duehay corporation to turn over the management of and income from the building to the B. F. Saul Co., real estate firm. The sale was advertised by Randall H. Hagner and James J. Becker, trustees, and Vernon G. Owen was the auctioneer.

The building was erected in 1901 by F. H. Duehay, original owner, at an estimated cost of $250,000. It is 78 feet wide, 120 feet deep and contains 75 suites of offices. Its current assessed value is $495,300, of which $280,800 represents land and $214,500 building.

Parks' Son Faces Speeding Charge

Arrest Is Made at Home of Town Manager of Chevy Chase.

Frederick E. Parks, son of the town manager of Chevy Chase, Md., was arrested early yesterday by Montgomery County Policeman Frank Soper, of the Bethesda substation, on charges of exceeding the speed limit. He was held for action of the county police court at Rockville on May 31 and deposited collateral of $27.50 with Justice of the Peace Frederick Van Court, of Bethesda.

Policeman Soper told Judge Van Court that he chased young Parks at a speed of 55 miles an hour on Wisconsin avenue, where the speed limit is 25 miles an hour, and that the young man escaped over the District Line. He halted him just over the line and invited him to return to the precinct, but Parks is alleged to have refused and to have made derogatory remarks about the police department.

The policeman then secured a warrant and arrested the young man after he returned to his home in Chevy Chase Md. The policeman said that Parks gave him the wrong address and also told him he lived in New York.

Da'sy DeBoe Loses Appeal.

San Francisco, May 26 (A.P.)—The State Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Daisy DeBoe, former secretary of Clara Bow, erstwhile motion picture star, on a grand theft charge. Miss DeBoe was convicted of taking $245 from her employer. The State District Court of Appeals affirmed the sentence. Miss DeBoe appealed from this ruling.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

On the assumption, no doubt, that everything will come out in time anyway, it is becoming more and more the vogue to "tell all" in Hollywood.

When incompatibility of careers sounded the death knell of their marital happiness, Ann Harding and Harry Bannister took the public into their confidence and explained the whole situation.

Certainly little enough was held back at the time of the Marlene Dietrich-Josef von Sternberg-Paramount squabble, when Paramount took time out to issue an ultimatum, Dietrich took to her home and Von Sternberg took to his heels—until he had cooled off on a trip to New York and back.

James Cagney also helped establish the new precedent by telling all about his salary fight with the Warner Brothers.

And now comes Robert Woolsey with a "press conference" in which he gave the boys and girls the low-down on the recent crack-up of the comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey.

The Woolsey conference was unexpected, I am informed by Mr. Hubbard Keavy, who attended it, and was begun by a flat denial on the part of the bespectacled, cigar-smoking comic that he and his associate of five years had parted after exchanging a few blows and a mess of uncomplimentary remarks. Mr. Woolsey intimated that no one was more surprised than he when Bert Wheeler said simply: "I'm going to New York—for good!"

Woolsey said the dissatisfaction started originally when Wheeler objected to a contract under which they were to work without salary and collect a percentage of the profits. He also admitted that Wheeler believes he can make more money playing a lone hand and that he further felt he was losing his identity working in tandem.

Master Robert recalled—doubtless to show what he thinks of his former partner's idea—their separate starring pictures made a year ago at Master Bert's suggestion. They were, to put it mildly, box-office disappointments.

The last contract they had, for four pictures a year, paid them each $195,000. They were teamed in twelve pictures, after first working together five years ago in "Rio Rita" on the stage.

Woolsey let it be known that he might form a new partnership with Harry Langdon to make pictures on a 50-50 salary basis.

By the way, what a wow combination THAT ought to make!

Mr. Keavy further informs me that the auction sale of Estelle Taylor's house, furnishings, and decorations took on all the aspects of a picnic. The house was too small to hold the crowd that turned out, so the sale was held in the front yard.

As at every Hollywood auction, souvenir hunters paid outrageous prices for ash trays and knick-knacks, while valuable rugs and furniture were sold for small fractions of their worth. For example, a $14,000 imported motor car went for $900.

I happen to know that Estelle hated to give up that home, but it cost too much to run. So, following the traditions of the family, she took it on the chin!

"Angie" Ratto, manager of Loew's Palace, did an Italian Graham McNamee last Wednesday evening. Between the hours of 8:15 and 8:30 he offered the innovation of a broadcast in Italian of the many virtues of "Huddle," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture in which Ramon Novarro assumed the role of a young Italian in attendance at an American University.

Signor Ratto took the ether at WJSV, but never went under!

Mr. Ratto, by the way, is enjoying sporadic intervals of remember whenning with a Loew executive with whom he was associated for many years, Larry Beatus, formerly in charge of Loew interests in Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Beatus, is paying the Capital a brief visit during a Wednesday-to-Monday respite from his executive duties over New York State way.

Miss Ona Munson, the charming ingenue of the National Theater Players, who this week is achieving a signal success as Leone Merrick in "The Vinegar Tree," is hostessing to her friends tomorrow night at the Hay-Adams House following the last performance of the "Tree." She will be assisted by her mother, who accompanied her talented daughter to Washington for the E street engagement with Mr. Cochran's admirable Players.

Announcement is made from the executive offices of the Warner Bros. theaters that five de luxe performances will be given at the Earle Theater on Saturday, tomorrow, to accommodate the crowds that are expected to be attracted by the rich promise of lively entertainment held out by Joe E. Brown in "The Tenderfoot"—in which he is supported by Ginger Rogers—and the "Song Writers on Parade" act that headlines the vaudeville bill.

It is also made known that four de luxe shows, instead of the customary three, will be given on Sunday.

You will remember, of course, that Ginger Rogers, on the screen with Joe Brown, is the former wife of Jack Pepper, at Loew's Fox, in person, as master of ceremonies with the "Dive In" revue. It is just as well to keep all these red hot condiments straight in your mind.

Speaking of schedules—as we were inferentially—doors will open at the Palace today at 10:30 a. m., and the unspooling of Greta Garbo's latest, "As You Desire Me," will begin shortly thereafter. Seven presentations of the feature will be given. The same hours and number of performances will be observed tomorrow, Manager Ratto probably having a new house record in the back of his mind—or maybe the front!

The coming of the new Garbo picture to the Palace while "Grand Hotel," in which she portrays one of the pivotal characters, is still running on a reserved seat basis at the Columbia, only goes to prove further what confidence its sponsors have in the drawing power of the picturized Vicki Baum novel and stage play.

Since "Grand Hotel" had its Washington premiere, Joan Crawford, John Barrymore and Greta Garbo, all prominently cast in that colossal celluloid, will have occupied local screens in individual starring vehicles of the first rank.

Few pictures could stand so much self-competition.

And will someone kindly tell me what other job holders than the United States Senate could be 100 per cent absent from their appointed tasks at the hour set to begin work—as happened yesterday—without being unceremoniously thrown out on their ears?

I thought you couldn't! And what swell big ears they've got to get thrown out on!

Morning, Senator Moses, how've you been?

Man Jailed for Vagrancy Suspected in Theft Series

Montgomery County Police Are Attempting to Obtain Confession to Clear Up Number of Recent Robberies in Bethesda and Chevy Chase.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Montgomery County police are checking the activities of T. F. Clemson, who was sentenced to serve 90 days for vagrancy Saturday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in County Police Court at Rockville. Police are attempting to secure evidence to connect him with a series of robberies in Bethesda and Chevy Chase recently.

Clemson was arrested by Montgomery County Policeman James S. McAuliffe, Roy Davis and Frank Soper when it was found that he had been sleeping in a building belonging to a local lumber yard for about a month. Coincident with the arrival of the man in the neighborhood a series of robberies started in the Bethesda area and police believe they can implicate Clemson.

Police revealed yesterday that a resident of the upper end of the county had identified Clemson as the man who disappeared from his farm after he had given him a job, taking along a sum of money belonging to the farmer. If the wife of the man also identifies Clemson, charges of larceny will be placed against him in this case, police said. Police are questioning the man in the hope of securing a confession.

The annual meeting of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held today at the Sandy Spring meeting house, starting at 10 a. m. Officers will be elected and other important business acted on.

Mrs. B. Peyton Whalen, of Alta Vista, Md., has been nominated for reelection as president of the federation by the nominating committee. She is president of the Newcomb Club of Bethesda.

Other nominations are: Mrs. Eugene W. Scott, Woman's Club of Rockville, first vice president; Mrs. Walter L. Kline, Woman's Club of Friendship Heights, second vice president; Mrs. Mortimer O. Stabler, Wednesday Club of Sandy Spring, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Elkins, Woman's Club of Woodside, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edgar W. Moore, Community Club of Kensington, treasurer; Mrs. George Landick, jr., Woman's Club of Kensington, parliamentarian. Mrs. Moore is at present treasurer and is nominated for reelection.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday opened bids for concrete paving on Bethesda avenue and alleys from Arlington to Clarendon roads. The bids of W. F. Brenizer Co., of Washington, was the lowest of eight bids submitted. The Brenizer bid of $5,517.50 was referred to County Engineer Harry B. Shaw for study and recommendation. The commissioners granted permits to operate for the season to Frank Abbo for the Villa Roma, an eating house on Rockville pike, and to the Chevy Chase swimming pool at Chevy Chase Lake. Each deposited the fee of $1,000 for the season.

The Junior Dramatic Club of Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School will present for the second time tonight at 8 o'clock the play, "Alice in Wonderland."

Laura Jeanne Maurice will repeat her interpretation of "Alice," in which part she played to a packed house last Friday. Others in the cast are Donn Strausbaugh, who portrays Lewis Carroll, creator of the fantastic tale; Elizabeth Wheeler, Jane Dunbar, John Dodge, Dorothy Easterbrook, Henry Clarke, Lester Brooks, Horace McCoy, William Berry, Helen Gwinn, Jacqueline Scott, Rene Beard, Jean Burns, Iverson Hutton, Georgia Eastman, Patsy Royster, Marjorie Cassey, Ruth Richmond, Marjorie Erickson, Anne Hagner, Henry Bernard and Shelton Clemmer.

Music will be furnished by the school orchestra.

Members of the Blair Citizens Association have requested Montgomery County police of the Silver Spring substation to investigate the malicious destruction of a number of silver maple trees planted on Faulkland drive by the association as part of its beautification program. Sergt. Guy L. Jones, in command, announced yesterday that the police will make every effort to apprehend the vandals.

This is the second time in a year that trees planted by the association have been uprooted.

Appeal Is Indicated In Water Rate Case

Alexandria Company to Fight 40 Per Cent Increase.

Richmond, Va., May 26 (A.P.).—The Alexandria Water Co. indicated to the Virginia Corporation Commission today that its bid for a 40 per cent increase in rates would be taken to the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The Alexandria company disclosed intentions by asking for a copy of the case record for appeal purposes. The commission recently granted the company a schedule of rates approximately 10 per cent higher than present levels.

In the case before the commission the body valued the company's properties at $1,150,000. The company contended that the valuation should be $1,900,000. Property valuation is used on a basis for rates.

Counsel for the water company are Clarence H. Dickie, of New York, and Gardner L. Boothe, of Alexandria. The City of Alexandria, which opposed the application, is represented by Carl Budwesky and Albert V. Bryan.

SCHOOLS IN FAIRFAX CLOSE TOMORROW

Special Exercises to Mark End of Year; Teachers Are Appointed.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST, P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va. Phone Fairfax 166.

The public schools of Fairfax County, Va., will close for the summer vacation tomorrow with special exercises. The county school board, in a special session yesterday, appointed teachers for the next school year, which will open on September 14. Divisional Superintendent W. T. Woodson and the trustees of the various districts were authorized to fill the remaining vacancies in their districts.

As an economy measure the board voted to omit the musical supervision in the elementary schools next year. This position has been held by Mrs. Annie Roby Walker for the past several years. The board also reaffirmed the decision not to allow the Fairfax County school children to participate in the Piedmont Dairy Festival parade in October unless the celebration is changed to Saturday, which would not interfere with regular school work.

Superintendent Woodson and Dr. F. M. Brooks were authorized to secure plans and specifications for an addition to the Fairfield School at Fairfax Station. Superintendent Woodson was also instructed to ask for bids for the new construction at the Lee-Jackson School near Seminary.

The following teachers were appointed for the next school term:

Annadale—Mrs. J. N. Howdershell, Miss Annie Troth, Miss Kathleen Clarke, Miss Ida G. Mitchell and Miss Frances Hurst.

2 Men Are Sentenced For Biting Policeman

Two colored men who sought to chew their way to freedom when Traffic Bureau Policeman H. G. Sanford stopped them in an automobile, yesterday were sentenced to 30 and 60 days in jail.

The two, Eddie and Leroy Lindsey, bit the policeman on his arms and were charged with assault. Leroy, in addition, it was testified, assaulted Sam Frankenberg, a taxi driver, who went to Sanford's aid. Eddie got 30 days and Leroy 60 days. The grand jury will be asked to investigate joy-riding charges against the two for allegedly having taken the car they were driving without permission of the owner.

GEHRIG'S HOMER WITH BASES FULL BEATS NATS, 5-0

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

THE fate of no ball game ever hung more heavily on one pitched ball than did the Nats-Yankee fracas of yesterday, and Lou Gehrig turned that ball into a message of woe for the 10,000 in the stands as he rode it over the fence for a home run with the bases full.

It was in the groove, all right. It had to be, with the count on Lazruping Lou three and two. Crowder knew he was going to throw it in there, apparently. He tightened his belt, took a long look at the positions of his outfielders, as if to apprise them of the fact, and then heaved the fateful pitch.

It was a home run from the moment it left Gehrig's bat, traveling high and true above the fence with something to spare, and if Lou made enemies of the 10,000 in the stands he has the consolation that his friendship with Manager Joe McCarthy is quite unimpaired.

Just as surely as Gehrig was the hero, Joe Cronin is the culprit. It was Cronin's sad error on a fairly easy chance that set the stage for the Yankees to fill the bases with two out and permit Gehrig to do what he did.

Cronin received a fine lesson in mob psychology on his next appearance at bat. The shortstop, who was the idol of Washington fans in 1930 and 1931, was the object of the greatest salvo of boos since the declining days of Bucky Harris with the Washington club.

A few valiants in the stands did applaud Cronin nobly, but the chorus of boos must have rung in the ears of the league's most valuable player of the 1930 season. It was the sourest note Cronin has heard since his play established him as a big league notable.

It is not too much to presume that Cronin's slump at bat has had its effect on his fielding. The Nats' shortstop, both in practice and in games, has not exhibited the steadiness that has marked his play for two seasons.

To this observer, Cronin's slump dates from his first attempts to hit the ball to right field, which has netted him few safeties. Cronin as a straight-away left field and center field hitter is a threat at the plate, but Cronin trying to shift his feet and hit to right is no .300 hitter.

The word apparently has gone out, too, that the pitchers' dish to Carl Reynolds is slow balls. Reynolds pickles the fast ones, but he has been served an incredible amount of slow stuff by the pitchers this season.

Reynolds' case appeared obvious last week when the Nats were playing the Red Sox. Leheney, a Boston pitcher whom nobody ever heard of before he stepped into the box in a relief shift, disposed of Reynolds on a hump-back slow ball. Here was a pitcher breaking in to the majors, who had never pitched to Reynolds before, and his first pitch was a slow ball, which only seasoned pitchers attempt. Leheney must have known something.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig stopped the show last night at the Mayflower Hotel where the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation held its eighth annual Father and Son banquet. Baseball was the keynote of the program, but the hundreds of fathers and sons buried their woes of the afternoon and indulged in honest worship of the King and Crown Prince of Slug.

Two generations met on a common ground at the banquet and boyish joy and parental pleasure reigned unrestrained during the program which the men of the brotherhood arranged, and which ran the gamut of a talk by Babe Ruth through the entertainment by Wesley (Himself) Eddy, Edith Reed's Radio Kiddies, Goldie Ahearn's boxing proteges and Sidney Lust's movie reels.

Fred Pelzman, Washington's first fan, turned out Clark Griffith, Joe Judge, Sam Rice, Al Schacht, Fred Marberry, Sam West and Ruth and Gehrig as baseball's contributions to the evening.

Don Fails to Break World Speedboat Mark

Gardone, Italy, May 26. (A.P.).—Kaye Don, British speedboat driver, failed by almost 20 miles an hour today in an assault on the world's speedboat record with his new boat, Miss England III.

After waiting all day for Lake Garda to smooth out, he finally took his boat twice over a measured mile course in failing light, but his best time was 91.83 miles an hour and his average only 91.37. Gar Wood's universal standard, made in Miss America IX at Miami Beach, Fla., last winter, is 111.712.

Central Nine Routed by Western

21-8 Victory Throws Title Series Into New Muddle.

Payne Holds His Foes Safe; Another Triple-Tie Looms.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

SPRINGING almost as much of a surprise as the fatal day, a fortnight ago, when they ended the five-year dynasty of Eastern baseball teams, Western High's assortment of ball players yesterday threw the entire play-off series for the school championship in a muddle by decisively annihilating the favored Central High Club, 21 to 8.

Nearly 1,000 fans saw Central's chance to win the pennant go by the boards.

With Big Bill Payne once more manning the mound, Western held Central to nine well-scattered hits and led the Blue and White at all times.

The handwriting on the wall became visible in the very first inning when Western's batters, not rated very highly, lambasted the frail form of Central's pitching ace, Jack DeBettencourt, off the mound with a blasting rally, which included two home runs and netted four runs.

DeBettencourt Chased.

DeBettencourt, with hanging head, was taken out of the box with two out, and in his place was planted Moran, ordinarily right fielder. Emmett Buscher, the logical choice to relieve DeBettencourt, was spared until the eighth inning for fear of hurting his arm, which is expected to win the javelin event for Central in the high school track meet today.

Western will not win the track meet today, but they staged a good one yesterday. The marathon started when Reds Mulloch, peppy little first baseman for Western, stepped into DeBettencourt's second pitch of the game and rifled it for a home run into the right field landscaping. Five

39 Hits as Phillies Defeat Braves, 17-13

Philadelphia, May 26 (A.P.).—A rally in the eighth inning in which five runs were scored enabled the Phillies to defeat the Boston Braves, 17 to 13, in a slugfest today.

Thirty-nine hits were made, 19 by the victors and 20 by the Braves, including 11 doubles, 2 triples and 4 home runs. Hurst, Lee, Shires and Urbanski hit the circuit clouts.

The defeat pushed the Braves out of first place.

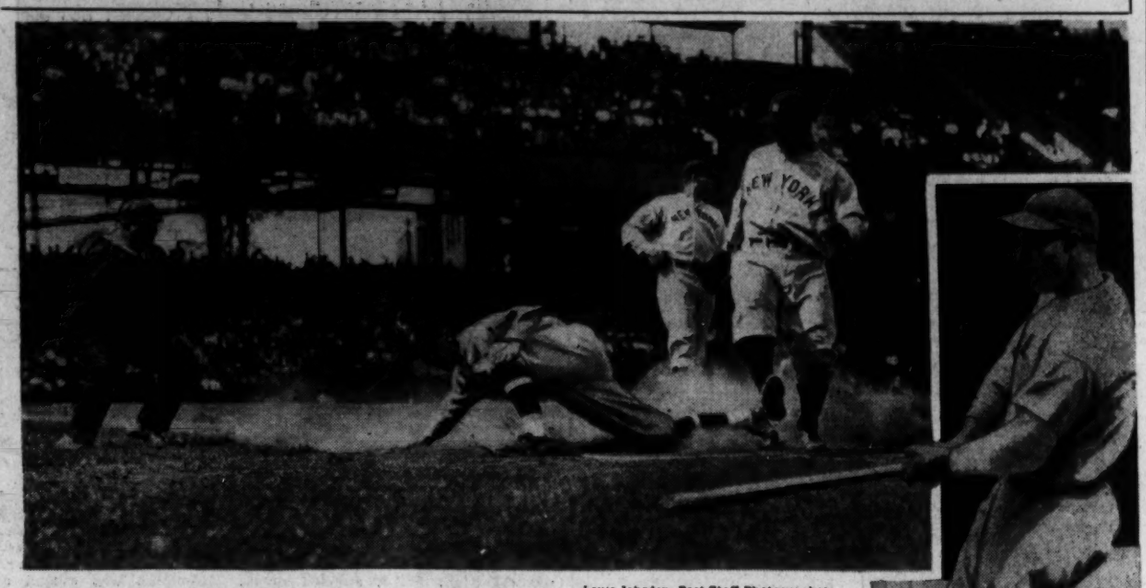
A Close Play at First and the Bat That Won the Ball Game



Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Ossie Bluege and Lou Gehrig engaged in a race for the bag when Bluege bunted in the second inning yesterday, and Umpire Van Grafian is pictured waving Bluege out. At right, Gehrig swinging the big bat that hit the ball that went for a home run that cleared the bases, &c., winning the game for the Yankees.

Shikat Victor In Wrestle Feature

McCready Knocked Out as Foe Sidesteps Charge.

DICK SHIKAT, whom the New York State Athletic Commission and Jack Curley have ordered to rassle Jim Londos for the N. Y. S. A. C.'s 10 per cent and Master Curley's considerably more, won another match here last night at Griffith Stadium, defeating Earl McCready, a reformed college man, in 44 minutes with a head-scissors and body press.

Cowboy McCready, who hails clar out of Stillwater, Okla., provided his own undoing by attempting to use steer-throwing tactics on the sensitive chassis of the big German exchampion. After 44 minutes of fairly even bone-buckling, Shikat was grabbed by the 230-pound McCready and hurled with terrific detonations on the loose plank. At three of these he arose unsteady and pushed McCready for the ropes. McCready hit the ropes with much more effort than Shikat had imparted and dove back, feet first, in an effort to wrap his legs around the German's beer reservoir.

But Shikat, who had fallen prey to several of these charges during the match, sidestepped this one and McCready landed heavily upon his back and the portion of his size 20 neck, upon which he takes nightly rabbit punches. Shikat quickly clamped a leg scissors around McCready's prostrate head and held him down, while the eminent produce dealer-referee, Bennah Bortnick, counted three and then told the boys not to miss the big beer and watermelon festival at 12 o'clock.

McCready impressed many of the 5,000 in the audience with his strength and general all-round knowledge of the game. He dispensed fine misery with his scissors and a cradle hold something like Rudy Dusek's. Shikat worked harder than in recent appearances here, wriggling energetically to escape McCready's holds. He started impressively by picking up the 230-pound Westerner like a cracked ping pong ball and beating the dust out of the mat with him.

The best of the remaining matches was Sammy Stein's victory over the syllable-spouting Renato Gardini, one of the few wrestlers who ever learned to talk. Stein won in eighteen minutes.

Howard Cantonwine lost a chance to become firmly intrenched in the hearts of local customers by permitting pugnacious Jack Washburn to go 30 minutes to a draw with him. George Manich and Matros Kirilenko committed another 30-minute draw.

Sandor Szabo, one of the best, beat Benny Ginsberg, by far the worst, in eighteen minutes on a backdrop.

NEW SPORTS PROGRAM AT YALE

Varsity Grid Schedule of 5 Games Seen Under Plan.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 26 (A. P.).—Drastic curtailments in Yale's intercollegiate athletic program with shifting of primary emphasis to intramural sports for "fun and informality" were outlined today by President James Rowland Angell in announcing acceptance of a survey committee's recommendations.

The new program, to go into effect after the residential college plan is established in 1933, will see reduction of the varsity football schedule to five games, stringent cuts in athletic costs, free admission of undergraduates to all games, and elimination of scouting, class teams and the 150-pound football team.

Instead, stress will be laid on sports for all students, with as little practice and as much competition as they want.

Harvard and Princeton authorities have expressed sympathy with the general objectives, said President Angell, who had named George T. Adee and Malcolm P. Aldrich, alumni, and Prof. R. Selden Rose, chairman of the Yale Athletic Association Board of Control to study the university's sports program.

Postwar Extravagance Blamed.

Urging that all athletic budgets be reduced, the committee said "the tremendous cost of athletics at Yale, as well as at all other universities, is the outgrowth of the Nation-wide wave of post-war extravagance and was made possible by the enormous athletic receipts of that period.

"There should be no scouting of opponents in any sport, even if the opponent continues to scout Yale."

Besides eliminating class teams and the 150-pound football team, it would greatly reduce the number of junior varsity teams.

Limiting the varsity football schedule to five games with traditional rivals and without intersectional contests is proposed to eliminate "set-up games." The committee suggested the football schedule include many informal games without gate receipts.

Walker Wins Bout From Paulino

Blow Following Bell Disables Uzcadun as 8,000 Boo.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, May 26 (A.P.).—The title hopes of Mickey Walker, as tough a little man as ever tackled a big one, all but smashed up tonight on that old rock of the Pyrennes, squat Paulino Uzcudun.

Little Mickey barely lasted through to the decision in ten mauling, bitter rounds, but he walked from the ring after the decision with a crowd of 8,000 howling for the granite-headed Spaniard and booing him.

Off to a slow, even start, Walker tired after the third round, let Paulino pull up on even terms through the seventh, and then went out to start a winning splurge with a punch that turned the crowd against him. After winning the eighth round with a swinging, two-fisted attack, little Mickey kept on going after the bell.

The Spaniard started it, perhaps, by hitting Walker with a left hook to the body just after the gong sounded, but he dropped his hands and stepped back. As he did, while Referee Willie Lewis started in to separate them, Mickey swung a right from his heels and split the Basque's left eyebrow in a semicircle.

The first punch of the ninth round, a right chop to the head, broke the wound wide open and started another under the eye. Blinded, Paulino could only paw forward through the last two rounds, as his wounds bled freely, and he was a mark for Walker's choppy left hooks to the head.

The first seven rounds were drab and uneventful, drawing jeers instead of cheers from the scanty lured crowd to the final boxing show of the indoor season.

Using every ounce of his 197 pounds, Paulino leaned all over the 170-pound Walker, mauled him in the clinches and was content to battle it out in a head-to-head foray that caused little excitement.

A clear-cut victory would have lifted Walker into a match with Ernie Schaaf, Boston sailor, for the right to challenge next for the heavyweight title. It is expected now, however, that Walker and Paulino will be rematched during the outdoor season.

Brown to Face Yankees Today

WASHINGTON and New York will meet again at Griffith Stadium this afternoon in the second game of the set of four. Because of yesterday's loss, the Nationals will have to take the remaining three to make any headway—and this is a mighty big order. With the "ladies' day" invitation having been extended, a banner crowd is looked for.

Lloyd Brown will do the flinging for the home crew, with the veteran Herb Pennock probably opposing him. It is Johnny Allen's turn, but as Pennock can work only every five or six days and is ready, he probably will get the call.

Foxx Pounds 15th Homer as A's Win

Red Sox Beaten, 7 to 1, in Game Halted by Rain in Sixth Frame.

Boston, May 26 (A.P.).—The Athletics, with homers by Bishop and Foxx starting the assault, pounded two Red Sox pitchers today to win the opener of their four-game series, 7 to 1. Rain ended the contest in the sixth.

Bishop, lead-off man, hit a home run in the first and in the same inning Foxx hit his fifteenth homer of the season with Cochrane on base.

Cronin's Error Sets Stage For Downfall of Crowder In Box Duel With Ruffing

Clout Over Fence Breaks up Ball Game After Yanks Fill Bases With Two Out; Decisive Blow Follows 3-and-2 Count.

Nats Waste Scoring Opportunities in First Two Innings and Are Held Hitless After the Third Frame.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE league-leading New York Yankees, who registered but four shutouts all of last season, turned in their seventh of the present campaign yesterday when they drew first blood in the series with the Nationals, 5 to 0. It was a mound duel between Charley (Red, the Ruff) Ruffing and "General" Alvin Crowder, the former holding the Nats to but five hits, while the visitors were credited with seven, one of which was a home run clout over the right-field wall by Lou Gehrig, with the bases filled in the sixth. It was Number 7 for the big first-sacker.

Most of the 10,000 fans went home blaming Shortstop Joe Cronin for the loss, due to his error in this fifth canto. It would have made the third out before Gehrig came to bat. True, it was a costly muff and got Crowder in a hole, but mechanical errors are a part of the game, and Cronin can not be held responsible for all that followed.

Only One Yankee Hit in First Five Frames.

Until this sixth round, a triple by Ruth with two dead in the first, was the only hit Crowder had allowed. Two were dead when the trouble started. Then Combs singled to center and Cronin fumbled Sewell's easy grounder. This brought Ruth up and he was walked, filling the bases. The Nat pitcher immediately made things tough for himself by having his first two offerings to Gehrig called balls. Then the batter fouled two and took another ball. With the count three and two, Crowder had to put the ball over the plate and the four-base drive over the garden wall followed.

As things turned out, this inning could have been eliminated and still the Nats would have been beaten, for Ruffing got better as the game progressed and nary a Washington hit was made after the third round. Meanwhile, the Yankees had scored another run in the ninth—and there was no taint attached to its making. It came when Chapman opened the round with a three-bagger, which missed going into the left-field stands by inches, and Dickey's single to right which followed.

As the game was played, all Crowder could hope for was a 0-0 tie, for his mates could give him absolutely no help in a scoring way. Third base was undiscovered land for all but one Nat, while only four others advanced as far as second.

Nats Show Promise in First Two Innings.

The Washington Team started off giving indications that it might get to Ruffing, but he suddenly settled down and performed sensationally after the third, yielding no more hits and walking out two. Two others saw base-life, but on account of errors.

With one dead, Manush singled in the first and, after West had forced

Vines and Shields Oppose Australia in Singles Today

By HENRY McLEMORE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26 (U.P.).—After more than enough debating to settle half the ills of this troubled world, the United States Davis Cup officials emerged from their conference room today and named the team which will meet Australia in the trophy tie beginning here tomorrow.

Ellsworth Vines, the dead-panned Californian who holds the national championship, and Frank Shields, of New York, No. 3 in Big Ten ranking, will handle the singles assignments, while Wilmer Allison, of Texas, and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, were named for the doubles match.

In the draw which followed these nominations Shields was picked to meet Harry Hopman and Vines to oppose Jack Crawford, ace man of the down under squad, in the first two singles matches on the courts of the Philadelphia Country Club.

Shields' selection was surprising only in that he was named in place of Allison instead of Vines. The big New Yorker's victories over both in practice indicated a berth would be made for him. In view of the fact that Vines had a tough time disposing of Ricardo Tapia in the final contest of the Mexican series while Allison breezed through to two easy wins, it was thought the champion would be the one dropped.

The officials, however, are of the opinion that Vines is now ready to play the sort of tennis he did last year in all but making a clean sweep of the big time circuit.

Let it be hoped that the Californian is ready, for nothing but the finest sort of tennis will enable the United States to hurdle the skillful and determined Australians. It would be very humiliating, indeed, for the United States to be eliminated after all the plans that have been made for a foreign campaign, but such a thing is entirely possible.

In Crawford and Hoppman, especially the former the invaders have two top notch tennis players. So top notch, in fact, that only in doubles, where Van Ryn and Allison will move into battle, is this country reasonably sure of victory.

Crawford and Hoppman will form the visitors' tandem entry on Saturday. The two concluding singles matches will be contested on Monday, with Vines meeting Hoppman and Shields engaging Crawford.

The winner of this tie will qualify for the American interzone final with Brazil in New York in June. Inasmuch as Brazil is knon to be weak, the winner of the U. S.-Australia tie is a dead cinch to be the one to challenge the European zone victor in Paris for the right to tackle France in the challenge round.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

When one of our Miller Cook customers asks how so much comfort, good looks, and wear can be crowded into a ten-dollar shoe, our explanation is simply this: They are made by Nettleton—who, as the acknowledged leaders in the more expensive shoe field, have now produced a companion shoe worthy of its name. An example—The Plaza, of all white buckskin with darex sole.

All Miller Cook styles $10.00.

Most Nettleton styles $12.50.

Allen Scores Easily With Favorite

Stays Behind Pace to Pick up Princess Camelia in Mud.

Happy Gal Wins 56th Running of Juvenile Stake at Belmont.

HOMEWOOD, Ill., May 26 (A.P.).—I Say, fleet 3-year-old sporting the silks of Albert Sabath, of Chicago, galloped to an easy victory over Princess Camelia to win the featured event on Washington's Park program today.

Jockey C. E. Allen rated the winner cleverly, holding her in restraint until the stretch turn where he let her loose to defeat Princess Camelia by 3½ lengths eased up. The event was run over a muddy track in 1:47 2-5. Parfait finished third. The winner, heavily backed, paid $5.08 to win.

Happy Gal Outruns Belmont Juveniles.

Belmont Park Race Track, N. Y., May 26 (A.P.).—In the best run and most important 2-year-old event of the Metropolitan season, the Belair Stud's Happy Gal, flashy daughter of Sir Galahad III-My Reverie, today won the fifty-sixth running of the Juvenile Stakes, worth $12,800 to the winner.

The filly exhibited rare speed and gameness to outlast C. V. Whitney's colt Caterwaul, her conqueror in the Keene Memorial, by a half length. Rapscallion, another Whitneyite, was third, eight lengths away. The time was 0:57 flat, a second off the record for 5 furlongs down the Widener straightaway.

Happy Gal, with De Valera as a running mate, was quoted at 4 to 1. Caterwaul and Rapscallion closed at 1 to 2. C. V. Whitney declaring to win with the former.

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

A change of track conditions lost Asbestos' money yesterday when his horse ran second in a sea of mud. The roll is $54.94. Today's code is 5-3-4-11-2-6-12-8-19 at Woodbine. Today Asbestos is playing one that has never started before. Maybe the sap knows something.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LOVELY HILLS, $31.52, $14.94, $6.98; STATELY LADY, $7.04, $4.40; MOM'S POLLY, $3.66.

LOVELY HILLS dashed to the front soon after the start and, opening up a long lead rounding the stretch turn, was an easy winner. STATELY LADY raced to a contending position early and raced gamely through the stretch. MOM'S POLLY was outrun to the final eighth, then made up ground to finish well. LITTLE GERTIE was tiring at the finish. WEE B. also tired. DORAMELIA had some early speed.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start poor from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:52½. Off at 2:54. Winner, Mrs. F. A. Carreaud's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TADCASTER, $6.98, $4.76, $3.12; ALTMARK, $6.14, $3.50; WISE ADVOCATE, $2.96.

TADCASTER, showing a liking for the going, went to the front at once and, nicely rated, was never in danger, easily. ALTMARK raced closest to the leaders from the start and was good enough to best the others. WISE ADVOCATE was badly outrun early, but closed gamely. UNENCUMBERED displayed some early speed. PREDICT tired. NOELWOOD was shut off at the start. ROSIE was off slowly. F. GRABNER dropped out of contention early.

THIRD RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. Wildwood Purse. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:22½. Off at 3:24. Winner, R. W. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LE BRUYERE, $30.70, $11.46, $5.90; NORTH HILL, $9.10, $5.12; LIQUEUR, $3.24.

LE BRUYERE, never far from the pace, came fast on the outside in the stretch and, catching LIQUEUR in the last twenty yards, was going away at the finish. NORTH HILL was a forward factor from the start and closed gamely on the inside. LIQUEUR opened up a good early lead, but stopped badly in the last sixteenth. OLD HILLSIDE improved his position gradually and was going well at the finish. OLIVE SABATH and BLACK SQUAW tired after entering the stretch. DUSKY DAME quit after going half the distance. Others were never dangerous.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. Grand Crossing Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51½. Off at 3:55. †Entry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WOODCRAFT, $20.26, $9.82, $6.12; CAMP BOSS, $23.88, $15.26; GAY PAST, $15.78.

WOODCRAFT, never far from pace, saved ground in the stretch and got up to beat CAMP BOSS in the closing strides, but pulled up very lame. CAMP BOSS, displaying good early speed, headed the field in the stretch when GAY PAST began to tire, but tired and bore out near the end. GAY PAST sprinted to the front early and led to the last sixteenth, where he tired. CAYUGA could never get to leaders. PAUL BUNYAN was outrun all the way and raced wide at the stretch turn. GALA FLIGHT dropped out soon after the start and was never a factor. SIR MELTON was outpaced.

FIFTH RACE—One mile, out the chute. Purse, $1,000; allowances. Tulip Purse. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good. Won eased up; place, driving. Went to post at 4:22. Off at 4:26½. Winner, A. Two-dollar mutuels paid—I SAY, $5.08, $3.20, $2.70; PRINCESS CAMELIA, $4.24, $2.84; PARFAIT, $6.14.

I SAY followed PRINCESS CAMELIA under restraint for half the distance, then went to the front and, opening up a long lead after entering stretch, was being eased up all through the final sixteenth. PRINCESS CAMELIA went fairly well and, although not capable of holding the winner, was much the best of the others. PARFAIT gained ground steadily and bested PORTER'S DREAM. The latter tired. LATE DATE ran a good half mile, then quit.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:52½. Off at 4:53. Winner, R. M. Woolf's br. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CULLODEN, $5.76, $3.98, $2.90; DIXIE LAD, $4.40, $2.66; TIGER FLOWERS, $2.86.

CULLODEN, close up under restraint first six furlongs, moved to the front when ready and opened up a long lead, but bore out in the stretch and was being urged at the finish to hold DIXIE LAD safe. The latter was badly outrun for half the distance, then came fast and, cutting to the inside of the winner at midstretch, raced gamely to the end. TIGER FLOWERS moved up strongly on the inside approaching the far turn and bested HIGH STORM. The latter tired in the stretch. BOBBY POWERS stopped badly after taking a short lead in the early running. Others were far back all the way.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:22. Off at 5:22½. Winner, D. P. Venziano's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GARLIC, $5.46, $2.96, $2.48; LADY EBONY, $3.28, $3.04; MAJEL, $3.50.

GARLIC was blocked rounding the first turn and was in close quarters again on far turn, but found an opening at the stretch head and, coming through, took command and drew out to an easy win. LADY EBONY, close up at all stages, but could not hold the winner. MAJEL went fairly well. UNDERDUN tired after setting the pace. SANDWRACK made a bid on the back stretch, but dropped out of it in the run home.

National Pin Officers To Meet Here June 1

The annual meeting of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress will be held Wednesday, June 1, at 8 p. m. at the Annapolis Hotel. Plans for the sixth national tournament will be made at this time. Consideration also will be given events to be sanctioned by the congress during the coming year.

Lorraine Gulli and Henry Hiser will be presented with five-year all-events medals at the meeting. A committee comprised of Hiser, Bill Wood, John Blick, Harry Winningder and Chester Bild has been appointed to cooperate with the general committee in charge of arrangements for Sam Rice Day to be held at Griffith Stadium next month.

AT THE POST

—with Bill Bennings

WASHINGTON PARK.

DEAR AL:

This is a beautiful course with its lakes and bridges in the infield, but somehow other tracks can't paint in that multicolored backstretch that is Laurel's in the autumn. After the scratching, I came through with two winners yesterday here. They were I Say and Garlic. Of the six I named at other tracks, Miss Purray, $7.80, and Consummation, $9.20, stepped down. Homelike was second at $10.45. Two also rans and scratch were recorded.

Slipping you a few at other courses that may bring dividends. They are Marion T., Indiantown, Nutting, George DeMar and Black Patricia.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—FLYING FEET was scratched the other day with this maiden sprint in view. This juvenile possesses speed, I understand, and with a good post position may be the medium of a big collection. WAYWARD LAD is another that has waited for a spot of this kind. See him second ahead of SILENT SHOT.

SECOND RACE—DURVA was a close-up third in that last test and appears to be as fit as she was in Maryland. Carries only a steadying impost and may step home ahead of these. Mud will help. DORIS JEAN seems headed for second money, with the third honors left for RED CROSS SISTER.

THIRD RACE—MINTOGEE breaks from close to the rail and has the necessary speed to make full use of that position. Expect this one to trim these youngsters. SPOT POT was just gaining real speed when shipped away from Maryland. May get in the money today at surprising odds. HELEN BAB for third.

FOURTH RACE—ELIZABETH FOX won for me and should repeat in this field. Allen will probably be the rider. BOARDWALKER for second. I watched this one carefully and know of a race he should have won. Went wide coming into the stretch and the charts missed the fact. PREFER to take the show end.

FIFTH RACE—Can't name anything except GOLD STEP after that last. Did all that could be asked of a horse. SMEAR looks like the one to beat, although WOTAN will have something to say in the distribution of the purse.

SIXTH RACE—COMSTOCKERY to beat these. This former stake horse was very consistent, although he was forced to take second to Johdpur in a recent race. LION HEARTED, on that last, looks like a leading contender. So does FREIGHT CLERK.

SEVENTH RACE—MASTER OGDEN has been known to defeat better than this over a sloppy course. Looks like his track and a good chance to reward at big figures. CHEHALIS to beat BLUE LAW for second.

CENTRAL IS FAVORITE IN SCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET TODAY

Eastern Hurt By Loss of Bob Slye

Tech Is Chief Rival in Championship Games Today.

Kocsis, Sprint Stars Give Central Good Chance to Win.

THE fight for the track crown which Eastern High must leave almost unprotected, by reason of the loss of its great all-events man, Bob Slye, goes on this afternoon at Central Stadium with Central and Tech the favorites to gain the title.

One hundred and fourteen boys will fight it out for individual honors today, urged on not only for the greater honor and glory of their respective schools, but also for the right to become members of the all-high track team which will be given a trip to Annapolis tomorrow to compete against the Navy Plebes.

Central, with the four greatest sprinters in the high schools, Naylor, Price, Smith and Ditzler, and the best broad-jumper and all-round-events man, in Frank Kocsis, looks like the class of the field, but Tech showed that it is little behind by finishing but a point and a half behind the Blue and White at the Maryland interscholastics. Tech's strength lies in its relay team. It is strong in the javelin, Al Meikeljohn, and high jump, Chapman.

Eastern Has Some Chance.

Eastern, despite the loss of Slye, is not set-up. Stouffer and Caron are fine hurdlers and Sprinkle seems to have the high jump well under control, and possibly the pole vault.

The records:

TRACK EVENTS.

WESTERN'S NINE SWAMPS CENTRAL

batters later "Pepper" Martin did the same thing.

Western came back in the second inning to show that its first chapter hitting was no flash in the pan, to score three more. Central remained somewhat in the running until the fifth, when drives by Hilleary, Wilhoite and Martin earned three runs, and the game developed into farce in the eighth, when Western added seven more runs to its national war debt total.

Payne Checks Central.

Central was sadly demoralized from the first inning. Its celebrated infield became porous in the extreme and its three pitchers could do nothing with the inspired hitting of Western. At the plate itself Central could not bunch its drives off the cannon-ball pitching of Bill Payne, who firmly established his reputation as the leading flinger in the series by his fine work. Thompson, Buscher and Raub socked him for home runs, but they were almost incidental.

This Western victory arranges matters in the play-off so that if Eastern defeats yesterday's winners in the final play-off game next Tuesday, the series will be back whence it started, with all three teams holding a record of one win and one loss.

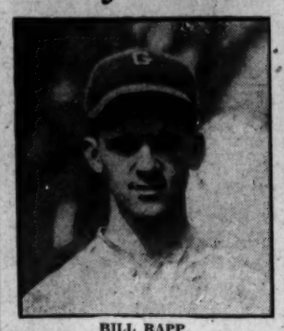
Rapp, Slattery, Ferguson, Kelly Named G. U. Captains



BILL RAPP.

AL KELLY.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY athletes yesterday elected four captains and five managers, including Bill Rapp, Washington youth, who will lead the baseball team, to serve during the 1932-1933 year. All the selections were unanimous.

Rapp, a junior, who has completed two seasons of varsity play, is 21 years of age. He began his career as a third baseman, later switched to the outfield, returned to the "far corner" this year and finished the season behind the bat. The late William M. Rapp, father of the new Hilltop captain, was a scout for the Cleveland Indians.

Aloysius T. Kelly, 20, of West Hempstead, Long Island, was elected captain of the track team, while John R. Slattery, 22, of Brighton, Mass., was named captain of golf, and Egbert R. Ferguson 21, of Lakewood, Ohio, was made tennis captain.

Kelly, a 200-pound sprinter, has been outstanding for two years in collegiate track and field. In 1931 he won the intercollegiate 70-yard indoor championship and this year placed second in the 100-yard dash at the Penn Relays.

The following were elected managers: Football, Philip S. Judge, Upper Montclair, N. J.; basket ball, Rome F. Schwagel, Dayton, Ohio, and William O. Beck, Indianapolis, Ind.; baseball, Thomas F. Higgins Elizabeth, N. J.; track, Leonard F. Korn, Elizabeth, N. J., and minor sports, Thomas A. Gallagher Philadelphia, Pa.

Giants Are Beaten By Dodgers in 12th

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—After losing what might have been the winning run in the sixth inning when it was discovered that Lopez had batted out of turn just after he singled Cuccinello home, the Dodgers went on to the twelfth inning today and defeated the Giants 3 to 2.

Tigers Beat Sox, 11-2; Rain Stops Second, 1-1

Detroit, May 26 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers won the first half of a double-header from the Chicago White Sox by the overwhelming score of 11 to 2 today, and were tied in the nightcap, 1 to 1, when a small cloudburst stopped the tilt in the Bengals' half of the fifth with one out and one on bases. The game was ruled official.

British Women's Title Golf Today

Saunton, Devonshire, England, May 26 (U.P.).—Headed by the redoubtable Miss Joyce Wethered, of England, and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, a field of 135 players was ready to night to begin the British women's golf championship tomorrow.

Miss Wethered, regarded by Bobby Jones as the best woman player in the history of the game, was the favorite to win the title. Secondary favoritism went to Mrs. Vare.

An important withdrawal announced on the eve of play was that of Mme. de la Chaume, of France.

All of the Americans practiced today, with Miss Hicks displaying the greatest consistency.

McRuvie Among Four British Golf Survivors

Gullane, Scotland, May 26 (U.P.).—Eric McRuvie, Eric W. Fiddian and John de Forest tonight were made favorites for the quarter final round of the British amateur golf championship.

McRuvie, 22, is the "baby" of the British Walker Cup Team. Fiddian is the English native champion. De Forest's fame as a golfer is based on the fact that he was runner-up to Eric Martin-Smith in the 1931 championship.

With this trio in the quarter final round were L. O. Munn, S. L. McKinlay, M. Crowley, William Tulloch and J. N. Reynard.

Pirates Sweep Series With Reds; Win, 3-2

Cincinnati, May 26 (A.P.).—With a three-run lead to protect, Pittsburgh pitchers broke up rallies in the seventh and eighth innings by the Cincinnati Reds and won today, 3 to 2, making a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Featherweight Crown Is Annexed by Paul

Detroit, May 26 (U.P.).—A new ruler of the featherweight division was crowned here tonight when Tommy Paul, of Buffalo, N. Y., pounded out a fifteen-round decision over Johnny Pena, of New York City.

Paul ascends to the throne vacated by Bat Battalino, who was unable to make the class weight and moved into the lightweight division.

FISHERMEN, NOTE.

CAPITAL TRIO QUALIFIES IN TOURNEY

Pitt, Mackenzie, Stevinson Seek Crown in Baltimore.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BALTIMORE, Md., May 26.—Three well-known Washington golfers qualified today in the first sixteen of the invitation tournament of the Baltimore Country Club in a field which included Max Marston, former national champion; Chris Brinke, of the Aronimink Club, Philadelphia, who was a qualifier in the last national amateur championship; J. Wood Platt, former Philadelphia champion; D. Clarke Corkran, medalist in the national amateur championship at Merion, when he led Bobby Jones by two strokes, and many others of almost equal national reputation. It was the classiest field in any tournament in this section in recent years.

The trio of Washington golfers who landed in the first sixteen were Harry G. Pitt, of the Manor Club and District amateur champion; Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, and former District champion, and Roland Mackenzie, also of Columbia, former national medalist and a former member of the Walker cup team. These three are mentioned in the order named because Pitt and Stevinson each finished with 75s, while Mackenzie's card totaled 78.

Pitt, Stevinson Within Two of Medal.

Both Pitt and Stevinson were within two strokes of winning the qualifying medal, for Corkran, Marston and Martin Stuart, of Fox Hills, S. I., each had 73s. When the ninth green was reached, Mackenzie seemed a contestant for the medal, for he was out in 35, even par, tying with Marston. The tenth hole, however, was the reef on which Mackenzie's hopes were wrecked.

A badly sliced shot far into the deep rough marked his drive. He played safe to the fairway to avoid a ditch which yawned in front of the green, but his third shot, instead of reaching the surface of the green hit the side bank and rolled back. His fourth shot to the green left him two putts and he holed out in a 6 Thereafter everything went wrong. With two greens three-putted and with other fatal errors, he piled up stroke after stroke over par and his 78 barely qualified.

The cards:

Out—
Stevinson	4	4	4	4	4	6	4	5	2—37
Pitt	5	4	4	3	4	5	6	4	3—38
In—
Stevinson	4	4	6	2	5	5	5	3	4—38—75
Pitt	5	5	4	2	5	4	4	4	4—37—75

More than 30 Washington golfers participated in the qualifying round, but the large majority, for one reason or another, failed to turn in cards. Included in this number were: A. J. Walker, Columbia; W. M. Kochenderfer, Columbia; James E. Baines, Columbia; Hugh Saum, Columbia; Albert R. Mackenzie, Columbia; John Diggs, Argyle; R. C. Leary, Columbia; R. W. Bowen, Indian Spring; George J. Richardson, Indian Spring; H. A. Mihills, Indian Spring; J. William Harvey, jr., Indian Spring; E. J. Carver, Manor; J. W. Beller, Columbia, and Forrest Thompson, Kenwood.

Mrs. Stone Defeated; Considine Wins From Hunt.

MRS. CHARLES STONE, hard-hitting women's tennis champion of Washington, fell by the wayside yesterday in the quarter-final round of the women's section of play, going down before the methodical play of Reba Kirson, former Baltimore flash, 4—6, 6—1, 6—4.

Dooly Mitchell, the defending men's champion, advanced to the semifinal round over the mechanical strokes of Dick Mason, but only after dropping the first set, 11—13, in one of the best matches the tournament has produced. He will meet Gene Hermann tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. BORAH QUITS THE BIG SHOW.

("Senator Borah will not attend the Republican convention."—News item.)

CHAIRMAN of the Republican National Committee—Well, have you heard the news?

Mr. Hoover—What news?

Chairman—Senator Borah has canceled his act. He has announced that he will not attend the Republican convention.

Mr. Hoover (a little uncertain)—What should I do, laugh or cry?

Chairman—I was going to laugh at first, but on second thought it's no laughing matter. Borah was one of our stars and he always put on a big act.

Mr. Hoover—You talk as if the Republican national convention were a circus.

Chairman—Do you know of a bigger circus than a Republican convention?

Mr. Hoover—I do.

Chairman—Name it.

Mr. Hoover—A Democratic national convention.

* * * *

Chairman—I guess you're right. Anyhow, we can't afford to let the public think the Democrats put on a better show, and we've got to do something about Borah.

Mr. Hoover—Personally, I never cared for his act, but I suppose it helps the show. Can't we get him to reconsider?

Chairman—I've tried, but it's no use. I think he's planning a show of his own.

Mr. Hoover—He's always planning a show of his own, but he never takes the road with it. Let him alone and he'll come back with us.

Chairman—But we can't take chances. We've got to advertise all our specialties so the public will know what to expect.

Mr. Hoover—I don't see how Borah's runout will ruin the show; we've still got Fess.

Chairman—That Fess act is terrible. It's more out of fashion than trained seals or bicycle riders.

Mr. Hoover—We've got Bobby La Follette.

Chairman—He's good if we spot him right, but he's no Borah.

Mr. Hoover—How about LaGuardia?

Chairman—Lissen, Herb, we can't put on a straight low comedy act.

Mr. Hoover—No show is any good without a little comedy.

Chairman—The boys who make the nominating speeches will take care of that end.

Mr. Hoover—Well, I'm sure I don't know what to do. We've got to fill the gap somehow. Just what type do you figure we need?

Chairman—I thought maybe a team of good knockabout acrobats would do.

Mr. Hoover—How about some contortionists?

Chairman (in alarm)—Nix on those babies. With the issues we've got to face at this convention the hall will be full of contortionists!

"Desecration" of Parks Is Charged by Grange

At a recent meeting of Potomac Grange, No. 1, a resolution was unanimously adopted charging authorities of the Park and Planning Commission with "desecration" of downtown parks in Washington. Representative John E. Weeks (Republican), of Vermont, was principal speaker.

The Grange, whose founder and first master, William Saunders, was the noted landscape artist who designed and superintended the layout and planting of these parks, charged the authorities with "waste of public funds in tearing out and moving trees, unwarranted destruction of trees and shrubs, planning of formal garden effects by amateurs, * * * and other changes amounting almost to vandalism."

Markets and Business in Review and Outlook

By Lawrence Sullivan

THE opinion has taken hold firmly throughout the country during the last two weeks that the essential economic factors of business recovery have been realized and that the last remaining objective in the Nation's united war against the depression is to restore that normal degree of public confidence which will take full advantage of the emergency credit machinery now available.

With money and banking securely reestablished, with the gold standard buttressed beyond all possibility of successful assault from abroad, with tremendous excess reserves accumulated in the national banking system, the problem of recovery fades as a question of economic technique and becomes a simple matter of mass psychology. The essential economic tools of normal business are at hand. The job now is to bring timorous bankers and business men—and the millions of citizens—to use them.

* * * *

BUT there can be no restoration of public confidence until Congress boldly accepts its constitutional responsibilities and balances the national budget. The last phase of this winning campaign against economic paralysis, therefore, must be decided on Capitol Hill. Will Congress abandon politics for as long as two weeks to finish the job?

True, the country has lost patience with Congress. Yet the constitutional fact remains that only Congress can pass revenue legislation and reduce Federal expenses. The insistent demand that President Hoover resort to drastic measures to compel prompt action on these vital measures is but one manifestation that the White House leadership today is the only staff upon which the dismayed Nation may lean.

* * * *

IT is unlikely the President will permit himself to be forced into the spectacular "big-stick" role. His regard for the fundamentals of American Government is too high for that. For six tedious months he has adhered faithfully to the policy of sincere nonpartisan cooperation with members of the House and Senate. And all that has been accomplished—the moratorium, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Glass-Steagall bill—has flowed from that laborious policy. Despite the costly experiences of the last two months, he does not yet believe that Congress is either unable or unwilling to do its part to end the dreadful agonies of economic dislocation.

Today's High Wages.

IN a recent extensive survey of real wages in American industry the National Industrial Conference Board found that although the cost of living for wage earners declined 20.7 per cent between October, 1929, and February, 1932, the average reduction in wage rates in the same period has been but 13 per cent.

"The outstanding fact which these findings emphasize," the report says, "is that, despite the unavoidable and necessary deflation of labor costs during the last two years, the real wages of American workers employed on full time are at present the highest that they have been during the post-war period.

"The existence of this condition, while of great economic importance, does not, of course, offset the loss and waste due to widespread unemployment and part-time work. The facts presented should by no means be considered as a suggestion that the unemployment situation is not one of the most serious problems with which the country still has to deal. They do, however, indicate that real wages, or the purchasing power of earnings, are actually higher than in 1929.

The National Steel Corporation ordered into commission four vessels of its Great Lakes ore-carrying fleet. Three of the vessels will go into service from Buffalo and one fram Ashtabula. They will carry coal and ore for the corporation's plants at Detroit, Buffalo and Weirton, W. Va.

Net railway operating income for April of the first 18 roads to report, showed a substantial decrease from the preceding month and the same month last year. The aggregate net operating income was $6,936,000 compared with $8,578,000 in March and $8,924,000 in April, 1931. The April gross of these roads approximated $53,393,000 compared with $57,300,000 in March and $71,328,000 in April, 1931.

Bank clearings at 47 cities declined 9.1 per cent in the week ended May 25, according to Bradstreet's compilation. The total of check transactions was $4,226,323,000 against $4,650,068,000 in the previous week.

CREDIT IS INCREASED BY RESERVE BANKS

$2,005,000,000 Is Given as Daily Average, Boost of $61,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended May 25 was reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank as $2,005,000,000, an increase of $61,000,000 compared with the preceding week and $1,115,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1931.

On May 25 total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $2,048,000,000, a gain of $60,000,000 for the week. This increase corresponds with an upturn of $22,000,000 in member bank reserve balances and decreases of $67,000,000 in monetary gold stock and $9,000,000 in Treasury currency adjusted. It was offset in part by a decrease of $39,000,000 in money in circulation.

Holdings of discounted bills decreased $6,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks, only minor changes occurring in the amounts held by the individual Federal Reserve Banks.

The system's holdings of bills bought in the open market declined $3,000,000. Holdings of United States bonds increased $16,000,000, of Treasury notes $1,000,000 and of Treasury certificates and bills $42,000,000.

May 25 totals (in millions of dollars), with changes from the previous week, follow:

Bills discounted	471	+ 6
Bills bought	38	— 3
United States Securities	1,525	+ 56
Other reserve bank credit	13	— 3
Total reserve bank credit	2,048	+ 60
Monetary gold stock	4,207	—67
Treasury currency adjusted	1,790	— 9
Money in circulation	5,410	—39
Member bank reserve balances	2,214	+ 22
Capital funds, &c	420	— 1

The Federal Reserve System slowed its purchase of Government securities in the last week to $59,000,000, a drop from $81,000,000 the week before and from $98,000,000 two weeks ago.

For five weeks prior to last week the system had purchased approximatey $100,000,000 in Government securities each week to make available to member banks additional credit which could be used to aid business and industry throughout the Nation. The governors of the Federal Reserve Banks composing the system's open market committee in a statement issued last week said that the policy would be continued but in amounts to be determined from time to time.

The additional purchase last week brings to approximately $800,000,000 the amount of Government securities purchased since the movement was inaugurated and makes available to member banks that amount of additional credit.

The total held by Federal Reserve Banks on May 25 was $1,525,000,000, which was $927,000,000 more than was held on the similar date a year ago.

The Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement also showed that money was returning from circulation into the banks and the Treasury.

The board reported a further outward movement of gold showing the country's supply had decreased $67,000,000 in the week to $4,207,000,000. The movement makes the loss of gold by the United States since January 1 amount to approximately $254,000,000 and in the fiscal year to 588,000,000.

Sales of Sears, Roebuck Drop to $23,333,220

Chicago, May 26 (A.P.).—Sales of Sears-Roebuck & Co. for the period from April 25 to May 21 totaled $23,333,220 against $30,408,560 for the comparable period of 1931, a decline of 23.3 per cent.

From January 2 to May 21 this year sales of the mail order-chain storehouse totaled $102,134,929 compared with $129,154,494 last year, a drop of 20.9 per cent.

Wheeler Will Urge Vote On Silver Bill, 16 to 1

(Associated Press.)

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, served notice on the Senate yesterday that he would demand a vote before Congress adjourns on his bill for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 with gold.

Mr. Wheeler insisted that "something has got to be done to bring the commodity price level back to the 1926 level."

"Either we must adopt bimetalism," he said, "or go off the gold standard. It would be much safer to resort to bimetalism."

MARKET COMMENT

Waggaman, Brawner & Co.—Following the continued weakness in the morning, the market had a decided turn for the better, following a statement of Mr. Crisp, of the ways and means committee, that the sales tax now stood a very good chance of passage by the House. With a continuance of such favorable news from Capitol Hill, we may expect a generally better market.

Westheimer & Co.—A better feeling was generated by Thursday's demonstration of rallying power. The market appears to be in position for further progress on the up side if given any encouragement in the form of favorable external news. We understand that there is better than an even chance of the sales tax being passed by Congress.

Robert C. Jones & Co.—We continue to favor the constructive side of the market. When the legislative jam in Congress is broken, and it should be soon, buyers will find it very difficult to buy good securities at present depressed prices.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—The industrial average at the low Wednesday was down 45.8 per cent from the March high. In the first break, in 1929, that average fell 47.8 per cent while in succeeding liquidating waves the percentage has always been smaller. Thus, the volume of trading, extent of decline and also the broadening of the liquidation, suggest an approaching turn. Our London office cables today: "We hear on good authority there is likely to be a favorable announcement from Canada shortly."

Poor's Financial News—European investments and balances in the United States have now been reduced to a point where if foreigners should cash in all their remaining balances and sell their remaining securities the entire proceeds would not amount to more than $1,250,000,000 against $4,250,000,000 that now constitute Uncle Sam's gold stock. * * * On a strictly practical basis it is doubtful if Europe is in a position to draw more than a very few hundred millions more from our gold stock.

United Press—Financial spirits were pegged up a few notches Thursday by congressional action on the tax bill. News that Wall street's pet, the sales tax, was gaining favor in both House and Senate started a brisk rally in stocks, bonds and commodities. Coincident with the rise in stocks was a big increase in activity. The largest number of issues since last December was traded in and the day's turnover of 1,800,000 came closer to the 2,000,000 mark than at any time since early April. Before the turn came, in the early afternoon, stocks had been forced down to new lows on the bear movement, but the recovery was rapid when the news from Washington reached the stock exchange floor. Shorts scrambling to cover, added impetus to the upturn.

Stocks Pull Out of Slump; Bonds Left in New Lows

Market Closes Fractionally Higher, Stimulated by Covering and Capital Tax News; Curb Decline Checked, But Progress Is Small.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—Stocks pulled out of their slump today with a rally that more than canceled many early losses of 1 to 5 points.

The market closed fractionally higher, on the average, thanks to brisk afternoon covering, stimulated, apparently, by Washington advices to the effect that Congress appeared more kindly disposed to a sales tax.

Bonds were discouragingly weak, probably because of further loan collateral liquidation, since many highest grade issues again participated in the decline.

Tobacco and food shares had to take most of the morning selling, although by noon utilities, chemicals, rails and merchandising issues were feeling the pinch. However, U. S. Steel, American Can and Standard Oil of New Jersey seemed to have built up considerable immunity, and their resistance doubtless had something to do with the increasing dullness that preceded the upturn.

Tobaccos Reduce Losses.

Tobaccos made up about half their losses; some did even better than that. Foods recovered briskly after 1 to 2 point declines. Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Du Pont, National Biscuit, Eastman, National Dairy, Westinghouse, Santa Fe and Air Reduction gained 1 to 2 net, while Union Pacific, Consolidated Gas, General Electric, North American, Norfolk & Western and General Motors finished unchanged to slightly higher after early weakness.

Transactions increased to 1,855,330 shares, the largest volume in about six weeks.

Although to some observers the market seemed to have worked itself into an uncomfortably oversold position, brokers believed it was more than a coincidence that the rally fitted so nicely with sales tax gossip. Meanwhile, the Senate was speeding its work by writing new excise items into the revenue bill, and prospects of final action, with or without a sales levy, appeared somewhat brighter.

Government security purchases by the Federal Reserve system increased only $58,793,000 in the past week. This was the smallest rise of the credit expansion campaign, and just about served to offset gold losses. It was noteworthy that the local bank's Government portfolio showed a decrease of $67,000,000, which meant that other banks, at least temporarily, had taken up the burden. System discounts rose about $7,000,000.

Banks Reduce Loans.

New York City member banks reduced their loans, but increased investments. Security loans were cut $30,000,000 and the "all other" classes dropped $24,000,000. Purchases of United States Government obligations rose $22,000,000, while $11,000,000 in other bonds was added to assets. Reserves with the Federal Reserve were up $49,000,000.

Thus loans and investments combined showed a net loss of only $21,000,000, against a decline of $69,000,000 in the previous period. Also, against this week's $33,000,000 increase in investments there had been a shrinkage of $58,000,000 in the previous week. Some of the excess credit has been put to work.

Most foreign currencies, for a change, favored the dollar, and withdrawals of gold for export fell to slightly more than $1,000,000, although earmarkings expanded about $5,000,000.

There was an encouraging decrease of $39,000,000 in currency circulation and a rise of $60,000,000 in total outstanding Federal Reserve credit at the twelve banks. The gold loss for the system amounted to $67,000,000. France and Holland took almost equal amounts.

Bond Sagging Wide.

There was no change in the light but steady dribble of selling in the bond market and a wide list of representative issues sagged lower with, however, a scattered number bucking the trend for gains of 1 point or so.

Transactions amounted to $14,120,000 par value of bonds, establishing the highest point of trading activity for the week and compared with turnover of $11,708,000 yesterday.

The rails bore the brunt of selling with industrials and utilities yielding more stubbornly. An exception to the market's soggy performance was furnished by U. S. Government securities, which advanced from two-thirty-seconds to twenty-two thirty-seconds of a point, with a solitary exception. Some foreign government bonds also firmed.

Today's selling was attributed in large part to the need of owners to raise cash for the protection of impaired loan accounts. Holders of railroad bonds also confronted the publication of additional unfavorable earnings reports covering April operations. Moreover, the prolonged meetings of Southern Pacific and St. Louis Southwestern directorates in their effort to smooth out refinancing difficulties of that road caused some concern.

Rails Recording Losses.

Among the railroad bonds which registered losses of 2 to around 4 points were the Ann Arbor 4s, Atlantic Coast Line first 4s, Canadian Pacific 4½s of 1960, Hocking Valley 4½s, Illinois Central 4s and 4¾s, New Haven 6s, New York Central 3½s, Pennsylvania 4½s, St. Louis Southwestern first 4s and Southern Pacific 4½s.

In the utility and industrial groups, declines of 2 or more points appeared in American Water Works 6s, American Beet Sugar 6s, American Metal 5½s, Midvale Steel 5s, National Dairy 5¼s, Philadelphia Electric 4s and Republic Iron and Steel 5s.

Announcement that a large blanket loan had been arranged by the Young committee of industrialists and bankers to help home owners finance maturing mortgages was accepted as evidence of progress. While this particular loan will affect home owners in New York State only, its significance was said to go further. It was reasoned that other Federal Reserve banks would follow the lead of the New York bank in establishing a liaison with banking and industrial leaders of their own districts with a view to passing on credit to the benefit of industry.

Curb Decline Checked.

A sweeping decline in the curb market, centering in the utilities, was checked in the late trading, and some of the more active issues recovered, although the rebound made little progress here, in contrast to that of the big board.

The turnover of 270,000 shares was the largest in more than a month, and the number of active issues swelled to about 300, or nearly double that of many decent dull sessions. The appearance of so many recently inactive issues at lower prices was indicative of the inroads made by the steady liquidation of the past several sessions. The turn in the late trading was inspired by the covering movement on the big board.

The more thinly traded industrials showed some further sharp declines. Quaker Oats sold at 70, off 10, and Chesebrough Manufacturing, sometimes classified in the petroleum group, at 55, off 7. Ford of Canada A sagged a fraction to a new low at 6.

Budget Balancing Seen As Recovery Necessity

(Associated Press.)

Gov. Brucker of Michigan said yesterday after a call at the White House that he felt there would be a "sharp pick-up in business" if Congress would balance the budget and go home.

The Michigan Governor said that he intended to urge members of the Michigan delegation to do all they could to complete the legislative program promptly.

Gov. Brucker said the President is "measurably stronger in Michigan" than he was 30 or 60 days ago, because the people felt that the President was making an energetic and intelligent effort to bring about measures to relieve the economic situation.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Thur.	Wed.
Number of advances	169	54
Number of declines	354	438
Stocks unchanged	208	155
Total issues traded	731	677

Stocks.

A spirited rally developed late in the day on news from Washington that the sales tax was gaining favor in both House and Senate. Ticker flashes on President Hoover's conference with the newspaper editors Wednesday night also reported brighter prospects for a balanced budget. The Federal Reserve's weekly report was better, too.

Bonds.

Rails bore the brunt of continued selling but the U. S. Governments firmed again on the Washington news.

Curb.

A sharp decline early was checked by the upturn on the big board, but the recoveries were not as satisfactory here.

Wheat.

Private reports of bad weather in the Northwest coincided with the late upturn in stocks. The close was ⅝ to ⅞ cent up.

Cotton.

Weakness at Liverpool and considerable Southern selling carried the market down 12 to 15 points in the morning, but the late rally, inspired by the recovery in stocks and the budget news from Washington, left the net decline for the day at 4 to 7 points.

Brokers' Loans Decline $21,000,000 for Week

(Associated Press.)

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ended May 25 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board yesterday as $393,000,000, representing a decrease of $21,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

The loans for the week ended May 27, 1931, were $1,574,000,000. The detailed distribution of the current loans is:

For own account, $350,000,000.
Out town banks, $37,000,000.
Account others, $6,000,000.

Exchange Seat Sold.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—A New York Stock Exchange seat sold today at $73,000, the lowest value recorded since 1919, when a seat sold at a minimum of $60,000. The previous transaction was at $80,000.

PHONE NET DECLINES FOR FIRST 4 MONTHS

Income for April Decreases $31,867; Outside Trade Is Blamed.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

How outside business conditions, less satisfactory than those here, nevertheless influence a local utility is reflected by the April statement of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., showing that for the second consecutive month this year, net telephone operating revenues were below those of the corresponding month of 1931.

The company's statement filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission reports net revenues for April being $31,867 less than for the month last year. In March, net revenues were $31,001 less than for the corresponding month of 1931.

Net Revenues Drop.

A decrease is also shown in net telephone operating revenues for the first four months of the year as compared with the same period in 1931.

Revenue from out of town calls was only 84 per cent of that for the same month a year ago. For some time, the drop in toll revenue below the preceding year has been increasingly greater. This downward tendency has been a definite factor each month in lowering the total income.

For April total telephone operating revenues were $812,206. Telephone operating expenses for April were $572,853, or 11 per cent greater than for April a year ago. This, together with the revenue tendencies described, operated to reduce the net for the month to $239,653. For the first four months of this year expenses were $2,234,868, as compared with $2,072,483 a year ago. In April, 1932, the balance before dividend, after deducting taxes, uncollectible, interest, rents, and other items, amounted to $150,496, a decrease from $170,902 for April last year.

Increase in Phones.

The net increase in telephones for the month of April was 654, about 27 per cent less than for the same month last year, Washington being served by 182,324 telephones as of the close of business April 30. The increase in telephones for the first four months of the year was 3,068, as compared with 3,349 for the same period last year. In April the company was called upon to handle 20,359,000 calls, as compared with 19,192,000 in April, 1931. During the first four months of 1932 approximately 6,000,000 more calls were handled than during the same period in 1931.

April statements of Washington Railway & Electric and Potomac Electric Power Companies also were filed with the commission yesterday. That of the first named revealed net income of $24,260.39 for the month and $492,381.31 for the four months, declines of $41,069.80 and $96,025.18 from the respective periods last year.

Net income of Potomac Electric Power Co. was $385,675.92 for April and $1,641,940.43 for the four months, gains of $9,350.93 and $47,965.96 over the respective periods in 1931.

Aluminum Company Cuts Wages 10 Per Cent

Pittsburgh, May 26 (A.P.).—The Aluminum Co. of America today announced a 10 per cent reduction in salaries and wages, effective June 1. The cut will affect all employes of the Aluminum Co. and its subsidiaries.

The announcement said that the action has been under consideration for several weeks, "but was delayed until it became obvious that it was a necessary economy."

COTTON BELT VOTES NEW FUNDING PLAN

Board's Decision Conditioned on Bonds Being Up by Tuesday.

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—After meeting for several hours to discuss the situation arising from failure of sufficient bondholders to assent to the refunding plan designed to stave off receivership, directors of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway today decided to declare the plan operative, on condition that sufficient bonds be deposited under the plan by May 31.

The plan involves the $20,727,750 4 per cent consolidated bonds of the Cotton Belt which mature on June 1. It had been announced that approval of 90 per cent of the holders of these bonds must be received by May 25 if the refunding plan, which involves half payment in cash and half in new bonds, was to be carried through. Thus far, however, only 87 per cent have approved.

The half payment in cash, under the plan, would be made from funds received through a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, provided sufficient of the bondholders accept.

The following statement was issued by the board of directors:

"At the meeting of the board of directors of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. held today, the situation arising by reason of the fact that the depository reported that the holders of but 87 per cent of the outstanding first consolidated mortgage bonds had deposited their bonds under the refunding plan, was carefully considered, after which it was decided to declare the plan operative, but upon the condition that on or before May 31, 1932, not less than 90 per cent of the bonds outstanding shall have been unconditionally deposited under the agreement and in accordance with the terms thereof.

"The officers were directed to again canvass the nonassenting bondholders in an endeavor to induce the holders of the requisite number to deposit their bonds and thereby avert the consequences which would follow failure of the plan."

WHEAT PRICE FIRMS, CUTTING HEAVY DROP

Cold Weather in North Adds to Crop Damage Feature; Other Grains Lose.

Chicago, May 26 (A.P.).—Forecasts of unseasonably cold weather tonight, with possible frosts as far south as Kansas, restored backbone to the wheat market today after sharp early breaks.

Prices on wheat fell temporarily to almost 3 cents under Monday's high point, influenced by heavy rains both in spring and winter crop territory, about 2 inches at places in the Dakotas. Later, though, a blizzard was reported in the Northwest and there was estimates that domestic spring wheat acreage would show a decrease of 15 per cent compared with last year.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝ to ⅞ cent under yesterday's finish, corn, ¾ to ⅞ down; oats, ⅛ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents lower.

The late recovery of wheat was partly owing to indications that pit traders had oversold the market and was also ascribed in part to strength which developed in securities. Earlier a bearish factor as to wheat was a report that a large Liverpool cotton house had suspended payments. Meanwhile, crop news was still mainly bullish, the Southwest advices being that the moisture deficit was extraordinary and had not been rectified by rains.

A usually conservative interest sent an estimate of only 143,000,000 bushels wheat production this season in the four chief hard winter States, giving Kansas 74,000,000; Oklahoma, 31,000,000; Texas, 26,000,000, and Nebraska, 15,000,000. This would mean the shortest crop since 1925 when those States raised 143,000,000, and the price of wheat in December that year rose to $1.41½.

As the day drew to an end, wheat offerings became scarce and there was evidence that speculative holders who earlier had liquidated were reinstating their lines.

Corn and oats paralleled wheat action. Corn belt weather conditions were expected to be of much benefit to new crops of feed grains.

Provisions were draggy, influenced by heaviness of hog values.

LEGAL NOTICES

REEVES B. HILTON, Attorney, 937 Investment Building.

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia. P. J. Nee Company, a corporation, Seventh and H streets northwest, plaintiff, vs. Perry Clyde Bateman, care of Smith Storage Co., 1313 U street northwest, defendant. At Law No. 248-204. Order of publication. The object of this suit is to replevin certain articles of furniture, rugs and bed clothing purchased by the defendant from the above plaintiff under a conditional sales contract on or about September 3, 1930. That default has been made in the monthly installments and there now due and owing the sum of $500. That the aforesaid goods, wares and merchandise have been replevined from Smith's Storage Company and are now in the possession of the plaintiff. That the last known address of the said defendant is 1161 Neal street northeast, District of Columbia, that your plaintiff is advised that the said defendant is no longer a resident of the District of Columbia, but now resides in the State of North Carolina. It is, therefore, this 18th day of May, 1932, ordered that the said defendant appear in this court on or before the fortieth day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays after the day of the first publication of this order, to defend this suit and show cause why the plaintiff should not have judgment as set forth, otherwise the suit will be proceeded with as in case of default. JAMES A. COBB, Justice. A true copy. Test: (Seal.) BLANCHE NEFF, Clerk. my20.27|e3

GARFIELD HONORED AT CELEBRATION OF HOSPITAL FOUNDING

Vice President Curtis and Other Notables Attend Rites at Museum.

OHIO STATE FLAG GIVEN LADIES' AID ASSOCIATION

Representative Moore Delivers Principal Address on Martyr-Chief.

The Vice President and a large group of notables paid tribute to President James A. Garfield at a service and reception which was held last night in the National Museum under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid to Garfield Memorial Hospital.

The ceremony was in tribute to the 100th anniversary of the birth of the martyred President, who was born on November 19, 1831, and in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Garfield Memorial Hospital.

Vice President Curtis, when introduced by Mrs. Cabot Stevens, president of the ladies' aid, lauded Garfield in a brief address. Mrs. Stevens also presented Mrs. J. Stanley-Brown, daughter of President Garfield.

Dunlap Presides.

Renick W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and president of the Ohio State Society, which also sponsored the gathering, was presiding officer at the service.

The Ladies' Aid was presented an Ohio State flag from Gov. George White, of Ohio. The presentation was made by Representative Arthur P. Lamneck.

The principal address of the exercises was made by Representative C. Ellis Moore, of Ohio, who spoke on "Garfield, the Statesman."

Other commendatory remarks were made by Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Dr. John B. Nichols, Brig. Gen. Joseph P. Tracy, the Rev. Dr. Earl Wilfey and Col. Julian E. Yates, chief of Army chaplains.

A message from President Hoover was read by Wade H. Ellis. The President's message stressed the fitness of the hospital as a memorial to Garfield, and commended the memorial service.

Hospital Is Lauded.

Remarks on the hospital were made by Mrs. Stevens, Dr. Harry H. Kerr, Dr. Loren B. T. Johnson and the Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery.

Interspersed with the speeches and commendatory remarks was an excellent musical program. Miss Helen Donofrio, coloratura soprano, sang two selections, "'Lo, the Gentle Lark," and "Estrellita."

Other artists were Harlan Randall, barytone; Arthur S. Witcomb, cornetist, and Wilbur D. Kieffer, vibraphonist, both of the United States Marine Band. The Marine Band Orchestra played several selections.

Following the services, a reception to Mrs. Stanley-Brown and the other guests was held.

Woman Federal Worker Missing

Police Asked to Aid Hunt for Helen Alther, 28, Gone Two Days.

Police last night were asked to search for Miss Helen Alther, 28 years old, an employe at the General Accounting Office, who has been missing from her home, 3601 T street northwest, since Wednesday morning. Her mother, Mrs. Benjamin F. Alther, who reported her missing, said she had heard nothing from her daughter since she received a telephone call from her Wednesday night, but two of her girl friends saw her after that.

She was last seen hailing a taxicab at Fourteenth and Taylor streets northwest. Mrs. Alther said her daughter left for work Wednesday morning and called the house shortly before supper time asking if "anyone had been there." She was told that no one had called and Mrs. Alther asked her daughter to hurry home to supper.

A short time later she called at the home of Miss Kitty Hayden, of 5925 Thirty-second street northwest. Miss Hayden said the missing girl borrowed $15 from her and said something about going to Baltimore. Miss Myrtle Hurst, of 1346 Taylor street northwest, said Miss Alther came to her home after visiting Miss Hayden. While they were conversing, Miss Hurst said the telephone rang and Miss Alther ran from the house when she went to answer the phone. She saw the girl get into a taxicab at the corner of Fourteenth street, she said. Mrs. Alther told police that her daughter had been highly nervous and depressed since the death of an aunt in April.

Sykes, member of the National Radio Commission, and Mrs. Sykes, and Albert H. McCarthy, of Denver, Colo.

Peace and Calm Rule Ohio Coal Strike Area

Columbus, Ohio, May 26 (A.P.).—Peace and calm prevailed today in the Ohio mine strike situation.

Hundreds of peaceful pickets, representing striking bituminous coal miners in the Hocking Valley and Sunday Creek fields, gathered near the Lick Run mine of the Manhattan Coal Co., near Nelsonville, scene of disorders several years ago. The pickets made no attempt to enter the mine property, contenting themselves by remaining in a field about 2 miles away. About a dozen miners worked in the Lick Run operation under the watchful eye of Ohio National Guardsmen.

Wrong Numbers Cause Man to Tear Into Phone

Two nickels in the slot—and two wrong numbers—cost David J. Reilly, 27 years old, not only a dime, but a great deal more, for he tore the phone from a booth and proceeded to treat it very roughly, it was testified in Police Court yesterday when he was tried on a charge of destroying private property.

Reilly was convicted, but his personal bond was taken after he promised to pay for damage he had done. He said that he had dropped two nickels in the phone and had not gotten his numbers and that he was only attempting to shake his two coins out of the box. The cantankerous phone was located in a garage in the rear of 1114 Twenty-second street northwest.

GEM THIEF SUSPECT BROUGHT TO CAPITAL

Preston, Former Convict, Is Charged With Robbing Many Homes Here.

William H. Preston, 52-year-old Negro, accused of stealing thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry from a number of homes in Cleveland Park and adjoining sections, was brought to this city from Baltimore yesterday by Washington detectives.

Approximately $6,000 worth of loot has been recovered through Preston's arrest, which came about when he attempted to dispose of the gems in a Baltimore loan office.

About $2,000 worth of the property recovered is that of David Friday, 4525 Garfield street northwest. This place was robbed May 4. Detectives at that time found a small safe, belonging to the Fridays, in a patch of woods nearby. About $1,000 worth of jewelry had been disregarded. The door of the safe had been battered in with an ax.

Another home victimized by the jewel thief was that of John N Swartzell, 2725 Thirty-sixth street northwest. About $2,300 of jewelry found through Preston's arrest has been identified as belonging to the Swartzell's. About $1,000 more in jewelry was recovered, but has not been identified yet.

In 1918 Preston was convicted here of a series of similar thefts. He was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, and on February 22 of this year was released on this term with time deducted for good behavior. The thefts resulting in that sentence also occurred in the Cleveland Park section.

Two Men Indicted In Fatal Stabbings

First Degree Murder Laid to Pair by District Grand Jury.

Ervin McFadden and Willie Felder, colored, were indicted on first-degree murder charges yesterday by the District grand jury.

McFadden is accused of stabbing James C. Havenner, white, in the rear yard of the premises at 320 C street southwest, on May 17. McFadden, according to police, said he had been drinking with Havenner and that Havenner attempted to rob him. A razor was the instrument allegedly used.

Felder is accused of stabbing Thomas Hall, also colored, with a pocket knife, on April 30, at 80 Defrees street northwest. Hill died two weeks later.

Mackall Will Shows Estate of $97,500

Mrs. Evelyn B. Mackall and her children were named as the beneficiaries of the will of Quentin Mackall, who died March 19, it was disclosed yesterday when Laidler Mackall, brother to Quentin, filed a petition for probate of the will.

The estate totals $97,500, of which real estate makes up $30,000.

Two Children Die as Fire Rages.

Dansville, N. Y., May 26 (A.P.).—Two children were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed most of the business section in the Livingston County village of Ossian Center, six miles south of here. Their father, Calvin B. Tester, was badly burned in an attempt to rescue them.

3-DAY OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY BEGINS TOMORROW

Services in Cemeteries Will Honor Fallen in Wars of Nation.

A three-day observance of Memorial Day, to be climaxed on Monday morning with a parade and service in the ampitheater of Arlington National Cemetery, will begin tomorrow with services in a number of cemeteries.

The few surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic will lead the Memorial Day parade on Monday morning in automobiles. They will be followed by veterans of all wars. The line of march will proceed to Arlington Cemetery, where the program is scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock.

The various organizations participating in the parade will assemble at 9 o'clock Monday morning on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, between Seventh and Ninth streets northwest, under the command of Grand Marshall Charles W. McCaffrey.

Parade Formation.

The formation will be as follows: Mounted police detail, United States Marine Band, grand marshal and aids, Grand Army of the Republic, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Indian War Veterans, American Veterans of Hellenic Descent, Women of the Grand Army of the Republic and American Gold Star Mothers.

The procession, comprising members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Women's Relief Corps; Daughters of Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R. and all auxiliaries, will assemble in front of the Arlington Mansion at 11:30 o'clock and march to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldiers of the Civil War where flowers will be placed and an impressive ceremony conducted.

Services will be conducted at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at noon. Wreaths will be placed at the Tomb by Commander Charles B. Jennings, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Department Commander Ferdinand G. Fraser, of the American Legion; Department Commander Lee T. Turner, of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and other allied organizations and auxiliaries.

Music by Marine Band.

The services in the amphitheater at 1 o'clock will include music by the U. S. Marine Band; singing of patriotic hymns, and addresses by Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, daughter of Gen. Logan; Sol. Bloom, associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, and former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri.

The services tomorrow will be as follows: Northeast Arlington Cemetery, under the auspices of Gen. Guy V. Henry Garrison, Army and Navy Union, with July McHenry Auxiliary, assisted by Spanish War and other veterans, 11:30 o'clock; Lincoln Memorial Cemetery, under auspices of Charles Young Chapter, D. A. V., Charles H. Toms, commander, 5 o'clock; Oak Hill Cemetery, conducted by William B. Cushing Camp, No. 30, Department of Maryland, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, John R. Wells, commander, presiding, 3 o'clock.

Memorial services in honor of the victims of the battleship Maine will be held at the Maine Mast, Arlington Cemetery, at 12 o'clock Monday. Other services on Monday will be as follows: National Cemetery, U. S. Soldiers Home, 9 o'clock, and Battle Ground National Cemetery, 3:15 p. m.

German Veteran Is Selling Poppies to Help Americans

Lothar Mannheimer, former member of the German army, who is aiding in the "Buddy Poppy" drive for the relief of American World War Veterans to promote good will and friendship.

Took Part in Many Battles in World War Against U. S. Soldiers.

Hundreds of veterans of the World War are taking part in the annual "Buddy Poppy" drive. With but one exception, there is nothing unusual in this statement. That exception is a former member of the German infantry who saw active service against the allied forces.

He is Lothar Mannheimer, of Stuttgart, Germany, who was found yesterday on a downtown corner selling poppies for the relief of American veterans. Mannheimer, a former member of a German infantry regiment, took part in many of the major engagements against the veterans for which he is now soliciting aid.

To promote good will and friendship among veterans of all countries, Mannheimer is in America as national organizer of the German and Austrian Veteran Association. He came to Washington with a color guard from Fort Erie, Canada, to participate in ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Mannheimer, who was official interpreter for the American Legion at their convention in Paris in 1927, declared that the majority of men in his organization have taken out their first papers of American citizenship.

"A veteran is a veteran," he said, "so why shouldn't I help bring relief to America's former service men?"

MASONS WILL PAY WASHINGTON HONOR

Service to Be Held Sunday in Choir and Sanctuary of Cathedral.

Members of Masonic lodges of the District, together with delegations from the Knights Templar, Order of Eastern Star, Kallipolis Grotto, Almas Temple and Tall Cedars will attend a national service in commemoration of the career of George Washington as a Mason Sunday afternoon in the great choir and sanctuary of Washington Cathedral.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, of Philadelphia, noted as a writer on Masonic subjects, will deliver the sermon at the service, which will be broadcast. Masonic groups from other nearby cities also are expected to attend the observance.

Members of the Grotto, Almas Temple, Tall Cedars and commanderies, wearing their uniforms, will enter the cathedral at the curator's office and will form in the north crypt corridor, entering the choir from that place. The officers of the Grand Lodge will march in the procession with the cathedral choir and clergy. The members of the Blue lodges, chapters and Eastern Star will form on Wisconsin avenue and will enter the great choir by the north transept.

No cards of admission will be necessary. The public will enter by the south transept and the Masonic bodies, not in uniform, will use the north transept. Outside of the seats reserved for the Masonic groups, the remainder of the choir will be available to the public.

Through a national committee of Masons, headed by Past Grand Master John H. Cowles, Masonic lodges in all parts of the country have contributed stones to be placed in the fabric of the cathedral. Recently the Grand Lodge of Illinois, in a pilgrimage to Mount St. Alban, gave seven perfect ashlars or hewn stones to be put in the north transept.

Mrs. W. R. Hearst, Jr., Awarded Reno Divorce

Reno, Nev., May 26 (A.P.).—William Randolph Hearst, jr., president of the New York American and second son of the publisher, was divorced at a private hearing here today by Mrs. Alma Walker Hearst, granddaughter of the late T. B. Walker, Minnesota lumber king.

Mrs. Hearst's complaint, filed late yesterday, charged cruelty. The couple married in Piedmont, Calif., March 24, 1928.

3 Killed in Bombay Mill Riot.

Bombay, India, May 26 (A.P.).—Three persons were killed and nine severely injured in a mill workers' riot in the northern section of Bombay today. British troops using armored cars assisted the police in patrolling the area after the disturbance.

MAPES INCOME TAX HEARING DUE SOON

Consideration of Bill May Be Started by Capper Group Next Friday.

Hearings on the Mapes income tax bill, last of the four House measures for increasing local revenues some $4,000,000, may get under way before the Senate District committee next Friday afternoon, Chairman Arthur Capper announced yesterday.

Delay was attributed to the time required to print the lengthy Bureau of Efficiency report submitted Tuesday, and distribute copies among various interested civic groups.

Although another Bureau of Efficiency report, on the Capper plan of increasing local utilities taxation, will be forthcoming early next week, Senator Capper indicated he will consider the bills separately. The utilities tax would make up for exemptions contained in the income tax measure.

Still another bill, part and parcel of the Mapes tax program, remains to be reported on by the Bureau of Efficiency experts before Senator Capper's committee votes on the Mapes program. It is the House measure abolishing the 60-40 basis of fiscal relations between the United States and the District. Senate passage of this bill is being bitterly fought by the citizens joint committee on fiscal relations.

Former Insurance Man Is Indicted in Forgery

The District grand jury yesterday indicted Arthur Atamian, former agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., on two charges of forgery.

Atamian is accused of having obtained life insurance policies from Alfred R. Wilkinson, which he turned in to the company, and when a check was sent for the cash surrender value, Atamian, according to the indictment, forged Wilkinson's name to it and cashed it. On March 9, it was charged, he obtained a policy belonging to George and Elsie Hoffman, surrendered it to the company and cashed a check sent as the surrender value. Both checks totaled $247.91.

Valet Shop Manager Indicted in Shooting

Anthony Finelli, manager of the Valet Shop at Tenth and F streets northwest, yesterday was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Finelli is alleged to have shot Edward Green, colored, an employe of the shop, May 13, following an argument over a tip. Green was not seriously hurt.

STRONG ACID FOUND IN STUDENT AUTOPSY AFTER FATAL CRASH

HOMICIDE SQUAD BEGINS INVESTIGATION OF CASE

Policeman Declares Injuries Were Not Apparent at Time of Arrest.

An autopsy performed yesterday on the body of Thomas Wilbur Wright, 24-year-old University of Maryland student, revealed that a quantity of powerful acid was in his stomach and that his neck had been broken when a speeding car driven by him crashed into a large van Wednesday night.

Coroner A. Magruder Macdonald said that he would probably issue today a certificate indicating death of the young man was combination of accident and suicidal intent. He was awaiting a report from the homicide squad's investigation of the death. Members of this unit were busy yesterday investigating a number of other deaths in the city.

Action Is Explained.

Private K. P. Greenlow, of the Traffic Bureau, yesterday voluntarily appeared before Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, to explain his action in arresting Mr. Wright instead of sending him to a hospital first.

The policeman, said the police head, was quite affected by rumors that he had mishandled the affair. Greenlow told his superior officer that there were no indications to him that Wright had been seriously injured and that the young man made no mention of swallowing poison.

Dr. William E. Bowman, who was in charge of the Casualty Hospital ambulance that went to the Fifth Precinct when Mr. Wright lapsed into unconsciousness, said he did not believe medical treatment could have saved the young man had he been brought to the hospital sooner. Greenlow claims that Mr. Wright refused his suggestion of hospital treatment.

Was Star Athlete.

The body of Mr. Wright, who was formerly a star basket ball player at the University of Maryland, was removed from the District Morgue yesterday and taken to an undertaking establishment. His mother, who is a widow, was said to be on the way here from Charlottesville, Va., to arrange for the funeral. The Wrights lived at Hyattsville.

Mr. Macdonald said he learned that Mr. Wright had been brooding over quips of friends with regard to his attachment for Mrs. Mary W. Perry, 23, 2611 Brentwood road. It was in Mrs. Perry's car that Mr. Wright crashed into the van, the property of a North Carolina trucking company. He had just left Mrs. Perry's home when the accident occurred.

Valet Shop Manager Indicted in Shooting

Anthony Finelli, manager of the Valet Shop at Tenth and F streets northwest, yesterday was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Finelli is alleged to have shot Edward Green, colored, an employe of the shop, May 13, following an argument over a tip. Green was not seriously hurt.

Massachusetts Scholarship Awarded Capital Student

Marshall M. Holcombe Is Chosen as Outstanding Scholar in Area.

The regional scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the 1932-1933 term will go to Marshall M. Holcombe, student at St. Alban's School, Proctor L. Dougherty, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Washington Society of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, announced yesterday.

John Graham, of 7114 Alaska avenue northwest, student at Central High School, was named as first alternate, and Norman George Bull, of 3709 Northampton street northwest, of Sidwell's Friends School, was chosen as second alternate.

The scholarship is awarded annually to the most outstanding candidate from the region made up of the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia. The award consists of a grant of $500, full tuition for one year at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It is open to those students of exceptional ability who wish to pursue a course in science, engineering or architecture.

Holcombe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Holcombe, of 3305 Eighteenth street northwest. In the event that his selection should not be confirmed, one of the other students will be given the scholarship.
